Berlin Talks May Be Revived

U.S.-Soviet Discussion Is Proposed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department announced Wednesday the United States and the Soviet Union will soon resume their lengthy and so far unsuccessful talks aiming for a Berlin settlement.

Press officer Lincoln White said the U.S. ambassador to Moscow, Foy D. Kohler brought a Soviet proposal to revive the discussions with him when he returned to Washington at the end of January. Kohler delivered the U.S. acceptance in Moscow last Monday.

Where the talks will be held and who will represent the two sides has not been decided, White said.

The U.S.-Soviet dialogue on how to solve the Berlin-Germany issue began after the June 1961 meeting between President Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev. Talks have been held since in Moscow, New York and Washington. They have been in abeyance since last October's Cuban missile crisis.

White said that the United States consulted its allies and got no objections to resumption of the talks. He reaffirmed the position that the discussions are not formal negotiations but exploratory sessions to see whether a basis for settlement can be found.

Presumably Britain, France, West Germany and other allies would be brought into the picture before any agreement is reached.

So far, Washington has found no Soviet offer acceptable as a basis for a settlement, and authorities said they know of no new proposal from the Reds.

Moscow has called for solutions involving the ouster of Western troops from West Berlin. This has been unacceptable to the Western powers, who are committed to Berlin's continuing freedom.

A Day At Court

Mrs. Madalyn Murray of Baltimore and her son William, 16, pose at the Supreme Court in Washington where their attorney, Leonard J. Kerpelman, yesterday asked the court to declare unconstitutional the use of the Lord's Prayer and Bible reading in Maryland public schools. U.S. Supreme Court Hears Prayer Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court was told Wednesday that a ban on devotional exercises in public schools would open a Pandora's box of litigation to remove "every vestige of our religious heritage" from public life.

At issue before the high tribunal is constitutionality of Bible reading and recitation of the Lord's Prayer at the opening of schools in Maryland and Pennsylvania. The appeals follow up last year's hotly disputed 6-1 ruling by the tribunal declaring unconstitutional a state-prescribed nondenominational prayer in New York's schools.

Most of the session was devoted to an appeal by a Baltimore mother and her 16-year-old son who describe themselves as atheists.

Their counsel pleaded with the nine justices to strike down a city board rule providing for daily Bible reading and reciting of the prayer. This practice, it was contended, violates the Constitution's First Amendment prohibition against an establishment of religion by government and guarantees of free exercise of religion.

Leonard J. Kerpelman, attorney for Mrs. Madalyn E. Murray, and her son William, said that the youth was spat upon, assaulted and subjected to schoolboy and teacher sanctions because he dared to walk out on religious exercises, as permitted by board rule. The Murrays, Kerpelman said, were entitled to protection from such injury.

Francis B. Burch and George W. Baker Jr., Baltimore city solicitors, said in reply that there is no Constitutional violations so long as there is no compulsion on the student to attend the morning exercise.

In the Pennsylvania case, Philip H. Ward III, representing the Abington School District, said 10 Bible verses are read each school day over a loudspeaker.

The children, he said, are encouraged to read their own Bible.

There has been no case, he added, of a child asking to be excused while the verses were read. Therefore, he said, there is no evidence of any compulsion being used.

The children in the appealed case, Ward related, were Unitarian and had testified they were subjected to religious beliefs differing from their own.

U.S. Pushing Idea Of NATO Nuclear Fleet

PARIS (AP)—The United States opened a sales pitch to its North Atlantic Allies Wednesday on the idea of a fleet armed with nuclear weapons. The fleet would be operated by a special group set up under the Atlantic Alliance.

The idea may be difficult to sell, chiefly because the United States insists on controlling the firing button.

U.S. Ambassadors Livingston T. Merchant and Thomas K. Finletter went before a secret session of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization Permanent Council to present American thinking on the issue. Merchant is President Kennedy's special representative for the nuclear force and Finletter is the permanent U.S. delegate on the NATO Council.

A body within NATO, of yet undetermined membership, would participate in organizing the force and drawing up broad guidlines for its operation. The United States, officials said, has not suggested the number of countries to be represented on this control commission.

Workers Flee Reds

HONG KONG (AP)—A Chinese construction worker was killed and another captured by Communist border guards as 15 other workers fled into the nearby Portuguese colony of Macao Monday, Hong Kong newspapers report.

Swedes Storm Liquor Store

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)—Panicky crowds of Swedes—a traditionally thirsty lot—stormed the state liquor stores Wednesday.

The foremen at the state liquor monopoly went on strike over vacation time.

Rumors circulated that the more popular types of drink—vodka, whisky, brandy and domestic braennvin—will be exhausted in a few days.

FBI Checking Fingerprints In Dual Murder

WINCHESTER, Va. (AP)—Authorities awaited Wednesday FBI laboratory tests on fingerprints found in the rural crossroads home where two women were stabbed to daeth Monday.

Several persons have been picked up, questioned and released in the case, police said, but no arrests have been made. The investigation continued.

The victims were Mrs. Waltine Naomi Hoover, 47, and her mother, Mrs. E. M. Snow, 85.

Mrs. Snow lived with her daughter and son-in-law, H. Denis Hoover, in a neat two-story house at Double Toll Gate in Frederick County about eight miles south of Winchester.

An intruder entered the house early Monday afternoon, stabbed Mrs. Snow on the first floor, and then went upstairs and felled Mrs. Hoover with several blows in the hallway.

Mrs. Snow's dying screams into a telephone brought her son-in-law home from his job as principal of Stephens City Elementary School.

Funeral services for the two victim were held in Harrisonburg Wednesday. Mrs. Snow was buried in the Salem Lutheran Church Cemetery near Weyer's Cave. Mrs. Hoover was buried in Oak Lawn Cemetery at Bridgewater.

Fighting Reported On Yemen Border

ADEN (AP)—Yemen and the British-led South Arabia Federation made charges and counter-charges of military aggression on their frontiers Wednesday.

The federation announced a Cairo regime warplane in Yemen's service machine-gunned a military medical post at Wadi Din, about two miles inside the emirate of Beihan. It said there were no casualties.

The Cairo-based Middle East News Agency said Yemeni President Abdullah Sallal charged that British tanks have appeared near Harib, a royalist-held town in eastern Yemen, and that British planes have dropped leaflets ordering Sallal's besieging troops to withdraw or face bombing. He called on the United Nations to intervene.

GOP Lashes Out At New Debt Ceiling

Curb On Federal Spending Proposed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Kennedy administration spokesmen seeking an increase in the public debt ceiling ran into Republican charges Wednesday that they should have cut back on spending.

Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillion and Budget Director Kermit Gordon told a House committee that it was evident as long ago as last October that revenues would not come up to expectations.

But Dillon said Congress, which had adjourned less than a month earlier, had voted expenditures, including an accelerated public works program to fight unemployment.

Rep. John W. Byrnes of Wisconsin, senior Republican member of the House Ways and Means Committee, said the circumstances "don't put you in a very good light. You did not put out the revised revenue estimates until after Congress had adjourned."

Dillon told the committee the temporary $308-billion ceiling on the national debt must be extended because "the bills are coming in; they must be paid."

The Treasury estimates the debt will stand Thursday at about $302.5 billion. Under present law, the ceiling drops to $305 billion April 1, $300 billion June 25 and $285 billion July 1. The Treasury forecasts a debt of $307.2 billion June 15.

Congress now is being asked to extend the $308-billion limit through June 30, but Dillon already has said another request is coming for a raise to a new high—probably in the neighborhood of $320 billion.

Smuggler Advertised

BERLIN (AP) — They posted Rudi Heidemann's name all over West Berlin Wednesday. It was a dubious honor. Rudi was being advertised as a smuggler.

The 37-year-old businessman is the first West German to have his name posted on public bulletin boards for buying goods the East Germans sell at cut-rate prices, then selling them in West Berlin.

The West Berlin Finance Office put up the bulletin boards hoping that publicity will deter West Berliners from putting hard West German marks into the pockets of East German Communists.

Alcatraz Prison To Close July 1

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Alcatraz Federal Prison population was reduced to 64 Wednesday.

The government moved 38 to other prisons Tuesday in gradually shutting down the grim "rock" in San Francisco Bay. Alcatraz had 260 convicts a year ago, most of them classed as incorrigible.

The Federal Bureau of Prisons has a target date of July 1 for emptying the prison.

Mickey Cohen, Los Angeles racketeer serving 15 years for income tax evasion, was among 11 transferred Tuesday to the federal prison at Atlanta, Ga.

Dominican President Inaugurated

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Juan Bosch took office Wednesday as the Dominicans' first constitutionally elected president since 1924. He pledged reforms to give the people "a place in the sun among advanced nations of the Americas."

The first target of land reform, Bosch said, will be plantations already seized from the estate of Gen. Rafael L. Trujillo, the dictator who ruled this island nation for 31 years before his assassination May 30, 1961.

"Like every other Latin-American country, the Dominican Republic is in the center of a great revolutionary current," Bosch said. "And we must admit that we are obliged to advance quickly, as quickly as possible without departing from democratic standards. The Dominican people demand a better life."

The scholarly, 53-year-old chief executive, who spent 24 years in exile campaigning against the Trujillo dynasty, said he will ask Congress for social and economic legislation. He promised a brake will be kept on spending.

Sworn in with him at the modernistic Congress building was Dr. Armando Gonzalez Tamayo, the vice president of this nation of three million.

Among foreign guests was U.S. Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, who promised on his arrival Tuesday that the United States would help in the island republic's "struggle for economic progress and social justice."

Also on hand were many of Latin America's leading liberals, with whom Bosch formed friendships during his years in exile.

Helicopter Crews Can Shoot First

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) —It's official now. U.S. helicopter crewmen backing South Viet Nam's war against Communist guerrillas can shoot first — as Americans flying fighter planes have been doing all along.

The new orders, confirming week-old rumors, went into effect Tuesday. The policy had been for helicopter crewmen on both troop-carrying and escort duty to shoot only after guerrillas shot at them. Now they can spray an assault area in advance with rockets and machine gun fire and cover troop landings.

Hot Cargo Contracts Outlawed

Labor Board Rules Against Teamsters Union

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Labor Relations Board ordered the Teamsters Union on Wednesday to cancel trucking industry labor contract clauses which the board found were designed to maintain illegal "hot cargo" agreements.

The five-man board ruled unanimously that Teamsters Union contracts with truckers in 22 states contain provisions so exempting employes from discipline that their employers can be forced to cease doing business with other employers with whom the union may be at odds.

Teamsters To Appeal

The Teamsters immediately filed notice of appeal in the federal courts here. The union contended the NLRB erred in interpreting the law and said further the law itself is invalid because it exempts several industries.

Trucking is an industry heavily dependent on cooperative interchange of freight to insure fast, safe delivery. The Teamsters Union has been in and out of the courts for years in behalf of labor contract provisions designed to let the union use pressure to prevent one employer from dealing with another.

The union has been accustomed to putting a "hot cargo" label on goods from firms with which the union has labor controversies. Congress in 1959 passed legislation outlawing labor contract provisions in which the employer commits himself to cease handling, using, selling or transporting products of another employer.

Seperate Decisions

Two separate decisions Wednesday concerned Patton Warehouse, Inc., Columbus, Ohio, and the Teamsters' Central States Drivers Council, covering 14 states, in one case and the Brown Transport Corp., Waynesboro, Ga., and the Southern Conference of Teamsters, covering eight states, in another case.

The board found the clauses allow the union to demand disciplinary immunity for employes refusing to handle goods coming from a neutral firm.

Mayor Wagner To Offer Pact In News Strike

NEW YORK (UPI) — Mayor Robert F. Wagner said Wednesday he is prepared to adopt President Kennedy's recommendation to draft suggested settlement terms in the 82-day-old New York newspaper blackout.

Striking printers said they would give "serious consideration" to Wagner's suggested terms but reserved the right to reject them in whole or in part.

Wagner spent the morning in Washington testifying before a Senate labor subcommittee on the administration's bill for youth employment.

He said he would read reports from publishers and printers on their positions and if there was no indication that a negotiated settlement could be reached, he would propose settlement terms.

Last-ditch talks between the two sides broke off late Tuesday after eight hours of negotiating. The printers said the publishers felt further meetings were useless.

Bertram Powers, president of Local 6 of the International Typographical Union (ITU), said the union wanted to continue joint negotiations.

Powers said he and other union leaders would study Wagner's recommendations closely.

Publishers endorsed the third-party idea, but recommended that any recommendations be final and binding on both sides. Printers said that binding arbitration was forbidden by their union constitution.

Nehru Tells India Arms A Necessity

Democrat Gains In Minnesota Vote Recount

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — The lead of Karl Rolvaag, the Democratic candidate, rose to 43 Wednesday on fresh rulings from the three-judge recount court hearing evidence on disputed ballots in the Minnesota governor election.

The court rejected a total of 48 ballots that had previously been included in the count, 20 for Rolvaag and 28 for Republican Gov. Elmer L. Andersen. This resulted in an unofficial total of 620,200 for Rolvaag, and 620,157 for Andersen.

Rolvaag petitioned for the recount after the State Canvassing Board announced Andersen had won the Nov. 6 election by 142 votes. A field recount gave Rolvaag a lead of 133 votes. It is from this count that reductions have been ordered by the court.

In one ruling Wednesday, the court ordered discarded 31 absentee ballots, 20 for Andersen and 11 for Rolvaag, cast from a rest home. Rolvaag attorneys alleged they were improperly handled. The court rejected Rolvaag charges of irregularities in the conduct of the election in three other communities.

Opposing attorneys are in process of arguing the largest and most difficult class of disputed ballots in category No. 10—those with two types of markings, like Xs and checks.

The State Supreme Court in a decision Wednesday in an election contest case reaffirmed and emphasized an earlier ruling that ballots with a combination of clear Xs and checks are invalid.

Andersen forces said this decision apparently would give Andersen 21 more votes, since there are 21 more Rolvaag ballots admittedly in the X and check category than there are Andersen ballots.

A court ruling on the number of this class of ballots involved may not come until next week.

Still to be argued in the current trial are 15 other classifications of disputed ballots.

White House Reaffirms JFK Stand On Taxes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House reaffirmed Wednesday President Kennedy's statement Monday that he would reluctantly abandon revenue-producing tax law changes if necessary to win a tax cut this year.

At the same time it indicated he still wants both—a tax reduction linked with some tax law changes.

Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon took a similar position in testimony before the House Ways and Means Committee. Speaking of the proposed tax legislation, he said:

"I certainly hope it will not be a plain rate reduction bill and nothing else. But if you ask me what the important element is, I have to say it is the rate . . . revision."

Dillon said he hoped Congress wouldn't drop all proposals for revenue-producing tax law changes, and emphasized the administration does not foresee any recession this year.

Soviet Union To Defend All Red Nations

Premier Rattles Sword In Talk At Political Rally

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev declared Wednesday that if Cuba, Red China,, or any other Communist nation is attacked, "the Soviet Union will come to the assistance of its friends and strike a devastating blow at the aggressors."

Khrushchev's speech to an election rally in the Kremlin came against a background of renewed Red Chinese attacks on his policy and a Peking demand for an apology for the Soviet attitude in their ideological dispute.

Khrushchev defended his peaceful coexistence policy, which has been criticized by Red China, as "the only sensible policy." he added:

"If, however, the imperialists violate the right of the peoples to choose the socio-political system they want, if they try to impose their will on the peoples, this will lead to a world thermonuclear war.

"This is why we resolutely warn imperialists: If an attack is made on Cuba or on the People's Republic of China which is being threatened from Taiwan (Formosa), if an attack is made on the Korean Democratic People's Republic (North Korea), the Democratic republic of Viet Nam (North Viet Nam) or the German Democratic Republic (East Germany), or indeed any Socialist country, the Soviet Union will come to the assistance of its friends and strike a devastating blow at the aggressors.

"The imperialists must know that if they unleash a new atomic war, they will themselves be burned in the fires of that war."

The address echoed the words of Defense Minister Rodion Y. Malinovsky last Friday, who threatened the United States with atomic war if Cuba should be attacked. But Khrushchev expanded the warning to include the other Communist nations.

Appears Tired, Bored

Khrushchev did not specifically mention Red China's latest blast in the quarrel, a 7,000-word broadcast editorial of the official People's daily accusing the Kremlin of double dealing. His remarks, however, seemed directly connected with that argument.

The premier appeared tired, even a little bored, as he discussed the idea that "enemies of Communists" were benefiting from the appearance of differences in the Red camp. He added that "the workers' parties will find the strength to overcome all differences in their midst."

Khrushchev, running for a seat —and assured of it—in the Sunday elections to the Russian Federation's Supreme Soviet (Parliament), discoursed at length on both foreign and domestic affairs. Malinovsky sat behind him, just as Khrushchev, then in his lieutenant-generals' uniform, had sat behind the defense minister when Malinovsky spoke Friday.

Khrushchev also:

—Said the U.S.S.R. would not go beyond its offer of two or three on-site inspections annually under a treaty to ban nuclear weapons testing. The United States says three inspections would be far too few.

—Asked what would be more natural than a nonaggression pact as proposed by Moscow between the Reds' Warsaw Pact group of nations and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. He said the West did not want to agree to this.

—Accused France of opposing a nonaggression pact because "the present ruling circles of France are pursuing almost the same policy as was pursued by the French government before the Second World War."

—Repeated his proposals to replace NATO's flags with a United Nations flag in West Berlin and for a German peace treaty on Soviet terms. He insisted the German boundaries would remain unchanged and access for the West to West Berlin would be guaranteed.

Khrushchev seemed to be speaking to the Red Chinese when he said the U.S.S.R. has not left "heroic Cuba to the big sharks of American imperialism." The Red Chinese evinced anger at his backdown in the Cuba crisis showdown with President Kennedy last October.

The result of his policy in that respect, Khrushchev said, was to "arrest the oncoming avalanche of thermonuclear war."

28 Governors Are Invited To Gettysburg

Civil War Battle Will Be Observed

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UPI) — Governors of the 28 states which had troops in the Battle of Gettysburg were invited Wednesday by Gov. William W. Scranton to participate in the centennial celebration of the Civil War conflict.

In extending the invitation, Scranton said "The purpose is to provide a fitting opportunity for each governor to come to Pennsylvania and pay tribute to the valiant sons of his state who fought on Pennsylvania's soil 100 years ago."

A four-day celebration is being planned to commemorate the anniversary of the pivotal Civil War battle. President Kennedy has been invited to speak on the battlefield July 4, and former President Eisenhower, who now lives in Gettysburg, is expected to attend July 2 ceremonies.

The invitations were issued to these governors:

George C. Wallace of Alabama; Orval E. Faubus of Arkansas; John N. Dempsey of Connecticut; Elbert N. Carvel of Delaware; Farris Bryant of Florida; Carl E. Sanders of Georgia; Otto Kerner of Illinois; Matthew E. Welsh of Indiana.

Also, Jimmie H. Davis of Louisiana; John H. Reed of Maine; J. Millard Tawes of Maryland; Endicott Peabody of Massachusetts; George Romney of Michigan; Elmer L. Andersen of Minnesota; Ross R. Barnett of Mississippi; John W. King of New Hampshire; Richard J. Hughes of New Jersey, Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York.

Also, Terry Sanford of North Carolina; James A. Rhodes of Ohio; John H. Chafee of Rhode Island; Donald Russell of South Carolina; Frank G. Clement of Tennessee; John Connally of Texas; Philip H. Hoff of Vermont; A. S. Harrison Jr. of Virginia; William W. Barron of West Virginia, and John W. Reynolds of Wisconsin.

So. Korea Pares Junta Purge List

SEOUL, South Korea (AP(— The ruling junta's political purge list—which once barred 4,366 ex-politicians and civil servants from politics—was cut to 269 by Gen. Chung Hee Park on Wednesday.

The strong man formally bowed out of the presidential race in national elections he says will be held in the summer, and he cleared 2,322 blacklisted persons to campaign. Park appealed for avoidance of the "corruption, incompetence and political confusion which we have so painfully experienced in the past."

Soldiers, Police Clash In Katanga

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga (AP)—A Congo government rule barring uniformed Katangan soldiers from the streets of this former secessionist capital led to bloodshed Tuesday night.

Leopoldville's resident minister, Joseph Ileo, said a patrol of police and Congolese soldiers fatally shot a Katangan trooper who resisted arrest. Then, he said, Katangan police ambushed 40 Congolese soldiers returning to camp near town. Two soldiers and a policeman were reported killed.

UN To Launch Drive For Dues Collections

UNITED NATIONS (UPI — Secretary General Thant has asked Eugene R. Black, former president of the World Bank, to head a drive to collect close to $122 million in back dues owed the United Nations, it was disclosed Wednesday.

Formal announcement of Black's appointment is expected to be made next week, informed sources said.

Black, who retired Jan. 1 as president of the World Bank, is slated to join Thants' inner cabinet in a consultant's capacity.

However, informed sources said his post would be the equivalent of "finance minister" of the United Nations. His function would be to serve as a global collections manager, seeking in direct contact with governments, to persuade them to pay up the $121,620,857.70 in arrearages listed on the world organization's financial statement of last Dec. 31.

The bulk of the arrearage owed the United Nations is for the peace-keeping operations in the Congo and the Middle East.

A total of $76,209,612.15 is owed for the Congo operation by 67 of the organization's 110 members. Fifty-eight owe $27,646,639.27 for the U. N. Emergency Force (UNEF), stationed on the Israeli-Egyptian border since the 1956 Suez War.

For the regular budget assessments, $17,747,863.28 is owed by 47 countries, some of whose arrearages date back to 1959.

The Soviet Union, France, South Africa, Belgium and several other countries refused to pay any part of the peace-keeping costs in the Congo or the Middle East.

The International Court of Justice handed down an advisory opinion last July stating that such peace-keeping costs are a rightful part of the U.N. budget. By a 76-17 vote the General Assembly last Dec. 19 made the World Court opinion U.N. law.

The No. 1 U.N. debtor is the Soviet Union. It owes $32,052,762 for the Congo operation, $14,218,188 for UNEF, and $3,692,107 for the regular budget. Coupled with total arrearages of $6,921,127.16 for the Ukraine and $1,792,985 by Byelorussia — the two component parts of the Soviet Union given U.N. membership at the 1945 charter convention — Russia's total debt is $46,007,223.16.

Remains Of 11 Airmen Home After 19 Years

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Funeral services for three faiths were conducted Wednesday for eleven men who died when their bomber crashed 19 years ago in a New Guinea jungle.

The remains of the men were then carried on two horse-drawn caissons to burial services, conducted in sub-freezing weather at Arlington National Cemetery.

The earlier religious services were at the Fort Myer (Va.) chapel. The officiating chaplains were Lt. Col. Harry P. Henderson, Protestant, of the Air Force; Capt. Thomas J. Moran, Catholic, of the Air Force; and Capt. Ervin Preis, Jewish, of the Army.

The eleven men who died were Sgt. Jack E. Beals, West Hollywood, Fla.; Staff Sgt. Marvin Culbreth, Dearing, Ga.; Sgt. Harold B. Davis, Zanesville, Ohio; Lt. Angelo C. Dellisante, Corning, N.Y. Lt. Charlie L. Fann, Murfreesboro, Tenn.; Lt. Walter R. Gerry, East Providence, R. I.; Sgt. Raymond F. Greene, Norwood, Mass.; Corp. Edward R. Howard, Hingham, Mass.; Capt. Rudolph W. Johnson, Jr., Muskegon, Mich.; Sgt. Milton S. Miller, Bridgeport, Conn. and Capt. Lamar S. Russell, Goldhill, N. C.

Their plane crashed in February 1944. The wreckage of the plane was sighted from the air on March 3, 1961, and the remains were recovered by a ground team on April 29, 1961.

State Drops Case Against Demonstrators

BALTIMORE (AP) — Trespass-passing and disorderly conduct charges against 154 students arrested in racial demonstrations at a Baltimore movie house were dropped Wednesday by the grand jury.

The grand jury heard two witnesses before foreman Charles C. Hudson Jr. announced the cases would be thrown out.

The students were among 413 arrested over a six-day period last week when they picketed the Northwood Theater. More than 300 of the students were jailed during the demonstrations.

The theater owner agreed last Thursday to allow Negros to attend the theater, and the protests ended.

The grand jury met in special session today and Tuesday, and will continue to meet the remainder of the week to clear the docket of charges against 250 more demonstrators. Charges against the remainder also are expected to be dismissed.

Red Police Grab Refugee On Wall

BERLIN (UPI) — Communist police, firing a warning shot, Wednesday arrested an East German just as he was about to scale the anti-refugee wall and leap into West Berlin.

The daring escape attempt was made at the Potsdamer Platz, a main Berlin square that is bisected by the Communist wall.

West Berlin police said the East German had made his way through the "no man's land" death strip extending 100 yards behind the wall and was preparing to climb the wall itself.

But a Red border guard fired a warning shot and three other policemen dashed up and dragged the man away from the wall.

Soviet Lizard Revival Story Termed Fairy Tale

MOSCOW (UPI)—A Soviet professor denounced as "pure fantasy" Wednesday a Moscow Radio broadcast that a pair of lizard-like tritons had been brought back to life after 5,000 years of hibernation in Siberia.

Prof. Lev Losino-Losinsky, who had been linked to the claim, said he had warned the writer of the revived lizard story ahead of time not to portray scientific fantasy as fact. He said "The author of this tale should be punished."

Moscow radio reporters, whose account Tuesday stirred wide attention and a flurry of telephone calls, admitted they had taken their story from a three-month-old issue of the Leningrad magazine, Neva.

The Neva article, written by G. Baldysh, said that two of the four-inch-long amphibious salamanders known as tritons had been thawed out and restored to life after spending 5,000 years in a frozen state in Siberian soil.

One of the lizard-like creatures, the account as broadcast by Moscow radio said, had lived three weeks, gazed at people with "protruding eyes" and had eaten gnats, flies and other food offered by human hands.

It said the second triton, after being defrosted, had lived for an entire summer in a museum at Okhotsk-Kolymsk in northern Siberia.

The article in the magazine had linked the story to the work of Prof. Losino-Losinsky, who is head of the Cosmic Bilogy Laboratory at the Leningrad Institute of Cytology. Losino-Losinsky has done considerable research on the possibility of keeping creatures alive by deep-freezing.

The scientist said none of his experiments on this subject had been successful and he was convinced the Siberian triton story was nothing but "legend."

Professors at Moscow University said the triton reports originally began in 1955 or 1956. Neither the Moscow Radio nor the Neva accounts made this fact clear, however.

Maryland Briefs

BALTIMORE (AP)—Baltimore County police confiscated 300 quarts of moonshine whisky Monday night as it was being transferred from one car to another in a wooded area.

Police surprised the men during a routine patrol. One car sped off and two men escaped on foot leaving behind their auto, which had temporary Pennsylvania license plates.

BALTIMORE (AP)—A fire gutted a tavern in downtown Baltimore early Wednesday. Firemen said the blaze at Hartley's Tavern apparently started in the kitchen.

BALTIMORE (AP)—Mayor Phillip Goodman has announced that the federal government is considering a new main Post Office building in downtown Baltimore, perhaps in an urban renewal area.

A meeting had been scheduled between Goodman and federal officials Tuesday to discuss the proposed new building. Goodman said the meeting was canceled because Post Office officials needed time to work out details.

BALTIMORE (AP)—A Pennsylvania official will talk at a State Health Department conference Tuesday on his state's law requiring periodic physical examination of drivers.

Dr. J. Thomas Millington, director of special health services, will discuss the effectiveness of the 3-year-old law during the meeting in the auditorium of the State Roads Commission in Baltimore.

BALTIMORE (AP)—A citizens group for governmental economy has urged that Maryland capital improvements be financed more frequently on a pay-as-you-go basis.

The Commission on Governmental Efficiency and Economy said Wednesday the state operating budget has consistently produced surplus funds. The commission said the surplus money should be diverted to capital improvements instead of continuing to sell bonds which require costly interest payments.

BALTIMORE (AP)—Atty. Gen. Thomas B. Finan has announced the resignation of Ernest B. Cory Jr., assistant attorney general in charge of the State Police investigative unit.

Finan said Wednesday the Laurel attorney had contributed greatly to the police unit during its formative stages. Cory said he is resigning to return to private law practice.

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Hospital Council of Maryland, Inc., has announced the appointment of Ben A. Cliff as director of a long-range study of Maryland hospital wages and salaries.

The council said Cliff will initiate a program aimed at improving personnel practices and administration in hospitals. Cliff is from Takoma Park.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Clarence D. Long, D-Md., said Wednesday that American cities are vulnerable to Russian offensive capability and asked for a review of civil defense spending.

Rep. Long said a recent survey showed only one fallout shelter space for every two persons in Maryland.

Agreement Reached On Boundry Line

ROCKVILLE, Md. (AP)—After 187 years of uncertainty, the precise bounday marking the separation of Montgomery and Prince Georges counties has been agreed upon by county officials.

The governing units in Rockville and Upper Marlboro have signed a recent survey made by Thomas B. McNeill, a surveyor.

The line, extending from the District of Columbia border northeast to Howard County, was set by a Maryland decree in 1748. In 1776 Montgomery Count was created from a section of Frederick County.

The line remained the same, but the difficulty was that the boundary in places was identified originally only by marks on trees.

Negro Racial Director Resigns

BALTIMORE (AP)—The executive director of the Maryland Commission on Interracial Problems and Relations, Douglas B. Sands, announced his resignation Wednesday.

Sands, 29, who became executive director in November, 1959, said he would join the U.S. State Department as a special protocaol officer Monday. He is a Negro.

Paperboard Use Up

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Paperboard production in the week ended Feb. 23 was 358,554 tons against 350,760 the week before and 354,730 a year earlier. New orders were 353,874 tons against 327,632 a year earlier.

Writer Given 18 Years For Fatal Shooting

Court Rejects Sanity Plea

SALISBURY (AP) — Willis C. Rowe, Silver Spring, magazine research writer convicted of slaying a Dorchester County man, was sentenced Wednesday to 18 years in the Maryland Penitentiary.

Judge E. McMaster Duer of Wicomico County Circuit Court ordered that the sentence begin Wednesday. He rejected a plea by Rowe's attorney to impose a five-year sentence starting with the date of Rowe's arrest in 1958, and then commit Rowe to a mental hospial.

Rowe, 45, was convicted of second degree murder earlier this month by a Wicomico Circuit court jury, which ruled that he was sane at the time of the slaying but insane now.

Rowe, who had pleaded innocent by reason of insanity, had been accused in the fatal shooting of Bronza Parks in a boathouse at Wingate, in Dorchester County, on May 13, 1958. Parks was building a boat for Rowe at the time.

George E. Bahen Jr., defense attorney, argued that the jury, by declaring Rowe sane at the time of the shooting and insane now, apparently intended that the defendant be committed for treatment rather than imprisoned.

The attorney said later Rowe would be turned over to the Dorchester County sheriff who would take him to the pentitentiary in Baltimore. The defendant probably will be sent later to a state hospital, Baher said.

4-Year-Old Boy, Fireman Die At Cambridge Blaze

CAMBRIDGE (AP)—A 4-year-old boy died Wednesday in a fire that destroyed his family's rented frame home in Cambridge, and a firefighter died of an apparent heart attack after he was stricken at the scene.

The fire broke out shortly before noon. The body of Boyd McDuffie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer McDuffie of Lumberton, N.C., was found in the ruins after the blaze was brought under control.

The fireman was identified as Leonard Mowbray, 59, of Cambridge. He had complained to other firemen about feeling faint and was taken to Cambridge - Maryland Hospital in a car. Fire officials said he died in the hospital emergency room.

Mrs. McDuffie told firemen she had gone out to get wood for a fire and that her son apparently tipped over an oil stove.

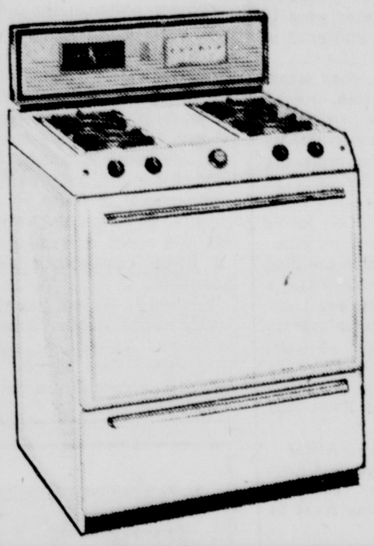

She said she returned to the house and found it in flames. Mrs. McDuffie rescued three other children, one of them 16 months old, but Boyd backed away when she tried to reach him, she said.

Debt Ceiling

Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon urged Congress to extend the temporary national debt ceiling of $308 billion through June 30 so the government can borrow enough money to pay its bills. The Kennedy administration will ask Congress later to boost the ceiling to a new record high—probably close to $320 billion—for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Writer Given 18 Years For Fatal Shooting

Court Rejects Sanity Plea

SALISBURY (AP) — Willis C. Rowe, Silver Spring, magazine research writer convicted of slaying a Dorchester County man, was sentenced Wednesday to 18 years in the Maryland Penitentiary.

Judge E. McMaster Duer of Wicomico County Circuit Court ordered that the sentence begin Wednesday. He rejected a plea by Rowe's attorney to impose a five-year sentence starting with the date of Rowe's arrest in 1958, and then commit Rowe to a mental hospial.

Rowe, 45, was convicted of second degree murder earlier this month by a Wicomico Circuit court jury, which ruled that he was sane at the time of the slaying but insane now.

Rowe, who had pleaded innocent by reason of insanity, had been accused in the fatal shooting of Bronza Parks in a boathouse at Wingate, in Dorchester County, on May 13, 1958. Parks was building a boat for Rowe at the time.

The attorney said later Rowe would be turned over to the Dorchester County sheriff who would take him to the pentitentiary in Baltimore. The defendant probably will be sent later to a state hospital, Baher said.

CENTENNIAL SCRAPBOOK

The War for the Union 1861-65 in Pictures

No. 254 Christmas observance helped restore spirits and morale of Burnside's army after the costly defeat by Lee's forces at Fredericksburg, in December 1862. With good reason, festivities to which the men were accustomed—feasting, drinking, competitive firing and other sports, mock parades—were not discouraged by officers.

Fortunately boxes from home got through to some. Disruption of supply lines of the Army of the Potomac was still being felt. A Massachusetts infantryman wrote to his father from Virginia after Fredericksburg, "Never since I have been in the Army have I seen supplies so short." He told of comrades haunting the slaughter pens to pick up heads, feet and tails of steers to augment rations.

Well aware of the food situation in the Army, Gen. Joseph Hooker made improvement of the commissary service one of his first actions after replacing Burnside. Hooker ordered the bakeries set up to provide fresh soft bread to go with his men's issues of salt or dried rations.

One holiday provision the men took care of for themselves. A sergeant in an Illinois regiment wrote of a Christmas spree: "Col. Tom turned out 15 gals. of Rotgut & several of the boys got Happy, and some got pugilistic, and some had Eyes Red & some Black . . ."

New Mobile Homes Have Most Conveniences

By GAY PAULEY

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — The mobile home is as old as the covered wagon of our forefathers. The coming of the automobile gave it new impetus and in the 1930s, the "house trailer"—a box on wheels—was as much a part of the highway scene as the rumble seat and the flat tire.

But times and living habits change and in this the age of the super-highway, the mobile home has—by contrast—become a way of life often as conventional as that of the dweller in the three-bedroom house in the suburbs.

A visit to the 27th annual National Mobile Home and Travel Trailer show here showed two major trends in the life of the mobile home family. One, with more than 50 per cent of mobile home owners, the house is bought with the idea of mobility, but then is parked permanently as part of a community. Two, the new mobiles offer just about everything in way of home convenience except a basement.

Edward L. Wilson, managing director of the Mobile Home Manufacturers Association, estimated that better than 50 per cent of the mobile homes are settled on permanent sites.

He said the mobile homes are growing bigger, with more built-in convenience. The average size today is 10 to 12 feet wide, and 55 to 63 feet long. Units produced in the immediate post-World War II days were eight feet wide and 25 to 28 feet long.

Halved For Travel

Today, the shopper can get them even wider than that 10 to 12 feet—at the show several were 20 feet wide, constructed so that moving meant pushing the furnishings into one side of the house, folding up a wall and floor, folding down the roof of one half—and getting a commercial hauler to do the transport.

Arriving at the site, men hired by the dealer raise the roof, unfold wall and floor, move furniture back into place—and the "instant house" is ready for occupancy.

One model featured dining area, closets and two bedrooms of a two-bath, three bedroom home so folding back. Another had a fold-up, screened porch feature. Still another made more room in the living room with bay-like windows built to roll in during the moving, and roll out when the house was on its site.

Manufacturers widened homes to 10 feet (or to 20 which could be telescoped to 10) when highway departments gave them permits to have houses of this width moved by commercial hauler. The 12-feet wide homes are moved by railway flat car.

Mobile home prices range from $3,500 to $15,000, with the average about $5,600, the association said. Financing in the case of most purchasers is like that of financing a car—installment buying spread over a several-year-period.

Offer Conventional Figures

The association said one of every eight new homes now bought is of the mobile variety. And the models available for 1963 offer most of the features of conventional housing. Carports, screened porches, sun rooms and other additions altered the basic unit beyond recognition. Wall-to-wall carpeting was standard. You can buy an unfurnished mobile, but most purchasers do not — the association said they usually order the home furnished even to the draperies, bedspreads, lamps, and mirrors on the wall.

The 1963 models offered washer-dryer facilities, dishwashers, garbage disposers, paneled walls, separate dining rooms, heating with thermostatic control for winter, optional air-conditioning for summer, radio built in with the kitchen appliances, stereo equipment, and in some cases with television center—waiting only for the house to "settle" and the owner to put up an antenna.

I would, clutterbug that I am, miss the large storage areas provided by attic and basement of the stationary dwelling. But the better-designed mobile homes provide sliding door closet space in each bedroom and ample kitchen storage area.

The higher percentage of mobile dwellers settles in one spot, but there IS the advantage one manufacturer pointed out to owning a mobile house:

"If you don't like your neighbor," he said, "you just up and move!"

Donated Collections

CLIFTON, N. J. (AP) — A collection of the signatures of all 34 Presidents is now displayed in the executive wing of the White House, because Martin Weiner doesn't believe in selling such a valuable item.

Weiner, who has completed nine such signature collections, says: "I never sell any of my documents. If I think they would be useful to a person or institution, I donate them."

He's working on another collection now, and is considering giving it to the United States Embassy in Moscow "so that it could be displayed as a reminder of the perpetuity of our democracy."

Section Of Arizona Has Several Frontier Towns

By MURRAY J. BROWN

WICKENBURG, Ariz. (UPI) — Drive up U.S. Highway 89 from the sophisticated Phoenix of the New West to this picturesque desert town and it's like turning back the clock.

Much of the atmosphere of the Old West lives on in this famed dude ranch center in Arizona's colorful Valley of the Sun.

Big-hatted, booted cowboys with spurs a-jingling still clomp down historic Old Frontier Street with its false-front buildings, complete with overhanging roofs and hitching rails. And the horse is as common as the automobile—signs warn: "No Horses on Sidewalks."

You might see grizzled desert-rat types and bewhiskered gold prospectors who still haunt the nearby hills in search of the "big" strike.

Wickenburg, which celebrates its centennial this year, has a colorful history, literally and figuratively. As the story goes, a prospector named Henry Wickenburg back in 1863 picked up a rock to hurl at a buzzard—or his burro—in anger and frustration. The rock was flecked with the bright yellow metal and the German immigrant had stumbled onto the richest gold lode ever discovered in Arizona.

Unearth Fabulous Treasures

The fabulous Vulture Mine was to yield more than $30 million in gold before it was worked out. There were scores of other treasure-producing diggings in the mountains and along the nearby Hassayampa River.

But as the years went by and the gold ran out, the countryside became dotted with abandoned mines and ghost towns. Wickenburg appeared headed toward the same fate until townspeople stumbled onto a new kind of paydirt about 30 years ago—the tourist business.

At that time there were only about 20 real dude ranches in the West and Wickenburg had about one-third of them, wherefore it promptly claimed the title of the "Dude Ranch Capital of the World."

There now are eight of the West's finest guest ranches within a five-mile radius of Wickenburg. Ranch resort owners stress this part of Arizona is still the "real west" and there is an air of authenticity in the town and the surrounding desert and mountains.

Tourists should bring cameras. Besides Wickenburg itself, shutterbugs can have a field day in the ghost towns, abandoned gold mines and other scenic spots. Don't miss the awesome forest of prehistoric Joshua trees about 30 miles northwest of Wickenburg.

Facetious Sign

Another unusual sight is the Hassayampa River. A sign warning "No Fishing From the Bridge" usually brings big grins from tourists after one look at the dried-out river bed.

Freely translated, however, Hassayampa means "River which runs upside down," so named by the Apaches because its waters run beneath the sandy river bottom. The river, in fact, provides the water supply for Wickenburg.

Secretaries Of Sports Participate In Many Worthwhile Community Events

By JOAN SWEENEY

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The Los Angeles sports world has a version of SOS, and the group has proved there is a place for women in the male realm of professional and collegiate athletics.

SOS stands for Secretaries of Sports. And the letters have proved apt when sponsors of various sports functions have asked the girls to rescue them from all the details connected with a sports event or to act as hostesses.

In addition, this amazingly active band of women—25 in all—handles two permanent projects—a college scholarship and a sports directory—plus a number of other community service contributions.

The SOS manages all these activities, although each member holds a full time job and many are married and have families.

Mrs. Margaret Farnum, a co-founder, said each member devoted from 100 to 500 hours a year to the organization's projects. Once when SOS had only six members, it raised more than $1,100 to help send American athletes to the Olympic Games.

The membership of SOS is limited to women who are working as executive secretaries or in similar capacities for sports organizations in the Los Angeles area—the Angel or Dodger baseball teams or the Rams of the National Football League. Secretaries from the sports departments of colleges in the area also participate.

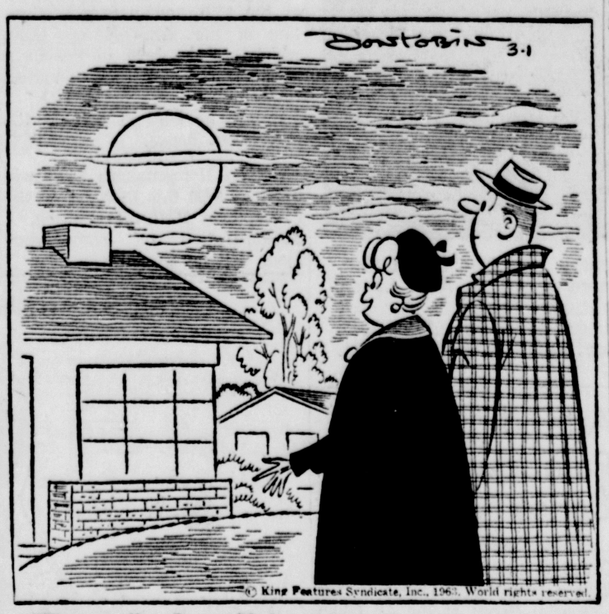

Mrs. Farnum said the organization currently is planning expansion into a national group.

The idea for SOS came from W. R. Schroeder, managing director of the Helms Athletic Foundation, and his secretary, Mrs. Farnum, organized the group. When it was founded in 1954, it had six members.

"Not only has SOS given us an opportunity to meet voices we talk with over the telephone all the time, but it has benefited our employers because now we can handle many things ourselves instead of having to talk to the boss," Mrs. Farnum said.

SOS also has given the secretaries an education in sports other than the one with which they are directly involved, because, as Mrs. Farnum explained, "We try to visit each member's organization."

"Personally, I wouldn't want to go there even if I had the ten billion dollars!"

Women Should Have Gloves For Picture Taking

CHICAGO (UPI)—Women who are having pictures taken should pose with their gloves, suggests Emilie Romaine, photographer and fashion expert.

You don't have to wear them, just hold them, she wrote in National Professional Photographer.

"Lovely hands are easier to pose and look naturally graceful when holding gloves," she said.

Miss Romaine said today's portrait photographers must be experts in fashion and makeup as well as photographic techniques. She gave these tips on posing with gloves:

—Emphasize the straight end rather than the fingers of the gloves. The hands are a busy element and the plain end of the gloves simplifies arrangement.

—Gloves with outside finger seams are suitable only for tailored and sport clothes.

—The pale, very short glove that barely reaches the wrist is most appropriate for teens and preteens. Short gloves may be worn with short sleeve or strapless dresses by young women.

—A three-quarter length sleeve looks best joined with a three-quarter length glove, disappearing under the sleeve. Avoid wringling the wrist of the gloves because it not only thickens the wrist but prevents a smooth line.

—The very long glove always has been elegant on arms of mature women.

Miss Teen-Age America Turns Down Chance For Hollywood Screen Test

By JOSEPH FINNIGAN

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Pretty Darla Banks is one of the few 16-year-old beauty contest winners in America who wouldn't jump at the chance to take a Hollywood screen test.

Miss Banks, a dimpled young lady from Fresno, Calif., was named "Miss Teen-Age America" last year and one prize was a screen test.

"I didn't think I'd get the part," said Darla, quite simply citing that excuse as her reason for turning down the test. "And even if I did pass the test it would be just for one role. After that I would have acting in my blood but might not get any more parts.

"Right now I don't want an acting career. In fact I don't want any career. I want to get married if I can. I realize that might be difficult."

Darla, a Fresno high school student, was dressed in a sweater, skirt and low heeled shoes.

Her victory in the "Miss Teen-age" competition in October came as a surprise to Darla who insists it wasn't a typical beauty contest complete with bathing suits.

"If it was I wouldn't have won" she said. "You should have seen some of the girls. We were judged on personality, intelligence and talent. I sing, if you want to call it that."

Darla swayed the judges with a rendition of "A Sweet Old Fashioned Girl." To complete the picture she wore a gingham skirt costume which her mother made for $3.

Besides the screen test, which she doesn't want, Darla won other prizes. Included in her gift list were a college scholarship, new convertible automobile, scores of tennis shoes from the contest's sponsor, a Caribbean cruise and a watch.

Darla concedes the gifts are very nice. But such largesse was the main reason she came to Hollywood with her mother, who also looks like she could win a beauty contest.

Even a teen-ager realizes somebody has to pay taxes on such an expensive set of gifts. So Darla was in Hollywood taking one quick acting job on a television show, earning the needed cash for taxes.

"I took the television role because I knew it would be the only one," said Darla, who says she'll return to Fresno, complete her commitments as "Miss Teen-age America" and retire from the contest business.

"They let me rest during the Christmas vacation," she said of her queenly duties. "But now it's starting up again and I'll probably be gone three fourths of the summer."

No Work Remained

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The Kentucky Unemployment Compensation Commission was sorting through a number of job applications when it came across this one.

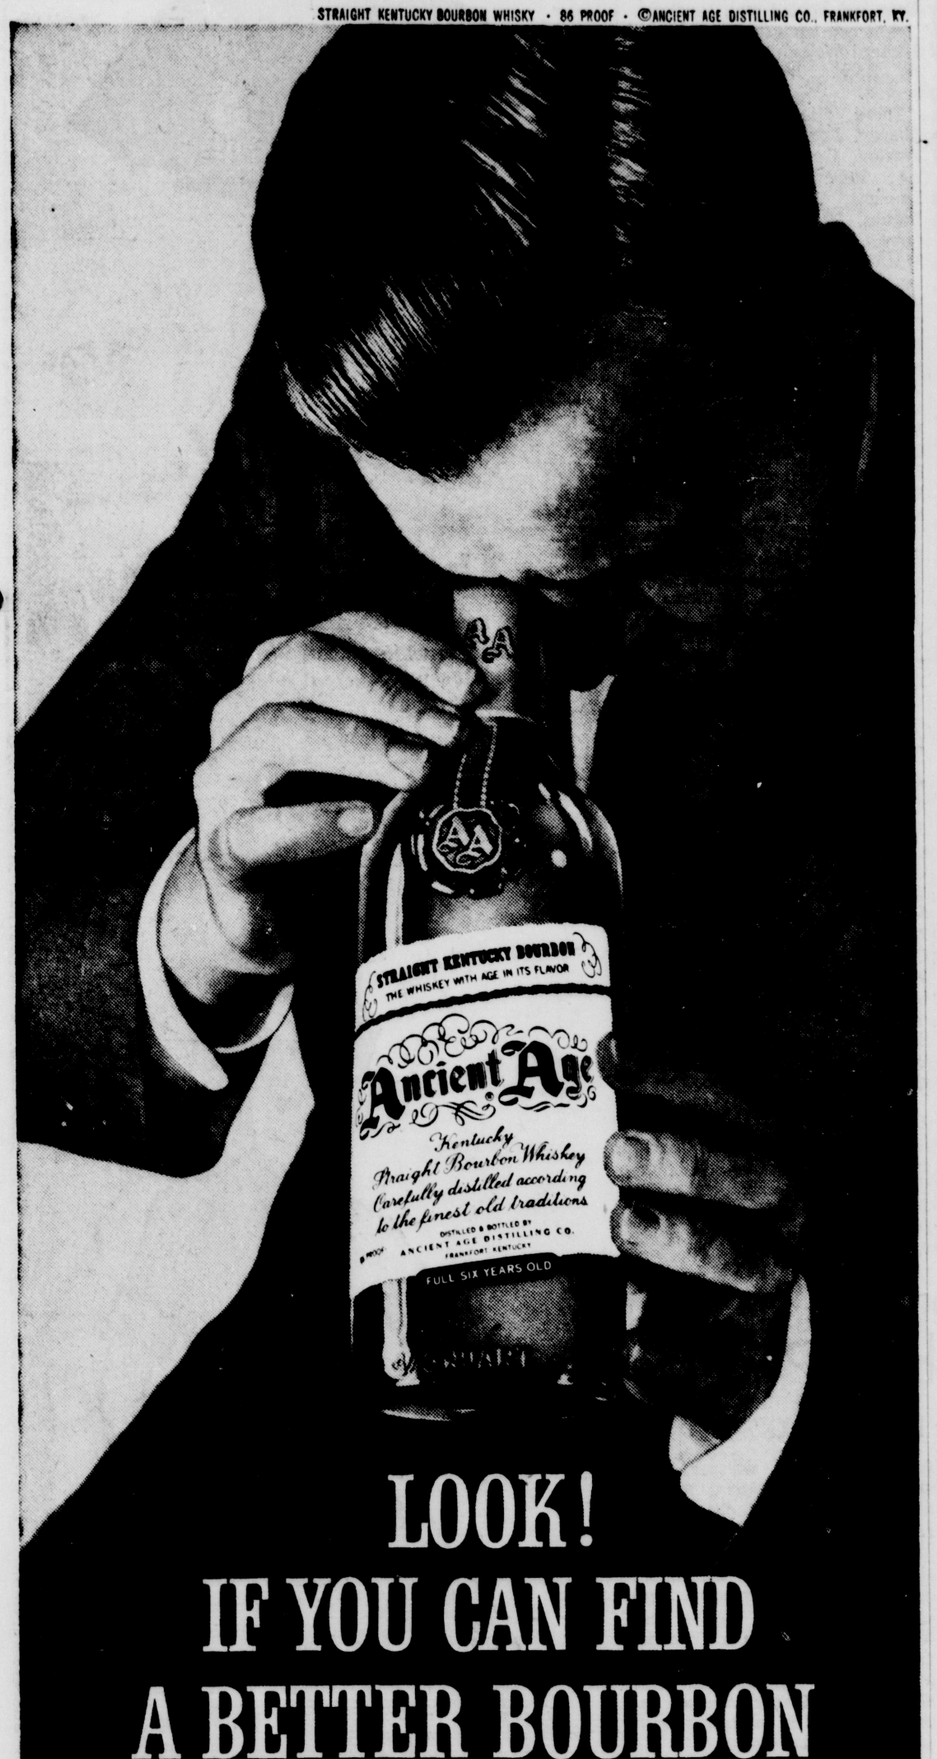

The applicant had been asked why he left his previous job.

LaVale Century Club To Hold Ceramic Course

Announcements featured the meeting of the LaVale Century Club, conducted by Mrs. Ray Dickerson Tuesday evening in the fellowship hall of LaVale Methodist Church.

Mrs. George Newman, arts and crafts chairman, announced a five week course by the ceramic group. Open to all club members, the first meeting will be held March 5, at 11 a. m., at the home of Mrs. William Baker, National Highway.

She also asked any member having any hand made articles to call her so they may be entered in an exhibit at the general meeting of the Maryland Federation of Women's Clubs in Baltimore, April 22, 23.

Tentative plans were outlined by Mrs. Stanley Sliviak, library chairman, for the observance of National Library Week, which will be held April 21-27.

An invitation was extended to the club by Mrs. Ronald Rosher, member of the Cumberland Garden Club, to participate in a tour of Longwood Gardens and Winterthur museum May 3, 4. Reservations are to be made with her, Mrs. Dickerson or Mrs. T. Donald Gibson, president of the Garden Club.

Announcement of the annual "Men's Night party was made by Mrs. William Baker, program chairman. It will be held in conjunction with the next meeting, March 26. At that time James S. Getty, Allegany county state's attorney, will be guest speaker. His topic will be "Problems of Law Enforcement." It also will be held in the fellowship hall.

Routine reports were given by Mrs. William Wilson, Mrs. Bert Mason, Mrs. Baker, Mrs. Harold Francis and Mrs. William Hoover. Mrs. Francis also asked that ticket returns from the Christmas Caravan be made to her as soon as possible. Mrs. Hoover introduced Mrs. Lawrence Moffatt and Mrs. L. R. McKenzie as new members. Mrs. Dickerson requested all chairmen make their annual reports to her by March 1.

Cpl. John F. Browning of the state police, was guest speaker. He was introduced by Mrs. Baker. Discussing "Impact" Cpl. Browning stressed the importance of safety belts in cars.

Following the meeting a social hour was held and refreshments served. The table decorations were pink and purple African violets, arranged in tiers. On either side of the flowers were four thin purple tapers in brass holders. The table cloth was pink and the napkins pink and purple violets. Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Robert Zimmer, chairman, assisted by Mrs. Robert D. Blair, Mrs. Edward Moore, Mrs. Louise Rice, Mrs. Harry Winnerling, Mrs. Herman Mellotti and Mrs. Douglas Wynn.

Tile In Many Colors

Ceramic tile is available in more than 250 colors, enough so the correct shade can be found to fit the decor of any room of the house.

"Tal-Ar-Tea" To Be Held Tonight

The third annual "Tal-Ar-Tea" sponsored by the student nurses of Memorial Hospital will be held tonight, beginning at 7:30.

Miss Nancy Jenkins, art chairman, reported last night there are 60 paintings being exhibited by students at Frostburg State College, 20 from high and grade schools throughout the county besides a number of paintings from patients in the pediatric ward.

A talent show will be presented by the student nurses. It will include songs by Miss Nora O'Neal and Miss Bernadette Biyle, a baton twirling number by Miss Patricia Landsay and Miss Helen Mae, and several dance numbers.

The affair is being held in the nurses home. Proceeds will be added to the fund to send the student nurses to the convention in Annapolis in April.

"Imaginary Vacation Lands" is the theme for the tea. Miss Boyle is general chairman; Miss Bonnie Peterson, chairman for the tea; Miss Norma Cover, the talent show, and Miss Jenkins, art.

GOP Council Postpones Election

The by-laws were discussed at the meeting of the Co-ordinating Council of Republican Clubs of Allegany County, conducted by Mrs. George Barncord Monday evening at the Republican headquarters, North Liberty Street.

As the council is composed of three members from each club in the county, one the president and two appointed by her, it was decided to postpone the election of officers for the council until after all the clubs hold their election this spring.

A special meeting will be called by Mrs. Barncord for the election.

Unsettled Laundry Space

One of the most unsettled areas in the home in recent years has been the laundry space. Modern laundry appliances, plus changes in home design, have combined to move the laundry facilities from the basement to the kitchen or utility room or to the bedroom-bath area. Changing locations of the laundry area have emphasized the need for waterproof and stain-proof materials for floors, walls, and countertops, such as ceramic tile. Colorful ceramic tile can fit any decorative scheme, and its moisture-proof qualities make it an ideal surfacing material for the home laundry — wherever it is located.

Club To Have Demonstration

The Twiggtown Homemakers Club will hold its monthly meetting tomorrow evening at the home of Mrs. Mason Glover, Martin's Mountain, beginning at 7:30.

Mrs. John Reuschel will give a demonstration on home management.

Bridge Winners Are Announced

Mrs. George Bottorf and John Wilkinson were winners in the master point game of the Potomac Valley Bridge Club game, Tuesday evening at the Women's Civic Club house.

Runnersup were Mrs. Ralph Nevy, Mrs. William Snyder; Miss Alice Stakem, Edgar J. Dawson, and Mrs. Mary Deal, Miss Kathryn Laughlin.

Phi Rho Presents Charms To Charter Members

Two star charms were presented to charter members at the meeting of the Phi Rho Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, held at the home of Mrs. Frank Beavers, Mary Street.

The chapter selected to give $25 to the International Endowment fund and routine reports were given.

Plans were discussed for a rush party. It is to be held at the home of Miss Linda Weibrecht, 155 Mount Pleasant Street, Frostburg, March 6.

It was announced that Grover C. Long will be guest speaker at the March 20 meeting. Mr. Long, an employe of the Allegany Ballistics Laboratory, is a member of the Toastmasters Club and was instructor for a speech class at the Y.

The remainder of the evening was a workshop for decorations for the annual Cruise Ball, which will be held April 20 at the Ali Ghan Shrine Club.

Others attending were Miss Marjory Cutshall, Miss Judith Hoenicka, Miss Eileen Morgan, Miss Kay Beeman, Miss Janet Nelson, Miss Weibrecht, Mrs. Karen Rizer and Miss Dorothy O'Baker.

To Purchase Toys

Plans to purchase toys for the Sunday school nursery class were formulated at the meeting of the Mt. Tabor WSCS, held in the social hall. Mrs. Bessie Hetrick conducted the meeting at which time it was decided to serve coffee and dessert at the April zone meeting.

The Scripture was read by Mrs. Lester Ritchie. A short dialogue was presented by Mrs. Hetrick, Mrs. Marie Twigg, Mrs. Virginia Saville and Mrs. Cecile Funkhouser. "Lands of Diseases" was the theme of the program. Mrs. Stella Taschenberger asked members to contribute more coupons.

A social hour followed the meeting and refreshments were served. Hostesses were Mrs. Myrtle Beckner, Mrs. Gladys Kennedy and Mrs. Jessie Wolfe.

Attend Rainbow Dance

Cumberland Assembly No. 6 Order of the Rainbow For Girls held a Sweetheart Dance in the Memorial Room at the Ali Ghan Shrine Club Saturday. The room was decorated in pink and white streamers accented with hearts. On each table were heart decorations and lighted pink candles.

A dance contest was held with Richard Walker winning the Linbo Rock. Refreshments were served.

Those attending were Teryl Chaney, James Groves, Margaret Bennett, Gary Bobo, Diann Kilroy, Robert Richardson, Tina Lambert, John Blose, Victoria Barnes, Michael Stallings, Betty Combs, William Mutcher, Rebecca Shaffer, Dan Shaffer, Susan Ziegler, Kenneth Mason, Joy Carnell, William Rice, Cheryl Bishop, Den Taylor, Margaret Filler, Thomas Walsh, Kathryn Metheney, Richard Atkinson, Deborah Bird, Thomas Cessna, Joan Stafford, Albert Delbrugge, Patricia Snyder, Thomas Clay, Linda Browne, Don Sevell, Shelia Park, Ronald Burkey, Joy Long, John Benson, Marcia Rymer, Richard Keller.

Our Flag of Cumberland Council, 100, Daughters of America will hold a public games party at 1:30 today in the IOOF hall, Virginia Avenue.

Shower Held

Mrs. Bertie Chandler and Mrs. Evelyn Detrick entertained with a surprise stork shower for the latter's daughter, Mrs. Paulette Scarlett. It was held at Mrs. Chandler's home, Ridgeley. A miniature baby decorated the tiered cake and a large stork centered the table.

Guests were Miss Linda Crawford, Mrs. Helen Rowe, Miss Patricia Rowe, Mrs. LeRoy Cover, Mrs. Kathryn Leighty, Mrs. Madeline Scarlett, Mrs. Susan Graham, Miss Sherry Zirk, Miss Carole Cann, Miss Donna Mallott, Miss Christine Goss, Mrs. Geraldine Goss, Mrs. Virginia Murphy, Mrs. Susan Clinedinst, Mrs. Jean Brant and Miss Kathryn Vandegrift.

To Mark Anniversary

Past presidents will be honored at the 15th anniversary celebration of the Hap-O-Happy Club, which will be held in the form of a covered dish supper, tomorrow.

It will be held at 6:30 at the Girl Scout house.

Cresap Homemakers Club will meet at 9:30 this morning in the Cresaptown Methodist Church. A demonstration of convenience foods will be given.

Social Chart

Opening lead: Jack of ♠

There is an old saw that states, "That which belongs to your adversary, you should gladly concede to him." A good counterpart of this doctrine for the defender at the bridge table might read, "That which declarer knows about your hand, you should gladly reveal to him."

The corollary to this is that you shouldn't voluntarily show him anything in addition. The East in today's hand could certainly have profited from the application of this principle.

Three no trump was reached with dispatch and West opened fire with the jack of spades, which rode around to declarer's queen. When East followed with the five, it was reasonable for South to assume that his left hand opponent held all the toppers in the suit. At all costs, then, East must be kept out of the lead for another spade thru declarer's king might permit the defenders to run enough tricks to set the contract.

At trick two South crossed over to the king of diamonds in order to lead a small club. It was his intention to pass the trick around to West in order to keep the danger hand out of the lead. East's play of the nine of clubs frustrated South's plan and he was forced to put in the queen, which held the trick.

The queen of diamonds was cashed next and the remaining diamonds were run as East and South discarded small hearts. On another club lead, East played the jack forcing declarer's ace, and at the same time revealing that another club lead was out of the question since it would enable East to get in with the king.

Declarer's only remaining hope was that West held the king of hearts and could be made to lead away from it in the end position. Since South had not given up any tricks yet, he could afford to let his opponent run the spade suit as long as he started with no more than five spades. Declarer got out with the king of spades and West cashed out four tricks. With only the king and jack of hearts left in his hand, however, he was hopelessly end played, and had to surrender the final two tricks to South.

East's play of the jack of clubs on the second lead of that suit was equivalent of giving declarer a peek at his hand. Since he is already known to have the club king by virtue of South's successful finesse of the queen, he has nothing to lose by dropping that card under the ace. This may induce declarer to play West for the jack of clubs, in which case it would be safe to continue with the establishment of the club suit. If he does so, East will be able to gain entry in order to deliver the fatal salvo thru declarer's remaining spade honor.

Secrets Of Charm

Clever Cosmetic Use For High "Eye Q"

Thank goodness, the extreme look in eye make-up that raged for a while seems to have passed from the current American scene! The sight of pretty young girls, and matrons who should have known better, laden with conspicuous globs of purple eye-shadow is one we prefer to be spared.

Eye make-up, however, is not to be thrown out completely. Anything that enhances a woman's looks belongs in her make-up scheme — no matter what THEY are doing at the moment. Whether you use one or two eye aids, or "the works," depends on you and on the occasion.

Here's one part of face-flattering that cries out for the Powers' school "make-down" approach. Eye make-up should go on last, to be sure it blends with, and complements the rest of your face. It should whisper, not shout. It's a wonderful beauty aid; but the point of diminishing returns is quickly reached.

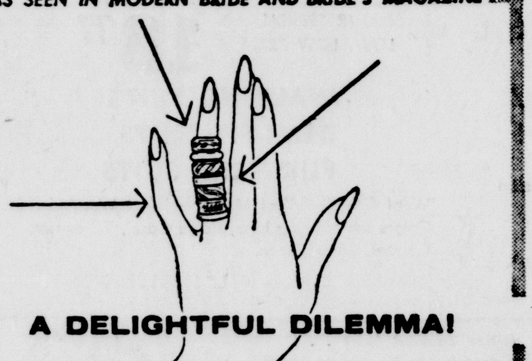

Almost all eyebrows need (besides careful plucking) the filling, darkening, shaping touch of an eyebrow pencil. If you're extremely careful, mascara can be used for brows as well as lashes. Mascara takes practice and deftness, always. Grimy smudges on the skin, blobs on the lashes, will not improve your looks!

Exaggerated amounts of cosmetics call attention to themselves, not to your lovely eyes! Shadow fares best at night, with softer lighting, when it can help give dazzling effects. If used for general make-up, take extra care to blend a sparing amount of color from the center of the lid to the corner; then re-blend out and up at the corner till just a suggestion of shadow is visible. Generally, the color is chosen to contrast with your eye color; green or blue for brown eyes, gray or brown for blue eyes — but you can make your own rules as long as you get the becoming effect you want.

The last place to show up with a garish face and over-done make-up is at the office or on the job! It's most important for working women to know the value of good grooming and good taste. My booklet, "Your Steps to a Successful Career," summarizes work-a-day charm. It's available by writing to me, John Robert Powers, in care of this newspaper, enclosing 10c and a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

PRACTICING FOR GYMNASTIC JAMBOREE — Getting ready for the "Gymnastic Jamboree" to be held at Allegany High School Saturday from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m., above is Bonnie Harrison, ninth grader, working in the gym class demonstrating on the rings, is shown doing the split. To the right are two eleventh graders on the rings. Sandra Serf demonstrates a "bird's nest" while Mary Hardy does the back bend. Nine schools are participating in the program, which will be held at Allegany and to which the public is invited. The schools include Beall High, Bruce, Cresaptown, Fort Hill, Flintstone, Mount Savage, Oldtown, and Valley High. Girls with experience on the various pieces of apparatus will give instructions concerning them. At the end of the program there will be a five-minute demonstration on each piece of equipment.

Reports Given

A report on the purchase of the World Book Encyclopedia for the school library was given by Thomas Carroll at the meeting of the St. Mary's Parents Club. School regulations were discussed by Rev. Richard Mitchell and Sister Ruth Ann, principal.

A pancake and sausage breakfast March 24 was announced by Robert Burkey.

Speaking about the Tri-State Poison Control Center at Sacred Heart Hospital, Dr. Gina Glick stressed that carelessness is the main cause of deaths of children caused by poisons. She stressed the importance of putting medicines, cleaning aids and other such substances out of reach of children. She illustrated her talk with slides.

4-H To Honor Miss Morgan In Citizenship Ceremony

Miss Eileen Morgan, Frostburg, will be one of the 4-H'ers to be honored at the "Citizenship" ceremonies to be held in Frederick March 9. She will be presented a Bill of Rights scroll and a citizenship pin.

Club members who have reached or will reach 21 years of age in 1963 are to be honored at the ceremony. Charles McC. Mathias Jr., 6th District congressman, will be the principal speaker.

The ceremonies will be held at the conclusion of the "Citizenship tour of historic Frederick by older 4-H members, climaxing the state observance of 1963 National 4-H Club Week, March 2-9. After a bus tour of the town, the group will visit a purebred Angus beef farm, a Holstein dairy farm, the Maryland Artificial Breeding Cooperative and Walkersville Sewing Factory.

A partial list of the delegation from Allegany County 4-H'ers includes Mrs. Brownlee Armstrong, leader from Rawlings, her daughter and a friend; Larry Silber, James Brown, Joseph Steger Jr., Rt. 4, Cumberland; Janice White, Valley Road; James Robison, John Robison, James Theorig, James Lashley, Dennis Lashley, Gene Paul, Keith Kennell, Mount Savage; Jean Miltenberger, Joan Miltenberger, Ridgeley; Linda Maguire, Kay Frances Morgan and Sandra Dishong, Frostburg.

"4-H, Young Citizens in Action" is the theme for the annual commemoration, when the 4-H aims and methods are presented for public understanding.

Allegany County observance will feature the 4-H window displays and County Vesper service.

The clubs throughout the county will compete with their window displays depiciting "4-H at a glance." They will be exhibited throughout the week and judging will be March 5. Each display will receive a ribbon. A blue ribbon for excellent; red for good and white, fair. A champion will be selected and the winning club will receive an award, which can be kept for a year, then passed to next year's winner. A winner for three consecutive years may retain the award.

A Vesper service will climax the county observance. It will be held March 3 in the Flintstone Methodist Church, beginning at 7:30. Rev. John Ewald will be the guest speaker. All clubs are expected to participate in the service. One will have the Bible reading; others participate as ushers. As usual there will be the 4-H Choir, composed of members of the various clubs. It is under the direction of Mrs. Paul Gilford, with Mrs. Hazel Blose accompanist. Besides the selections by the chorus, there will be congregational singing.

Md. House Tour Dates Announced

April 27 through May 12 have been announced as the dates of the 26th annual Maryland House and Garden Pilgrimage. The cruises will be May 18 and 19.

The 1963 tour schedule includes Charles County, April 27; Calvert County, April 28; Long Green Valley, May 2; Anne Arundel County, May 3; Queen Anne's County, May 4; Talbot County, May 5; Guilford Walking tour, May 7; Worthington Valley, May 9; My Lady's Manor, May 10; Kent County, May 11, and Cecil County, May 12.

The water cruises from Baltimore are May 18 the Chesapeake Bay Cruise and walking tour of Oxford; and May 19, to be repeated if demand warrants.

This year's House Tours concentrate on the famous Eastern Shore, fertile Southern Maryland and the fabulous countryside close to Baltimore.

The water cruise for the first time leaves Baltimore for a trip down the Chesapeake Bay to Oxford, colonial seaport whose fame preceded Baltimore's by nearly 300 years.

Pilgrimage proceeds go to the increasing number of restoration projects throughout the state, in addition to contributing toward the maintenance of the Hammond-Harwood House, in Annapolis, one of the finest 18th Century Georgian mansions, now a museum and a registered historical landmark.

Invited To Meeting

Ross F. Shaw, Oldtown, a member of the Maryland Historical Society, has accepted an invitation from John J. Wich, president, to become a member of the Anne Arundel County Historical Society. He also has been invited to attend the meeting on Maryland Day, March 25 in Baltimore.

Auxiliary Donates To Heart Fund

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars made a donation of $10 to the heart fund at the meeting Tuesday evening at the post home. Mrs. Clara Mantheiy presided.

Following the presentation of colors, prayer was offered by Mrs. Elizabeth Nave. Mrs. Violet arns led the pledge to the flag.

A letter was read from the Department of Maryland Americanization chairman, Mrs. Isabelle Buhner, Baltimore, inviting members of the auxiliary to attend the Americanization program, which will be held May 3 in the War Memorial building, Baltimore.

Several members were reported ill. They are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Moore; Henry Free, who is a patient in Memorial Hospital; Mrs. Betty Holshey, of Alvin C. Neat Auxiliary, Lonaconing, and Paul Shanski, who is undergoing treatment at University Hospital, Baltimore.

An auditing report was given by Miss Leonarda Powers of Alvin C. Neat Auxiliary. She also presented the VFW cap to Mrs. Remona A. Leighty, a new member of the auxiliary. The prize of the evening was won by Mrs. Grace Cross. During the social hour, refreshments were served by Mrs. Mantheiy.

Plan Dinner

Members of the Klingler-Swisher Officers Club of Cumberland Chapter, OES, formulated plans for their annual dinner at the meeting recently at the Ali Ghan Shrine Club. It will be held March 19 at the Masonic Temple.

Gifts were exchanged and prizes won by Mrs. Irene Maphis, Mrs. Dorothy Utterback, Mrs. Margaret Lawyer and Miss Bessie Baird. Hosts were Miss Margaret Barnard, Mrs. Alverda Cassell, Mrs. Helen Swisher and Roy Maphis.

Others present were Mrs. Verona Bittner, Thurman Cassell, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Delozier, Mrs. Mildred Kline, Mrs. Elizabeth Lamp, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Klingler, Mrs. Elizabeth Landis, Mr. and Mrs. Paul McElfish, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Morton, Mrs. Virginia Ryan, Miss Margaret Flurshutz, Mrs. Maud Heishman, Mrs. Edna Hixon, Mrs. Hattie Roby, Mr. and Mrs. Wilkie Holler, Rex Swisher, Mrs. Barbara Williams, Mrs. Maxine Zehrbach, Mrs. Lillian Zimmerman, Mr. and Mrs. Carl McElfish.

Omicron Chapter BSP Rush Party To Be Mar. 20

Plans for a rush party were formulated at the meeting of Omicron Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, conducted by Mrs. Helen Arthur, Tuesday evening at her home, Montgomery Avenue. The party for prospective members is to be held at the home of Miss Jean MacDonald, 723 Gephart Drive, March 20.

There will be a "delux hodge podge" sale at the next meeting, March 5, which will be held at the home of Mrs. Bette Adam, 1905 Bedford Street. Each member is to bring an unwrapped article for the sale. A program will be presented under the chairmanship of Mrs. Frances Frank.

The slate of officers for the coming year will be submitted by the nominating committee, which consists of Mrs. Arthur, Mrs. Adam and Mrs. Anna Kurtz. Election will be at the March 20 meeting.

A meeting of the executive board and nominating committee was announced for March 4. It will be held at the home of Mrs. Sara Lindsay, 14 Helman Drive, LaVale, at 8:30.

The program for the meeting was under the chairmanship of Mrs. Martha VanHorn. Mrs. Rudolph Steinberger was guest speaker. Discussing flower arrangements, she demonstrated by making several and gave helpful hints on caring for flowers. Explaining how to use things available, she constructed a centerpiece of fruit. She placed ivy in a light green pedestal type bowl on a brown wooden tray, and encircled it with layers of oranges, lemons and limes, topped with cumquots. On either side, Mrs. Steinberger used white candles in hollowed-out oranges on cork coasters.

Others attending were Miss Josephine Dorn, Miss Patricia Emerick, Mrs. Patricia Seaton, Miss Barbara Haan, Miss MacDonald, Mrs. Elaine Pyle, Mrs. Virginia Shircliff and Mrs. Gladys May.

Meeting Dates Are Discussed

Members of the Carpenter's Addition Homemakers Club agreed to reschedule regular meetings, when they conflict with the combined meeting of the Ridgeley High and Elementary PTA.

Mrs. Robert Spriggs conducted the meeting when the club donated to the Ridgeley High Year Book. She and Mrs. Robert Baker demonstrated kitchen ideas. Miss Betty Jo Queen, Keyser, demonstration agent, distributed material for the reading group.

A program on lifelong learning was led by Mrs. Charles Davis, assisted by Mrs. Charles Mulligan, Mrs. Arthur Swadley, Mrs. George Phillips and Mrs. J. J. Mars. It was suggested sending a member to the leadership training conference, have reading projects, patronize Mineral County library service and publicize the bookmobile visits.

Anniversary To Be Held

Club 2, Pride of Allegany Council 110, Daughters of America, will have an informal dinner party March 20 marking its anniversary. Plans were made at a meeting at the home of Mrs. Anna Johnson, Winton Place.

Mrs. Agnes Cox read the Scripture. Games were played during the social hour and prizes won by Mrs. Jessie Leasure, Mrs. Marie Dawson, Mrs. Elsie Lehr and Mrs. Ethelwin Whitlock.

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Am I guilty? Can a mother make home so comfortable for her children that they don't want to leave?

My sons are 27 and 29 years old — attractive, well-educated and successful in business. They like girls, but apparently they are too contented with things as they are to exert the energy to make homes of their own.

I was left a widow when my boys were teenagers. I have a steady income from my husband's estate. I'd love to move into a small apartment but the boys won't let me. They adore this house. I've told them the first one who marries can have the house as a present — but nothing happens.

Both of these young men have a great deal to offer a girl. I pray every night they will get married and have families of their own, but time marches on and here they sit. Please suggest something. — ENOUGH BACHELORHOOD ALREADY

DEAR ALREADY: Sometimes the mama bird has to shove the baby birds out of the nest so they will learn to fly. Start shoving.

Serve notice NOW that you are looking for an apartment and that they must find another place to live or engage a housekeeper who will stay in the family home with them.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Is my sister's boy friend cheating the telephone company or not? I say he is. My sister says no. Will you be the judge?

John works nights. He likes to call my sister every few hours just to chin. He usually calls her about 8:30 and 10:30 in the evening. The place where he works has only coin telephones and he can't afford the loot. So — he drops the dime into the phone, lets it ring twice and hangs up. That's the signal for her to call him back. She calls him back and they talk—forever.

My sister says this not cheating because John doesn't talk on the call. All he does is signal her to call HIM. What's the verdict? Honest or dishonest? — DIOGENES

DEAR DIOGENES: It's dishonest. Telephones are instruments of communication — not signaling devices.

When you add up all the chislers who are trying to beat the system by signaling in a variety of ways it represents an enormous amount of tied-up equipment for which the company gets no revenue. Somebody has to pay for these shenanigans, and who do you think it is? You and I, Bub.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm enclosing a clipping from the society section of our newspaper. As you can see, six hostesses have joined hands to give a luncheon for a bride-to-be.

I can understand two women giving a party together, particularly if they are related, or if one has a large home and the other has not. But SIX women hosting one party. Really! I know two of these women well, a third is a casual acquaintance, and the other three have never been inside my home.

I've always been taught that when one accepts an invitation he is obligated to reciprocate. Does this mean I am now indebted to six women who got together to give one party? Please enlighten me.—LUMPED

DEAR LUMPED: Sorry, Old Girl, but when several hostesses band together to entertain and you accept the invitation, you are then obligated to each of them. If this sort of "togetherness" irritates you, don't accept.

CONFIDENTIAL TO TORN: "What you don't know can't hurt you" is a meaningless collection of words. What you don't know CAN hurt you — and plenty. Ignorance is dangerous. Get the correct information from your physician and stop burying your head like an ostrich.

To learn the knack of feeling comfortable with the opposite sex, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Be Date Bait," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed stamped envelope.

Longest Income Tax Case On Record Involves Brother Of Al Capone

By ROBERT T. LOUGHRAN

CHICAGO (UPI) "When it comes to a Capone, we never give up."

Elliott Ness didn't say that. The words were spoken only a few years ago by a government prosecutor seeking victory in the longest—and one of the strangest—income tax cases on the record books.

It is no coincidence that the man on the other side of the fight is named Capone. The government's struggle to lay its hands on Capone's cash has been going on for 31 years and it's not over yet.

The government played its latest card in the game last month when federal agents seized 40 cigarette vending machines owned by Ralph (Bottles) Capone of Chicago and Mercer, Wis.

If the name is familiar it's because Bottles is the big brother of the most notorious gangster in the nation ever has known—Scarface Al Capone, king of beer barons, commander of sub-machine gun assassins, and underworld emperor of Chicago back in the sinful 20's.

The government insists that Bottles owes $223,294 in back taxes and penalties. The tax bill dates to 1926, 1927 and 1928 when Bottles was getting fat in his brother's shadow. Ralph went to jail for income tax evasion in 1932, just like Al, but still owed $5,662 in back taxes when he got out in 1935.

He didn't pay the money then and he hasn't yet, and Bottles' bill with the government has been multiplied by 40 through interest and penalties in the decades in between.

Treasury Presses Case

Government prosecutors have come and gone in the musty Chicago Federal Building. Al Capone is dead and his mighty lieutenants have died or retired, generally with well-furnished bank accounts. The Roaring 20's are fodder for television serials.

But the Internal Revenue Service can't get out of its craw the fact that a Capone still owes it money. It can't—and won't—let Bottles off the hook.

He was never a popular hoodlum, not even when his hair was black and shiny, his eyes snapped the authority of his dreaded brother, and he was ranked in Chicago as "Public Enemy No. 3."

Oldtime gangsters will tell you that was strictly a courtesy title. Ralph (he got his nickname winning a beer-drinking contest up in Wisconsin) may have sat in the councils of the mighty for a while. But that was because his little brother looked after his kinfolk.

Declared Bankrupt

Bottles is pushing 70 now. He claims he's broke and a federal district judge has officially declared him a bankrupt.

But the Treasury men don't really believe it. They continued with plans this week to keep on raiding Bottles' vending machines wherever they can find them. And they persisted in looking elsewhere for the Capone bankroll.

"I'll tell you how it is with these hoodlums," an investigator said. "If they make $500, they bury $250 of it. The money's there somewhere."

No Spare Barrels

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP)—Maybe it's legend, but here is one explanation of why bourbon whisky is aged in charred barrels:

In bygone Kentucky days a slave sneaked into a cellar to steal a drink. He dropped his candle and ignited the barrel. Before the fire was put out the barrel became charred.

Barrels were hard to come by—and the next batch of bourbon was stored right back in the burned wood. Someone then discovered that whisky from the charred barrel tasted better than the other kind.

CENTENNIAL SCRAPBOOK

The War for the Union 1861-65 in Pictures

No. 255 The Union Army and Navy totalled 918,191 as of Jan. 1, 1863. Of these, 8,987 officers and 280,073 enlisted men were reported absent from duty.

Many had authorized leave for Christmas visits and a high percentage were sick or wounded. A considerable number were AWOL.

Earlier in the war, punishment of AWOL offenders who were caught was amazingly light. But by the winter of 1862-63, harsher deterrents were common. Capital sentences were given 80 deserters from Army of the Potomac in 1863, and 21 of these were shot.

BARDSTOWN, Ky. (AP) — Lt. Marvin Essex, a retired Army officer, returned from a hunting trip with a fine deer.

"Got him in one shot," he told friends.

"I thought you fired 11 times," said his hunting companion, P. D. Johnson.

"I did," Essex replied. "I shot once to attract the deer's attention, nine times to clear out the brush and once to kill him.

Ada Jewel Circle Meeting March 21

BARTON—The Ada Jewel Circle of First Presbyterian Church will meet on March 21 at 10:30 a. m. in the recreation room.

At a recent meeting Mrs. Dorothy Roberts was the program leader and the topic was "God Chooses A People."

To Save Money?

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Post mortem on an election:

The Arizona Association of Realtors was successful in its initiative drive to let members do certain paperwork that previously had been reserved for lawyers.

The realtors filed an expense statement showing they spent $134,477 in the campaign. The Arizona Bar Association said it spent $22,927.

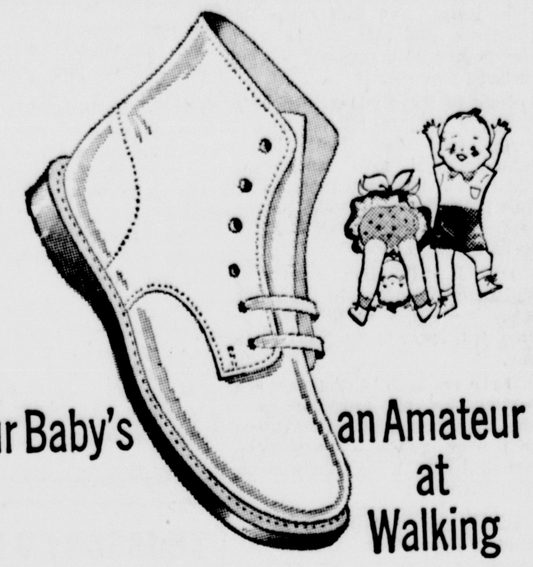

New Fashion Products

Fiberglas reinforced plastics, used in rocket boosters, now help lift milady's bosom. The material in new brassiere supports features design flexibility, light weight and high strength.

Fashion is adapting the shock absorber to sheer seamless stockings. The stockings with the shock absorbing qualities have action panels that absorb he strain on the nylon as the knee is flexed or bent. The manufacturer says lycra fiber in the panel allows it to expand vertically with the bend and helps it to return neatly to place when the leg is straightened.

Softness and slender shaping are bywords of dress, suit and coat collections for spring. There are overblouses of all lengths: riding the midriff, extending into long tunics.

To help swell a grass roots movement for the tax cut, one hair products firm has come out with the "tax cut" coiffure. The tax cut itself is indicative of the good times to follow. According to the company's research, it means more free money and more free money nurtures more elegant, intricate hair styles. The new haircut allows women to wear more feminine, highly sculpted coiffures without use of false hair pieces. The cut itself—like the income tax—is based on angles.

America with freckles

There's nothing in America that typifies the country, and its philosophies, more than the newspaperboy. Call him what you may; newspaperboy, paper carrier or capitalist in sneaks, he stands for America and the "free enterprise" system.

He's a retailer, a salesman, an accountant and a business firm all rolled into one. The newspaperboy earns his own spending money, while providing a valuable service to his community. He learns, at an early age, to be both independent and dependable.

In the newspaperboy, we see responsibility recognized and accepted with the same youthful vitality that has been the backbone of our country since its conception. He is America with freckles, in today's newspaperboy lives tomorrow's America.

HIKE GIVES THEM A PANE—These workmen appear to be joining the 50-mile-hike fad in Chicago, but actually there is more here than meets the eye. The men are carrying a plate glass pane to its place in a new building. The strength in numbers was to guard against gusts in the Windy City.

Young British Actress Must Overcome Her Past

By JACK BRANNAN

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — When curvaceous June Wilkinson discusses the value of cheesecake and nude art, she konws whereof she speaks.

For the past four years—or since the tender age of 17—she has displayed her striking 40-20-36 figure in all imaginable stages of dress and undress in magazines, movies and the theater.

But the cheesecake served only one purpose. It was a springboard to the publicity she needed in her quest for stardom in motion pictures, the goal that brought her to the United States from her native London in 1958.

She has yet to realize her specific goal. But her career on the stage, both theater and night club types, is progressing rapidly. And she has made her mark in the motion picture industry, too.

"I don't believe I could have attained what I have in four years without those magazine pictures," she said during a recent stopover here.

"The pictures were merely a means to an end. I'm not sorry I posed for them. They did a lot of good for me."

But the widespread display of the Wilkinson figure—which got her the nickname of "The Bosom"—has had its drawbacks, too.

"It turned me into a sex symbol...a freak," Miss Wilkinson said, clipping the words with her English accent. "Now I've got to prove I'm something besides a sex symbol, something more than a body.

"I want to be recognized for my dramatic and comedy talent... as an actress, a performer."

Miss Wilkinson currently is displaying her acting talent, as well as her figure, in the French farce "Pajama Tops." The play had a long run at the Seattle World's Fair and now is touring the country.

She plans to leave the play in May to make a movie in Spain.

Miss Wilkinson, who has blonde hair and brown eyes, was no novice to the entertainment world when she came to the United States.

She began studying for the stage at the age of three and had worked in ballet by the time she was 12. Later, she had her own night club act, a show with four other girls on the British Broadcasting Company television network, and at 16 was the youngest girl in the Windmill Theater—London's Ziegfield Follies.

Since coming to the United States, where she was unknown until her pictures hit the magazines, her attainments have been as impressive as her figure.

She has appeared in several films made in Hollywood, starred in a movie made in Mexico, done several national television shows, and formed a movie company in partnership with Myron Mike and Creamer Massey.

"I want to do things in a hurry," she said in summing up her philosophy.

"The saying is that all things come to those who wait. But that is no good for me. I want them while I'm still young enough to enjoy them."

And, at the age of 21, her plan appears to be working.

"You bet it's working," she said. "That's because I'm about the sharpest 21-year-old girl around."

TV Notes

NEW YORK (UPI) — Jack Benny has one more year to go on his current video contract with CBS. After that, at which time he will be 70, he isn't quite sure. "But you know," he said, "I'm not really happy unless I'm working." It seems logical to expect him back for another round, although possibly not with a weekly show. Not that he's felt pressed by working weekly in recent years. "People wonder how I stand that routine," he said, "but actually, I've found it easier, less complicated, than doing a show, say, every two weeks or once a month."

I would suggest tuning in on April 4 at 8:30 p.m. for James Lee's original teleplay, "The Invincible Mr. Disraeli," on "The Hallmark Hall of Fame" for NBC. The script, which I've had the privilege of reading, is warm and literate. Trevor Howard, one of Britain's best, will play Queen Victoria's favorite prime minister. Greer Garson is Mrs. Disraeli.

The author of a current popular novel, "My Name Is Morgan," about a dynamic show-business tycoon, is William Woolfolk, script editor and author of several episodes for "The Defenders" CBS Saturday night series. The next Woolfolk script for "The Defenders," on a date not yet set, will be "A Book for Burning," about a suburban civic leader who gets into legal difficulties as a self-appointed literary censor.

"Bell Telephone Hour," a broadcasting fixture for years, will be seen next season every other week on the NBC network instead of, as in recent seasons, at irregular intervals approximating one a month for two-thirds of a year. It will be seen alternate Tuesdays at 10 p.m., and for the first time it will run right through a summer — Sept. 24, 1963 to the autumn of 1964.

Food Tips Offered For Lenten Season

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Although a good supply of high protein non-meat foods is available for the Lenten Season, there are many good buys to be found in meats.

There is a larger selection of reasonably priced fruits and vegetables, as well.

Among the best vegetable buys this weekend are beans, beets, carrots, celery, and greens with the exception of spinach. Escarole-endive, iceberg lettuce, mushrooms, onions, potatoes, radishes, rhubarb, and sweet potatoes should also be featured at popular prices.

Top fruit buys will be honeydews, apples, and anjou pears.

In the meat and poultry departments best buys will include a good variety of beef, especially round and rib roasts. Sirloin and porterhouse steaks also will be featured along with chuck steaks. Veal and pork loin roast will be good buys.

Frenchman Says His Color TV Superior To American

By PHILO J .ROBINSON
United Press International

PARIS (UPI) — When color television begins to appear in European living rooms some years hence proud Gallic technicians are hoping the tints will be French.

Just as some French scientists are working to create an independent nuclear force, others are striving to produce a color television process that will outshine its already-established American predecessor.

The effort is especially important to its inventor whose name should leave little doubt of his nationality, Henri de France.

The system the French government-run television will adopt is the one most of Europe agrees is the best.

The de France process is being developed and perfected by the French Television Company. The French system is said here to be the only one offering any competition to the American color system.

The European nations must choose one of the two so that a universal process is established, enabling them to exchange colorcasts. This will increase the hours of color viewing and divide the costs of producing the more expensive color shows.

No decision is expected to be taken before 1964 when the American process, approved by the National Television Standards Committee, and the French SECAM (sequence memory) systems have been thoroughly tested and compared.

The assistant director of the French Television, Gen. Marien Leschi, said the first national colorcasts in France will take place in 1968 or 1969 and he seems to favor SECAM. He said the reasons for the wait are:

—There is no special channel for color yet. (The French Radio and Television—RTF—has announced that the second national channel will be operating in 1964).

—The French SECAM system is better than the American one but has yet to be proven, and the proving will take some time.

—France will wait until the British, Dutch, Belgians, Italians, Poles and Russians have agreed on one process.

While Henri de France is conducting colorcasts in his laboratories near here the RTF is continually experimenting with both systems. Similar studies are being conducted in other European nations.

Leschi said: "We (RTF) are persuaded that the French process has an immense advantage because it reproduces colors better. We are convinced ot its superiority but still it must be proven locally and in the world."

One of the most attractive features, Leschi said, is that manufacturers are trying to make color sets which cost only twice the price of black and white receivers "rather than three times the price as in the United States and Canada."

But despite its willingness to support the SECAM process the RTF is making thorough studies to insure that the better of the two systems is selected.

Students Build Own Reading Room

OSLO, Norway (AP — The 25 zoology students have long complained that their reading room at the University of Oslo holds only 16.

School authorities explained that's all the space available. So Monday night the students voted to borrow $2,140 for two wooden prefabricated buildings and will pay off the loan themselves.

CMDR. JOHN H. NICHOLSON

Nuclear Sub Officer To Address Local Group

Cmdr. John H. Nicholson, head of the Submarine Propulsion and Navigation Section of the Submarine Warfare Division, Office of the Chief of Naval Operations, will be the principal speaker today at a meeting of the Allegheny Section, American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics.

His subject will be "Under the Arctic Icecap in a Nuclear Submarine."

The dinner meeting is slated for 6:30 p. m. today at the Cumberland Country Club.

Cmdr. Nicholson, a native of Salt Lake City, was graduated from the Naval Academy in 1946 and attended Submarine School in 1948. In 1951, he was one of the first two officers to be selected for nuclear power training.

After three years training, Cmdr. Nicholson served for another three years as engineer officer, navigator and executive officer on the USS Nautilus, the first nuclear submarine.

In 1957, he became executive officer and navigator of America's third nuclear sub, the USS Skate, which made the historic cruise under the Arctic icecap in 1958. The submarine was awarded the Navy Unit Commendation, and Cmdr. Nicholson, for his performance as navigator during the trip, was awarded the Secretary of the Navy Commendation Medal.

The following year, he was assigned commanding officer of the USS Pickerel, and from October, 1959, to May, 1961, Nicholson was commanding officer of the USS Sargo, a Pacific Fleet nuclear submarine.

In 1960, The Sargo made an Arctic cruise for which it was awarded the Navy Unit Commendation, and Cmdr. Nicholson was awarded the Legion of Merit for his performance as commanding officer.

In 1961, the Sargo commander was awarded a letter of commendation from the Commander in Chief of the Pacific Fleet for heroism during a fire which broke out in the submarine.

Since July, 1961, Cmdr. Nicholson has been serving in the Office of the Chief of Naval Operations.

Plagued Day And Night with Bladder Discomfort?

Unwise eating or drinking may be a source of mild, but annoying bladder irritations—making you feel restless, tense, and uncomfortable. And if restless nights, with nagging backache, headache or muscular aches and pains due to over-exertion, strain or emotional upset, are adding to your misery—don't wait—try Doan's Pills.

Doan's Pills act 3 ways for speedy relief. 1—They have a soothing effect on bladder irritations. 2—A fast pain-relieving action on nagging backache, headaches, muscular aches and pains. 3—A wonderfully mild diuretic action thru the kidneys, tending to increase the output of the 15 miles of kidney tubes. So, get the same happy relief millions have enjoyed for over 60 years. For convenience, buy the large size. Get Doan's Pills today!

ABL Employes Honored For Work During Test

Two employes of the Allegany Ballistics Laboratory have been awarded certificates of participation in appreciation and recognition of their efforts in the classified "Operations Domenic" during the 1962 Pacific nuclear test series.

They are Seldon H. Harris Jr., project engineer of NASA Space Flight Motors, and Marvin B. Rubin, engineer in the NASA Motors Section.

The two men were commended for their engineering field services in connection with ABL space motors used in experiments at Johnston Island in the Pacific. Harris was assigned to Johnston Island last July, while Rubin served there in October.

Operation DOMENIC was conducted by Joint Task Force EIGHT made up of the Navy, Army and Air Force. A letter accompanying the award reads:

"Operation DOMENIC has been successfully concluded with all scientific experiments executed essentially as planned. This success was largely due to the dedicated service and professional ability of the personnel taking part in the Operation.

"In recognition of such service, Commander, Joint Task Force EIGHT, has furnished certificates of participation to be awarded to all personnel on duty with Joint Task Force EIGHT.

"Within Joint Task Force EIGHT, approximately 2,000 military and civilian scientists, engineers, and technicians served with Task Unit 8.1.3, the Defense Atomic Support Agency Scientific Task Unit.

"They maintained a high state of readiness for each experiment despite involved logistics, limited facilities, unforeseen delays, and equipment problems. In successfully accomplishing their mission, Task Unit 8.1.3 personnel demonstrated professional competence, ingenuity, and determination.

The enclosed Certificate of Service is awarded in appreciation and recognition of your efforts in Task Unit 8.1.3.

SRC Conference At LaVale Ends Today

A three-day highway construction conference sponsored by the State Roads Commission will end today at the LaVale Fire Hall.

The event is being attended by contractors, roads officials and others from Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties. Besides the contractors, roads and street department officials of counties and municipalities have been invited to the sessions.

Robert B. Burgess, construction controls engineer for the SRC, moderated a panel discussion yestrday on contractor-SRC relations on the job level. William Hardy, Baltimore, executive secretary of the Maryland Highway Contractors Association led a panel discussion on various phases of road projects.

George H. Siems Jr., paving engineer with the Portland Cement Association in Baltimore, spoke this afternoon on principles and methods of cement stabilization as applied to shoulders, subbases and subgrades.

Today Burgess will discuss field office procedures and general problems including inspectors daily reports, daily construction logs, time charges, delay reports, progress reports, accounting, monthly estimates, borrow pit surveys, and miscellaneous problems.

Tuesday's program comprised talks by S. C. Frye, applications engineer for Bethlehem Steel Company, Bethlehem, Pa.; Henry J. Stetina, senior regional engineer for the American Institute of Steel Construction at Philadelphia; Charles R. Anderson, chief of the landscape division of the SRC; Douglas L. Fox, manager of Tidewater District of Sika Chemical Corporation of Baltimore; John T. Reinhard, district engineer of Atlantic Gulf Division of the Asphalt Institution, Washington.

CANBERRA, Australia (UPI)—Defense chiefs of Britain, Australia and New Zealand will hold talks here Thursday on common problems associated with deployment of reserve forces in Southeast Asia, it was announced Monday.

Revue Tickets Exchangeable At Hotel

Tickets for the "Red Stocking Revue", to be presented Friday and Saturday at Fort Hill High School may now be exchanged for reserved seats at the Fort Cumberland Hotel, it was announced by Mrs. Ronald Chapman, ticket chairman.

Mrs. Chapman said tickets also can be exchanged by telephoning PA 2-2400, Extension 19. Exchanges can be made daily from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. and today until 9 p.m.

Proceeds from the show will go to Friends Aware of Handicapped Children.

The ticket chairman asked that all ticket proceeds be submitted to her by the time of dress rehearsal tonight.

Following the final performance of the revue Saturday, a party will be held at the Cumberland Country Club for the cast, committees, friends and husbands.

Lippel Is Named Blue Cross Trustee

BALTIMORE (AP) — Clarence Lippel, Cumberland attorney, has been elected a trustee of the Maryland Blue Cross Plan.

Blue Cross said Lippel fills the vacancy created by the death last year of Joseph M. Naughton, president of the Second National Bank of Cumberland.

Warning Issued

DALLAS (UPI) — The Texas Mid-Contient Oil & Gas Association has warned its members to be aware "of the dangers" in President Kennedy's tax program as it affects the petroleum industry.

"No state in the union would be as hard hit as Texas if Congress adopts the recommendations which cut the effectiveness of percentage depletion by 20 to 25 per cent," the association said over the weekend.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — The bossman of Essex Productions, a certain Mr. Frank Sinatra, has started his company off in very fine shape by signing Ann-Margaret as star of "A Young Man's Fancy." From what I hear Ann-Margret is fancied by men both young and old, and in Frankie's picture, even though it is not a musical, she will sing a number.

Opposite Ann-M in this comedy which United Artists will release is a new comic, Woody Woodbury, who has been making a big name for himself in Florida.

Some of "A Young Man's Fancy" will be filmed at Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., but happily, most of the picture will be shot in Hollywood. Frank won't play in it but he'll keep an eye on it, whether roving or otherwise.

No one boosted harder for Edie Adams for "Under the Yum Yum Tree" than Rosalind Russell. Roz did her first musical "Wonderful Town" on Broadway with Edie playing her sister, and she has always told her producer-husband Freddie Brisson that he should grab the talented Edie for one of his pictures or plays.

So now Freddie will co-star Edie with Jack Lemmon, Carol Lynley and Dean Jones in "Under the Yum Yum Tree."

Remember Diane Varsi, the offbeat young actress who made such a sensation in "Peyton Place" and then ran out on her 20th Century-Fox contract because she "couldn't bear to be a movie actress?"

Well, Diane and her San Francisco artist-husband, Mike Havsman, are expecting a baby. I believe Diane had a child by a previous marriage but this is the first for her and Havsman although they have been married for some time.

Bette Davis, now the most nominated Hollywood star, was on a train going east when the 1963 academy award candidates were named. By being listed for "What Ever Happened to Baby Jane?" Bette attained her 10th nomination — and no other player can make that claim. She is already tied with four other actresses by having two Oscars, and to say she wants to be the one and only to attain a third is the understatement of the year.

When I got the word that Francoise Sagan, the enfant terrible of French literature, had written a movie "Landru," based on the life and crimes of a French Bluebeard, it rang a bell in my memory. Charlie Chaplin once portrayed this monster who murdered 11 women and disposed of their remains in a furnace. However, Charlie played it under the title "Monsieur Verdoux" for comedy. Mlle. Sagan's version, I'm told, is the full horror special.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

A Paris friend cables there's a strong belief that Esther Williams and Fernando Lamas were secretly married in Spain a few days ago, because he now introduces her everywhere as his wife. Nobody has had a confirmation of this, but the rumor is strong.

Well, who do you think moved into the Bel Air Hotel over the weekend for an indefinite stay? Judy Garland and Sid Luft, no less.

James Garner and Phil Harris will sing a duet in MGM's "The Wheeler Dealers."

Dana (Wynter) and Greg Bautzer are hosting a dinner-dance March 7 to honor Edgar Bronfman, president of Seagram's, at the Crystal Room in the Beverly Hills Hotel.

Judy Canova is delighted with the French boudoir antique piano she purchased. The piano was a winner of the Grand prix of the Paris exposition in early 1800, and has been owned by many celebrated people, including the late Helen Morgan.

When I learned that Lino Di Laurentiis plans to put $90 million in his film of "The Bible" which Christopher Frye is writing for the screen, I thought the ciphers on an IBM machine had run crazy. Ninety million!?? I'm spechless.

But according to Di Laurentiis, "This breaks down into four separate motion pictures, told in sequence. So far," says the Italian producer, "film makers have only nibbled at the Bible. Parts of it have been the basis of plots, and frequently much license was taken.

"My plan is to film the Bible exactly as it is written. I am a very religious man, and if I find I am not making a film as honest and true as the Book itself, I will abandon the whole thing." Certainly, as he outlines it, this is the most ambitious of all screen undertakings.

It's now up to Gregory Peck to win an Oscar for his role of Atticus in "To Kill a Mockingbird". On the set of "Captain Newman, M.D.", Greg's been telling about his sons. The eldest, Jonathan, has just won the half-mile race at Occidental College, and Stephen walked off with the wrestling honors in his class at Harvard Military Academy.

Now to top it all, his Thoroughbred Owen's Sedge won the steeple chase at Leopardstown in Ireland. Greg has been an Academy nominee many times but I don't think he's had the faith in any vehicle that he has in "Mockingbird."

Few, if any, producer-directors can match the record of Howard Hawks when it comes to bringing glamour and excitement to the screen in the form of new star discoveries. He made the first pictures with such stars as Carole Lombard, Lauren Bacall, Joan Collins, Rita Hayworth, Jo-Anne Dru and Angie Dickinson.

The latest to add to Howard's collection is pretty, red - haired Charlene Holt, a New York high fashion model, who plays Rock Hudson's fiancee in "Man's Favorite Sport?" Now Hawks has signed her to star in his next production "Morning Star" by MacKinlay Kantor, which is set for late this summer. Charlene comes from Abilene, Texas, accent and all.

Rhodesia Reports Bubonic Plague

SALISBURY, Southern Rhodesia (UPI)—Nine cases of the bubonic plague have been reported in the Chikawa District of Nyasaland, the federal government said Wednesday.

No deaths were reported.

The statement said a rat-killing campaign is underway in the area. Rats are the traditional carriers of the plague, an age-old scourage known as the "black death" which killed thousands of persons in Europe in the Middle Ages.

Recent floods in the area are believed to have driven the infected rats into native huts and houses.

RCA Earnings

Earnings of Radio Corp. of America in the last three months of 1962 climbed to a record 96 cents a share from 66 cents a share in the like period of 1961. For the full year operating profits soared 45 per cent to $2.84 a share. The chief factors contributing to the higher earnings were color TV and the computer business. Color TV sales contributed more to profits than any other product.

Living Costs

Living costs rose in January chiefly because of the cold wave that damaged farm crops throughout the South and pushed up food prices, the Labor Department reported Wednesday.

The bureau's cost-of-living index rose two-tenths of 1 per cent, wiping out a December decline. Food prices rose 1.2 per cent, more than offsetting a drop in the prices of used autos and clothing.

Tax Return

Mortimer M. Caplin, commissioner of Internal Revenue, said all tax returns will be processed on a push-button basis by 1965. He indicated the electronic equipment will be used in the Philadelphia and Atlanta tax headquarters this year.

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) —Turnabout is fair play, believe the members of Clowns Inc. of Corpus Christi.

Mrs. Jewel Barnes, charter member of the group, has been doing volunteer work at Spohn Hospital, decked out in costume and painted face, to entertain patients.

Now Mrs. Barnes is a patient in the hospital herself, having undergone foot surgery. Her fellow clowns, dressed in their most laugh-provoking outfits, turned up to cheer her.

Even The Director Got In The Act

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) They'd done many a scene together on the stage. This one was for keeps.

The couple getting married were actors from a local troupe. The Town Council member who performed the marriage happened also to be employed in his evening hours as their stage director. Said he after the ceremony, "This is one scene that won't be repeated."

No Wonder

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP) — When Bill Sain found his car overheating he drove into a service station to have water put into it.

"Where do you want me to put the water?" asked the attendant as he lifted the hood.

Mental Ills More Successfully Treated In Home Town Than In Big Hospitals

Last year Americans, through local, state and federal governments, spent two and a half billion dollars on mental health.

Most of this money was used to maintain a population nearly the size of Detroit's in mental hospitals. Yet most mental patients don't belong in such institutions.

According to modern psychiatric thought, they belong in their own community — at home — not miles away.

"Institutional care may have seemed the only solution at one time, but we know now that it can be more of a detriment than a help, explains Dr. Hamilton C. Ford, chairman of the American Medical Association's Council on Mental Health.

"There has been a revolution in the treatment of the mentally ill in the past decade and this in turn has revolutionized our way of looking at mental illness.

"In the language of this missile age, it's time to start phasing out many of our centralized mental hospitals, just as these hospitals phased out the ancient concept of insane asylums not so many years ago."

Just as emphatic is another member of the council, Dr. Robert H. Felix, director of the National Institute of Mental Health at Bethesda.

"Based on what we have learned," he declared, "the concept of a large mental hospital as the most desirable place for a sick mind seems rather ridiculous.

"There is no valid reason why mental illness cannot be treated like any other illness — in a doctor's office or a local hospital if necessary."

The first true mental hospital in this country was built before the Revolution at Williamsburg, Va. It wasn't for another hundred years, however, that states took over full responsibility for mental illness and centralized hospitals came into being.

Sheer size ultimately proved to be no answer, and in recent years the trend has been toward smaller, although still somewhat centralized, state hospitals.

The new accentuation goes still further, and aims at decentralization on a grand scale. The idea is to put mental health squarely up to the individual communities under high quality state standards.

Only in this way, mental health planners feel, can truly effective programs be worked out and the whole spectrum of problems, ranging from those of the anxiety-wrought housewife to those of the criminally insane, be fully met.

Several states have already passed legislation permitting, but not obliging, communities to work out such programs. In those places where it has been tried, results are extremely gratifying.

In fact, after a five-year study of the results, the Council on Mental Health last year urged nationwide application of the concept. Details of what would be necessary were further spelled out by delegates to the First National Congress on Mental Health, held last October in Chicago by the AMA.

Meanwhile in Washington, the government's role in such a program was being pursued by Dr. Felix and other officials of the National Institute of Mental Health. Their recommendations helped shape the basis of President Kennedy's proposals to Congress earlier this month for federal matching grants for community mental health centers.

A start toward working out the intricacies of such a vast undertaking will be made Friday when officials of state medical societies and mental health agencies meet with the AMA council in Chicago.

The crux of the problem is how to get medical care for mental illness essentially on the same footing as traditional medical care. This may sound simple and uninvolved, but is not, for it represents a radical departure from the past.

"Since medieval times the idea has been to segregate the mentally ill," explained Dr. Ford. "Perhaps this was often all that was possible when the average stay in an institution was 30 years. It is not true today when a period of weeks is often the rule.

At Worcester State Hospital in Massachusetts, the application of the new forms of treatment decreased the patient population nearly 40 per cent in five years and closed down ten wards.

But if the technique works so well in large institutions, why shift the base of mental health care to the community?

To Dr. Felix the answer is obvious. The patient does even better in his own community. "Each of us lives in a community, or more to the point, in a neighborhood," he explained. "When, for psychiatric reasons, we can't quite make it among our neighbors anymore, we've got to get help.

"Now, when a person needs help, that is not the time to wrench him from his family, his friends, all that is familiar to him, and deliver him to an institution. The first thing he has to do in an institution is get readjusted, and this can impose a severe jolt when he doesn't even see many normal people, except for the staff, and sometimes is too far from home to get visitors regularly.

"What the mental patient needs as much as drugs and techniques is a good therapeutic environment. Some of our better institutions literally spend millions creating a home-like atmosphere. But nothing can be more homelike than your own neighborhood and friends.

"Also, you have to consider that he got sick in his own neighborhood, when he gets out he has to go back there, so he ought to be treated there. Otherwise, he may come to the conclusion that the only thing to do is run away. Going to an institution is running away, in a sense.

"That's why I say it is ridiculous to think that institutionalization is the best way to make people well. It may work, but it's the long dark way to recovery."

The patient sometimes gets "lost" within the big hospital. "The involved mechanism needed to run a big institution often prevents an individual from getting the personalized care he needs so desperately," Dr. Felix said. "It might take months to get him into the proper line of treatment, and these are the early months so very important to his recovery.

"In contrast, the principal objective of the whole program is to make seeking help for mental illness as simple and uncomplicated as getting medical attention for a tummy ache."

Working at the community level, care can be quick and intensive. The waiting lines, the procedural complications that often bog down so many mental hospitals, are minimal.

To get help a person would have to look no further than his family physician. Many emotional and mental problems can be resolved right there. Those patients who do need special attention would be referred to a psychiatrist, just as the family doctor now will often call in a surgeon to remove a diseased gall bladder.

If hospitalization is required, then the patient would be admitted to his local hospital. After discharge, or perhaps as the only care necessary, the patient might be seen in a local clinic.

No matter what the course of treatment, the aim is to interrupt the patient's day-to-day life as little as possible. In some cases hospitalized patients might even continue to work, the only difference being that they would leave for the office from the hospital and return there at night.

There is almost unanimous agreement among psychiatrists that there is a tremendous advantage in working through the family doctor.

"No reason exists why any physician can't treat mental illness just as well as any other common ailment," Dr. Felix said. "And, when the same man who has treated a patient for other ailments in the past treats him for a mental disorder, the patient comes to realize there is nothing strange or bizarre about mental illness. There's not all the browbeating that some patients heap on themselves."

Also, no one is in a better position to spot early signs of emotional disturbances than the family doctor. He sees it often enough in his normal work — patients with symptoms but no apparent organic causes of disease.

Nearly every physician belongs to the staff of the local hospital and there he could see his mental as well as other patients—if the hospital has mental health facilities. These are generally lacking.

To provide the needed beds, the room for new therapy centers and the space for allied services, lawmakers have been asked to enact legislation to spur the building of mental health centers. Under this program, local state and federal money would be pooled to make possible expansion of existing hospitals or the construction of new ones.

On the surface this sounds like a pretty tall order, for today as many hospital beds are devoted to mental illness as to all other illnesses combined.

We're not, however, going to have to double the bed space in our general hospitals — not if modern psychiatric care can be put on a firm footing at the community level. In fact, the bed-space needs of psychiatry can probably be reduced, for with good care many mental illnesses can be treated better out of the hospital than in.

Studies at many institutions have demonstrated this. A group of psychotics treated as outpatients at Manhattan Hospital were away from their jobs only six weeks. A similar group who were institutionalized spent six months in the hospital and had to recuperate at home after they were released.

Another reason why we won't need to double bed space in local hospitals is that nobody is considering scrapping the entire network of state hospitals.

For one thing, some people have been in mental institutions so long they cannot be brought out.

For another, the centralized institution will still have an important role to play. Instead of trying to be all things to all types of mental patients, they would become specialized treatment centers, just as we now have special hospitals for eye and ear ailments, children's diseases, etc. In other words, people would not be put there so they can be controlled. They'll be put there because they need the special kind of treatment that can be offered — group therapy or long term rehabilitation, for instance.

Hospital beds and centers are not all that's going to be needed. To make a go of community mental health care we're also going to need agencies and facilities to handle special problems such as children, the senile and alcoholics. We're going to need rehabilitation facilities, foster homes, emergency services for such things as suicide preventon, visiting services for people at home and homemaker help for women who need it.

Nevertheless, says Dr. Felix, all of this can be phased in with ultimate savings of many millions annually.

"With the kind of energized treatment that would become possible, we're not going to have the chronic problem of where to store people who won't respond because we didn't get to them fast enough.

"I can't think of one category of patients that does better in a centralized institution," says Dr. Felix.

What about the dangerously ill —those who might harm others or themselves?

There are few of these, replies Dr. Felix, about one out of every two or three hundred mental patients. This problem is not so prevalent that it cannot be handled in general hospitals.

"The problem has been," he said, "that whole mental hospitals have been geared to the dangerous patient. This has resulted in the downgrading of all other patients. If you make it clear to a patient, 'I don't trust you, I am afraid of you', the patient soon gets the message and behaves accordingly.

"We've had centralized hospitals in various forms for nearly 200 years," said Dr. Felix. "Yet at no time during this period has America had adequate mental health facilities on a national scale. We can only conclude that mental illness must be whipped at the grass roots."

opment laboratory. George Washington University, which operated the plant for OSRD, promoted Mr. Pueschel to chief of guards, a position he continued to hold after Hercules took over operations for the Navy in December, 1945.

Hercules, in 1953, made Mr. Pueschel superintendent of the service Department, which also encompassed the plant's safety program. While heading the service department, Mr. Pueschel organized a method of screening prospective employes, a method still in use today.

Later, as ABL grew and employment increased, he was assigned, in February, 1959, to investigation duties.

He is married to the former Mabel Stevens, a native of Cumberland, and the couple have three children, Mrs. Helen Humberson, Mrs. Evelyn Williams, and Ernest Pueschel, who has been employed as an electronics engineer for the Orlando, (Fla.) Martin plant for the past nine years.

Mathias Blasts Government In Agriculture

ELLICOTT CITY, Md. (AP) — Excessive government intervention in agriculture was attacked Wednesday by Rep. Charles McC. Mathias Jr., R-Md., as dangerous to farmers and consumers alike.

Efficient agricultural production is of benefit to both groups and constitutes a common goal which unites them, he said in a speech at a luncheon meeting of the Maryland Council of Farmer Cooperatives.

"There is no conflict in this country between the interests of farmers and the interests of consumers—the conflict is between excessive government intervention in agriculture and the long run interests of consumers.

"Consumers have an interest in maintaining the kind of an efficient, freewheeling, vigorous and productive agriculture that has emerged in the United States and which Maryland agriculture so well exemplifies."

He declared that of all industries, agriculture has been demonstrated to be the one which does the worst when political management is substituted for the incentives of a free economy.

"To my mind," he continued, "the idea that government must get involved commodity by commodity in planning production—in controlling production, marketing and pricing of farm products—is antiquated, inefficient and a dangerous approach to the future of farmers and to the interests of consumers as well."

Delegates Wish Perry Wilkinson Fast Recovery

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The House of Delegates adopted a resolution Wednesday wishing speedy recovery to Perry O. Wilkinson, former speaker, who is in George Washington University Hospital.

Wilkinson was reported to have suffered a slight cerebral hemorrhage last week.

Wilkinson, who will be 58 years old next month, was a Democratic delegate from Prince Georges County for 20 years and speaker the past four.

Scout Council Review Tonight

The annual review of Potomac Council Boy Scouts will be held this evening at Barton's Restaurant on McMullen Highway.

The council will be reviewed by Ralph McCreary, vice chairman of the Region Three Executive Committee, and William Condon, deputy regional executive for Region Three, Philadelphia.

The "dutch treat" dinner will begin at 6:45 p. m.

On D&E Honor Roll

James M. Hager, son of Mrs. Mary K. Wilkins, 807 Tanpley Avenue, has qualified for the honor roll at Davis and Elkins College. He is one of 76 full-time students who earned a semester average of 3 to 3.69. He is a graduate of Allegany High School.

Amcelle Credit Union Assets Total $797,835

The Amcelle Employees Federal Credit Union, serving over 2,000 members of the Celanese Corporation of America, reported 3,524 loans totaling $1,877,073.78 have been made to members since its organization, according to S. J. Domenick, managing director of the Maryland Credit Union League.

Assets on December 31, 1962, amounted to $797,835.86. Current loans total 1,181 and are valued at $642,900.

The Amcelle federal credit union ranks 24th in size of the 214 credit unions in Maryland.

Methodist Men Schedule Supper

The Methodist Men of Emmanuel Methodist Church will hold their annual oyster and ham supper Friday beginning at 4:30 p.m., according to Rev. Harold R. McClay Sr., pastor.

It will be served in the church social room. The public is invited.

Meets Tomorrow

The Promotional committee of the Upper Potomac Industrial Development Company will hold a luncheon meeting tomorrow at noon in the conference room of the Chamber of Commerce offices.

The committee headed by C. M. Sanner will make plans for publicizing industries of the area.

Bill Fixing

R-Somerset, who described it as a bill to rob the poor people.

Sen. John-Clarence North, D-Talbot, chairman of the banking committee, defended the charges as being needed to protect the consumer from paying more if they are not regulated.

He said the charges were in line with existing state ceilings on interest allowed for installment buying of automobiles. They are 9 per cent for new cars, 12 for used up to two years old, and 15 for older.

The ceilings on revolving credit accounts would have been equivalent to 18 per cent up to balances of $1,000 and 12 for higher.

On regular installment sales, they would have been 12 per cent up to $1,000 and 10 per cent for higher.

GOP Bill Set

The Republicans will try Monday night to substitute an entire new way for the Democratic administration's of creating an eighth congressional district.

The administration decided, as Sen. Frederick C. Malkus, D-Dorchester put it, "in its wisdom or otherwise," to designate Carroll, Howard, Anne Arundel and Calvert the new district.

Sen. Edward T. Hall, D-Calvert, will offer a lineup that would reduce the number of congressmen in Baltimore City from three to two, give Montgomery and Prince Georges counties one each and shift Carroll to the Western Maryland district.

He conceded it would receive little if any support beyond the seven GOP senators, but would serve to point up what they consider inequities in the Democratic plan.

The Democratic leadership refused to put off action on the equal accommodations bill until next Thursday as sought by Sen. Sanford.

Woodland Plan Is Introduced In Legislature

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—A bill was introduced Wednesday to establish a program of forest conservation and management within the State Department of Forests and Parks.

The measure, sponsored by Sens. James Clark Jr., D-Howard, and Robert P. Dean, D-Queen Annes, would permit participation in the program of persons who own at least five acres in a contiguous tract of land.

Taxes on the land would remain static during the period of the contract.

The sponsors said the program was designed to encourage development of land for productive woodland purposes, to increase incomes from the sale of timber, prevent floods and wasting of soil, and provide open spaces for recreational purposes.

The governor was requested Wednesday to appoint a commission to determine the most feasible future use of Victor F. Cullen State Hospital in Frederick County.

Sens. George E. Snyder, D-Washington, and John A. Derr, R-Frederick, noted that rapid advances in the care and treatment of tuberculosis "have caused a steady decline in the number of patients at the state tuberculosis hospitals."

The resolution said time is approaching when the 129-bed Victor F. Cullen State Hospital will be usable for some other purpose.

The governor was asked to appoint an 11-member commission to study the problem and report to the General Assembly next year.

South Korea Still A Problem

Remember Korea? Not much is heard about it any more, but Korea remains a heavy expense to Americans, and keeps American soldiers tied down far from home.

The Communists maintain their stranglehold on North Korea—as on East Germany, East Berlin and North Viet Nam—waiting patiently for a break that will give them the rest of it. Korea is still there.

South Korea is free, and not under foreign domination, but it is hardly a showcase of freedom and economic progress. The regime that replaced Syngman Rhee proved corrupt and ineffective, and the military junta which overthrew it has been slow—as juntas are apt to be—to give way to constitutional government.

Now the junta has decided to postpone popular elections which were to have been held in April. The reason, strangely, is that parties opposed to the slate put forward by the junta protested that, because of a long period of enforced inactivity, they needed more time to bring their case before the voters if the election was not to be a travesty. They also objected to the candidacy of Chung Hee Park, head of the junta.

So now elections have been postponed to May, when they are to be held under a constitution approved by the voters in December. Chung has apparently agreed not to run. A genuine election is in prospect.

These Days

Spread Of Savagery

Reading through a mass of manuscripts last week as one of the judges for sports editor Irving Marsh's annual selection of the "Best Sports Stories of the Year," I was struck by a single ugly theme that kept recurring. The theme was that of the growth of a shameless spirit of savagery in our sports contests.

It wasn't merely a matter of the prizefight game, though there were a number of stories bearing on the merciless clobbering that resulted in the death of the Cuban boxer, Benny Paret. The growth of a vicious, calculated spirit of savagery, often with intent to maim, evidently is being extended to baseball, the race track, and even to college football. For the first time in years certain of the stories submitted in Mr. Marsh's contest made for some disheartening and dismaying reading.

The evidence of collegiate football mayhem involving boys who are supposed to play for the fun of the game was probably the most frightening thing to contemplate. Some of the coaches complain about the growth of the "hard-nosed" spirit in football, but there are others, apparently, who deliberately encourage it. The result is the tackle deliberately intended not merely to bring the ball carrier down but to maim him and put him out of the game. Films of games have shown tacklers senselessly veering off course to land on ball carriers who are already lying flat on their backs out of bounds, sometimes with an elbow being planted in the relaxed carrier's face with force enough to shatter the cheekbone.

The growth of such wholly unnecessary tackling, though it is excused by coaches as the product of "over-excitement," has been too steady to be regarded as accidental. Obviously it is the result of "hard-nosed" doctrine which does not frown upon the use of such tactics as the "bull block," the trade name for using the new plastic helmet as a battering ram.

In professional baseball the spirit of savagery is evidently being cultivated by managers and even club owners who know that the way to pull down a front-running winner is to maim a couple of stars. The "duster derby" has, according to some umpires, become a common thing, with the managers of two feuding teams instructing pitchers to become "head-hunters" as a matter of deliberate policy. First baseman Ernie Banks of Chicago has openly accused the San Francisco Giants of attempting to put him out of baseball for good. Players speak of the "shooting gallery era" in baseball. The umpires, who know what is going on, slap $50 fines on recognized spot control pitchers who suddenly go wild and can't seem to put the ball any place but just in back of the batter's head. As Dizzy Dean, the old-time St. Louis Cardinal pitcher, explains it, "the best beaner is aimed like you lead a duck, only backward." The "duck" dives back, right into the pitch.

The managers excuse themselves for ordering the bean ball on grounds that they must retaliate in order to "portect" their own players. But the "retaliation" never seems to end. Feuds are created, and one of these days a batter is going to be killed in spite of his protective helmet.

Among the race track stories submitted in Mr. Marsh's contest there was the one about the Panamanian jockey, Carlos Manuel de Ycaza. A polite, orderly fellow when he is not on a horse, Ycaza has been suspended for a total of 403 racing days since his track debut in 1955. Ycaza has gone down in several pile-ups that might have killed him or someone else, and has had susensions for roughness that have cost him an estimated $150,000 in fees.

Roughness, of course, is a by-product of the will-to-win, which is not a deplorable thing in itself. But when a spirit of calculated ferocity that is careless of life and limb spreads from sport to sport, it may be evidence that something evil is happening to a whole civilization. The progressive brutalization of the sports world may be a reflex of a wider callousness, and hence not something than can be cured by delivering lectures to a few football coaches and baseball managers. But the sports stories make it plain that something nasty is going on, and it is time for a spirit of revulsion to take hold.

Streamlined Seaboard Commuter Service Plan Could Save Railroads

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—A plan to revolutionize the railroads of the Atlantic seaboard into the fastest commuter service in the world is being considered so seriously that the White House called Richardson Dilworth, ex-Mayor of Philadelphia, to Washington to ask him to undertake a careful study of the project.

The idea, which originated with freshman Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., is to cut the time of rail service between Boston and Washington to four hours instead of nine, with equally fast service within what he calls "megalopolis." This is the long thin line of cities extending down the Atlantic seaboard including Boston, Providence, New Haven, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington.

"When you get up in a small plane and look down, you can see that one city runs right into the next," explains Pell. "It's an area which contains 21 per cent of the nation's retail establishments, 30 per cent of our manufacturing, and collects 27 per cent of our taxes.

"And if something isn't done to save the railroads' passenger traffic, the service will be gone, and it will be too late to revive it."

New Japanese Express

Pell, a stem-winder from the tiniest state in the union, Rhode Island, points to the example set by the Japanese in their new rail line between Tokyo and Osaka. Trains connecting these two cities will travel the 309 miles in three hours, making nine stops. The Japanese will use heavy rails, welded together, with light equipment.

"The density of Japanese population is so heavy that it was necessary for them to build a complete new rail line, in addition to old lines," says the Senator. "We can use the existing tracks of the Pennsylvania and New Haven. One rail line can carry as many passengers as 32 highway lanes.

"What the American people don't realize," he says, "is that if we keep on building highways at the present rate, the country will be nothing but a ribbon of highways. We haven't got the space. Los Angeles today has 50 per cent of its land taken up with highways and parks, and, even so, its throughways are crowded.

"Furthermore, in twenty years air traffic density will be so dangerous over New York, Philadelphia, and Washington that commuter air traffic between these short-hop cities will be banned.

"However, if we don't act now to save the passenger services of the railroads, they will become athrophied from non-use. We have to move now."

President Kennedy agrees, has put $1,000,000 in the budget for rail study and asked Dilworth, who put new life into Philadelphia commuter traffic, to head up the study group. Dilworth, in debt from an expensive campaign for governor of Pennsylvania, was hesitant.

Headlines And Footnotes

Without fanfare, President Kennedy has appointed a key man in each government department to be responsible for preventing discrimination against Negroes . . . . The scramble over the defense dollar is dramatized in a graphic new novel, "The Missile Lords," which is causing some sweating inside the Pentagon. Author Jefferson Sutton lays bare how the big contractors court the military brass to get multi-million-dollar contracts . . . . Inspector John L. Sullivan, a quiet but tough police officer, has all but stopped mail-order gun deliveries to hoods and delinquents in Washington, D. C. He simply notified the Railway Express authorities that he would hold them responsible for any mail-order weapon they delivered to a minor or adult with a record. (Other cities take note) . . . . Utah Sen. Wallace Bennett would like to set this column straight on the report that he burst in unannounced on Maryland Sen. Dan Brewster and started measuring Brewster's suite for his own use. Explains Bennett: "It is quite true that my visit to Senator Brewster's office was unannounced. I was being shown the office previously occupied by Senator Butler (of Maryland), and Brewster knew that he was simply sitting there temporarily waiting for his own office assignment. Moreover, I was assigned to the Butler suite on December 27, 1962, before Senator Brewster entered the Senate." . . . . Federal attorneys are alarmed over the number of malpractice suits against government hospitals. The claims now pending total over $33,000,000.

Refugee-Go-Round

For the first time in the movement of a large refugee group into the USA, the Immigration Service hasn't received a single complaint about any of the 6,000 Chinese recently admitted from Hong Kong. When Hungarian refugees arrived there were hundreds of squawks. . . .Part of the credit belongs to Chinese Refugee Relief, which has smoothed out problems before they could develop into incidents . . . . Much credit should also go to local Chinatowns and Chinese communities, which produce some of America's best citizens. They have practically no juvenile delinquency, take care of their own poor . . . . As a result, Chinese Refugee Relief has asked U. S. authorities to admit more Hong Kong refugees. They have been rejected by most other countries . . . Immigration authorities, impressed with the good record of the incoming Chinese, have recommended increasing the emergency quota . . . . Americans can help the Chinese, who escaped from Red China in search of food and freedom, by contributing to Chinese Refugee Relief, care of the Postmaster, Washington, D. C.

Powell Again Raises Race Issue As A Defense

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Critics who point out a lack of responsibility on the part of some of the Negro leaders in America are often called "racists." Public-school teachers in Washington hesitate to discipline Negro students for fear of being called "racists." The latest to decry criticism and attribute it to racial prejudice is Representative Adam Clayton Powell Jr., Democrat Chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee, who has been elected to Congress ten times by the Negro population of the Harlem District of New York City.

When Senator John J. Williams of Delaware, Republican, recently made a speech in the Senate charging that Mr. Powell was being shown favored treatment by the Administration and was not being compelled to pay up back taxes, the New York Congressman replied with a denunciation of Mr. Williams as a man guilty of race prejudice. It happens that the Delaware Senator has voted in support of most all of the civil rights legislation introduced in Congress since he has been in the Senate.

Now comes the New York "Times" to take Mr. Powell to task for his statement. The record of the "Times" as a long-time champion of the integration movement is well known.

The "Times" isn't being published in New York City because of the strike, but it continues to publish on the Pacific Coast a 14-page edition, including an editorial page, every day. In the issue of last Saturday, the lead editorial was entitled, "Because HE is a Negro?" It reads as follows:

"After a soul-searching self-inquiry into why in the world he should be under criticism, Representative Adam Clayton Powell Jr. has come up with the complete answer: It is 'unequivocally' because he is a Negro.

"Nobody would be objecting to his long, outrageous record as a Congressional absentee; no one would have noticed his night-clubbing junkets to Europe; the presence of his wife on the congressional payroll at over $13,000, while resident in Puerto Rico, would have been ignored, as would Powell's own desertion of responsibility as a House committee chairman in the midst of important hearings. All these possible explanations for displeasure by his colleagues and other critics including ourselves have no validity, Mr. Powell states. His only mistake is that he is not white.

"It is not unexpected that Mr. Powell has chosen such a convenient and demagogic refuge. Appeal to race and the drumming up of charges of bigotry have long been his political stock in trade. The fact is that a Negro in high office usually — rightly or wrongly — receives favored treatment, and is nearly exempt from criticism, in the press and elsewhere, unless his faults are so obvious that silence becomes intolerable. There is a general and laudable desire to see a Negro succeed when he has attained a position of public trust. Criticism is avoided for the very reason that it might be mistaken for prejudice. Now Mr. Powell has again raised the racial issue in a desperate gesture of self-defense.

"He is not alone in being criticized for having a member of the family on the payroll — although it must be admitted that such employes usually have the good grace to stay on the mainland, at least.

"His philosophy of everybody-else-is-doing-it, why-shouldn't-I? is, we suppose, a commonplace reaction of the most commonplace of politicians. It is disappointing, however, to see Powell — a spiritual as well as a political leader — not setting a better example. The tradegy of th long Powell career in office is that he, unusually gifted with intelligence, talent and personality, has chosen to be 'equal' with the least conscientious in Congress rather than the most.

"So, to vindicate himself and not be accused of 'running out' under attack, Powell said he has changed his mind and will not retire but instead will seek another term.

"This is really bad news, for New York and for Congress."

There are other implications in the episode besides the political aspects. Here's a man who is chairman of one of the top-ranking committees in Congress — the House Committee on Education and Labor. Legislation in the field of labor is highly important these days, and so are the many bills designed to furnish federal aid to the states for the benefit of educational institutions of all kinds. But Mr. Powell is frequently absent. Under the seniority system, he has been elected chairman and cannot be displaced except by a vote of his colleagues. They, however, are afraid to remove him because they, too, might be branded as having racial prejudices — a charge that could be intensified in local political campaigns.

Public opinion alone can force a change. But leadership of such a movement would have to come from the highly respected Negro leaders in the country. They could not be charged with racial antagonisms. In fact, they would vindicate the judgment of those who, like this writer, have always contended that patriotism and dedication to the public interest are not confined in America to the members of any race or creed or religion.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

HEADACHE—It is now obvious to the most disingenuous members of the New Frontier that that feeling they enjoyed over Cuban crisis developments last October was a fever rather than the flush of success.

The Cuban problem, in fact, will be with the Kennedy administration for a long time, and could even be its Achilles' heel. To begin with, President Kennedy's strong stand against the basing of Russian offensive military hardware in Cuba had built-in seeds of a counter-plot. In these days of high stakes cold war maneuvering, it was too much to expect Russia or Cuba to meekly accept defeat in the eyes of the world.

Even granting that Kennedy's moves were correct and the best he could do under the situation, the realities of two-party domestic politics in the United States could not permit the Cuban matter to lie dormant for long. And the political stirrings going on cannot be suppressed as easily as was the crisis in the Caribbean last autumn.

Kennedy and the Democratic Party are now beginning to pay the price for their election victory of November 1962. And the chances are that they'll go on paying unless a permanent solution is found quickly—an unlikely development.

It has always been true in American politics that as the passage of time blurs details of a crucial development, the weight of public opinion swings to the critics who had no responsibility in formulating the steps taken. Constant repetition of criticism often produces a kind of substantiation of the charges in the public mind. And efforts to refute allegations often produces suspicions that the charges themselves must have substance, else why all the smoke?

This is precisely what the administration is experiencing concerning military developments in Cuba. And, unfortunately, the public evidences of domestic political division probably will encourage the Russians and Fidel Castro to maintain what they now have, if only for its irritating effect on the U. S. government.

Finally, the charges of "politics" inherent in the U. S. debate over the Cuban issue only hardens the GOP opposition to press their criticism, for it is incumbent on them to demonstrate that their primary interest is the welfare of the United States, not partisan political advantage.

City Without Papers

By John Crosby

NEW YORK

This is a city without newspapers and the distressing thing to a newspaperman who is at all honest with himself is that it runs quite well without them.

The department stores are suffering. Show business is moaning. Some plays have been postponed until next year, producers feeling that Broadway has enough hazards without taking on the newspaper strike, too. Johnny Mathis has sung to as few as 17 people. Lena Horne, a big draw normally, had no reservations two days before her Waldorf-Astoria opening, leading people to wonder whether anyone was going to show up at all. The florists are wailing that no one sends flowers since no one knows who's getting married or who is dying.

Do the people miss newspapers? Yes, but not as much as the newspapers wish they did or say they did. People do without newspapers in a strike as they do without sugar in wartime. That doesn't mean they don't buy a lot of sugar after the war or newspapers after the strike. But long wars change things and a prolonged strike may change attitudes and, it is to be devoutly hoped, induce a little thinking on the part of publishers and editors, if only because for two months they have had little else to do.

Television has taken a fiendish delight in putting just plain folks before the cameras who say that life is actually pleasanter without the incessant crises (many say phony crises) that the newspapers yammer away about. Television, of course, does its share of manufacturing phony crises too, but television just doesn't have the power to make the people nervous. I do think New Yorkers are calmer without the papers than with them. New York is having one of the gayest social seasons in anyone's memory at least partly because of the absence of strain.

What people miss in newspapers (publishers and editors hate to admit it) is not the headlines, but "Blondie," "Dear Abby," serious criticism, the want ads, and the women's pages. This does not mean that people are trivial; it means only that they are more interested in daily living than in crises, particularly phony ones. And if the comics and advice to the lovelorn column are not especially worthy of being missed, it's because the editors give them nothing else to miss. The great failure in the daily press is not covering crises, which they do too fully and too prominently (though not always too accurately or wisely) but in not covering great achievements and colossal failures in living, in architecture, in social habits, in eating, in attitudes. What news about ordinary living the papers give them, the people miss. The crises they don't miss. The editors miss those.

Of course, the newspapers are also the conscience of the community and television has made no effort to fill this gap. Mayor Wagner's creed has always been: do absolutely nothing unless action is unavoidable and then do as little as possible. Without the newspapers to probe and prod, City Hall has sunk into an apathy resembling rigor mortis. The few things that are done, such as restoring the pension rights of Hulan Jack, the ex-Borough President of Manhattan, shouldn't have been done and probably wouldn't have been done if the newspapers had been there to yell about it.

There has been some worry about the loss of opinion on great events. A Boston reporter walked around New York sampling popular opinion about Cuba. He said he found no opinions worthy of notice. He must come back and try again after the newspapers reappear and see whether popular opinion about our foreign policies gets any worthier. I doubt it. You can get an awful lot of idiot opinion on the sidewalks of New York with or without newspapers.

"I don't know who's in Splitsville is a ghost town. Why break up with a girl if there are no columnists to tell the world about it? Earl Wilson isn't a great writer but I miss 'Today's Bravo.' There's been a fascinating decline in theatrical suicides. Nobody wants to kill himself if it's not going to make the papers. What's going on in the eateries and the niteries? I don't know and I miss it."

Theoretically, it's Roscoe Drummond that you miss, but actually it's what's going on in the eateries and the niteries that is not only missed but is irreplaceable by television and by news magazines. Love and food and death — these things are not unimportant; they are only handled unimportantly by the newspapers and in the long silence of the newspaper strike, the editors and publishers might think about that. But I doubt that they will.

Post-Delivery Depression Can Be Dangerous

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Some women become emotionally disturbed following the birth of their first child. The adjustments needed in social and family relationships, along with the unaccustomed demands of infant care, are too much for her. Depression, anxiety, and fatigue are the usual manifestations.

But most women have enough emotional stability, motivation, and confidence to care for the newborn adequately. Sympathetic understanding and reassurance by husband and family also help.

Ultimately, the postpartum blues disappear and the young mother takes over her responsibilities as though nothing had happened. A few are not so fortunate and go on to develop a more serious psychiatric disturbance. This often escapes detection until it has became well established. The condition is suspected when the woman becames increasingly sleepless, irritable, restless, and depressed.

In time, she becomes more and more confused, suspicious of others, and overly concerned over trivial matters. Nothing she does is right and suggestions usually go unheeded. The last stage is a full-blown psychosis in which she becomes extremely depressed, riddled with fears and suspicions; delusions and hallucinations may ensue. Institutional care may be needed to bring her back to reality.

An inherent weakness is responsible, particularly in young women who have been sheltered throughout life and feel insecure and inadequate after the baby arrives. Others are too aggressive and outgoing to accept the responsibilities of motherhood and subconsciously resent the loss of their independence.

The poorly organized mother is another candidate for postpartum psychosis. She needs advice on the care of the baby, the number of hours she ought to work, and the necessity for outside activities. The husband ought to realize that he also is responsible for the child's care and should share this duty with his wife.

An ounce of prevention goes a long way. The cause of this type of mental illness is not known. But if allowed to grow worse, the mother is likely to be separated from the family for a long time while undergoing treatment.

ROUGH SPOTS

E. L. writes: Please tell me if anything can be done about brown, rough spots on face and body. I am 78.

REPLY

Nothing need be done unless the lesions become elevated or covered with crusts. They are easily removed when this occurs.

RARE IN WOMEN

Mrs. P. S. writes: Could a woman of 50 who never has smoked get Buerger's disease?

REPLY

CHEST PANG

L. P. writes: Is breast pang the same as angina pectoris?

REPLY

Both are forms of chest pain but many physicians prefer to limit the term, angina pectoris, to pain of heart origin.

TOMORROW: Breaking the sound barrier.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of diseases will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

The advertising manager of a billion-dollar corporation in New York was for years the honorary president of the Chamber of Commerce in the small upstate town in which he had been born. One year it was suggested that he be the Man of the Year at the Chamber's annual banquet. He immediately summoned his secretary and dictated three letters in rapid succession. The first was a flowery written invitation to accept the honor which has been bestowed upon him. The second was an answer by himself graciously accepting the invitation. The third was a note of thanks to himself for responding to the invitation so promptly.

As his secretary snapped shut her notebook, she sighed with relief and told him, "Phew! For a moment, there, I didn't think you were going to get him!"

According to John W. Maxson Jr., a personable young milkman recently found this message tucked into an empty bottle on a suburbanite's doorstep:

"Dear Mr. Happy Bovine Dairies: Please leave the following:

1. Four quarts Grade A milk.
2. One pint of cream.
3. Your final bill.
4. The premises.
5. My wife alone.

Sincerely...."

Frostburg Water Works Survey Will Be Made

FROSTBURG — The Frostburg City Council has contracted with the Pitometer Associates to make a survey of the water works of Frostburg to acertain if there are any leaks or breaks in any of the distribution lines. The contract price was set at $1,450.

According to the proposal as submitted by the Pitometer Company the work will include: a measurement of the total consumption throughout 24 hours and a check of the accuracy of the master meter and a check on the raw meter transmission lines; a division of the distribution system into districts and a measurement of the flow into and through out the 24 hours.

Further investigation in all districts where excessive waste is indicated, for the purpose of locating all underground leaks of the mains and service large enough to be measured on the Pitometer.

A check on all large industrial consumers for the purposes of detecting unauthorized use, leaking fire lines or otherwise and a test on all commercial and industrial meters larger than three inches in diameter in place, when feasable either direct or indirect measurements with the Pitometer.

At the completion of the survey a report of the work in detail will be submitted, accompanied by a map showing the boundaries of each district, the location of all gauging points, and charts showing the variation of flow in each district.

The city obligated itself to furnish and set corporation cocks at the points designated by the Pitometer engineers, supply competent labor for operating valves and repairing leaks, construct and furnish shelter boxes for the protection of the companies instruments and furnish transportation necessary for properly conducting the survey.

Keyser Tennis Club Elects Officers

KEYSER — W. E. Michael was elected president of the executive committee of the Keyser Tennis Club Inc. at a recent meeting when plans for the coming year were discussed.

Serving with him will be John T. Dorsey Jr., vice-president; Richard E. Jones, secretary; and J. Wesley Neville, treasurer.

Reports for the year 1962 indicated that the membership had increased over 1961 and indications are that there will be an added increase this year.

New equipment will be purchased for the courts including new nets and other items. Every effort will be made to complete a shelter for the picnic area this year and, the horseshoe-pitching area will be developed, the committee said.

The program is under the direction of Mrs. Rita Schoenadel and Miss Betty Jean Withrow, Bruce High instructors. The public is invited to attend. Tickets will be on sale at the door Friday night.

Barton Area UO Officers Are Elected

Investigating Personnel Named

BARTON — Ruth Shuhart was elected president of the United Organization for the Barton area during the February meeting.

Nominated for three-year directors were Vera Metz, Mae Smith, Ruth Shuhart, Elsie Clark, Verda Michael, Ruth Morgan, J. Irvin Martin and Joseph Kyle.

Two-year directors are Forrest Mowbray, Alma Clark, Kathleen Hendra, William Hendra, Marie Shaw, Howard Broadwater, Elsie Keyes and Jane Mowbray.

Ruth Gattens, Joseph A. Shuhart, Lola Green, Alma Durst, Mary MacDonald, Phyllis Dye, Laura Kyle and Gertrude Broadwater are one-year directors.

The investigating committees for the various areas are Mrs. Elsie Clark and Mrs. Mae Smith, Dogwood Flat; Mrs. Alma Durst and Mrs. Marie Shaw, Moscow and Laurel Run; Mrs. Kathleen Hendra, Flat Rock Bridge.

Mrs. Elsie Keyes and Mrs. Phyllis Dye, center of town; Mrs. Gertrude Broadwater, Walnut Street and State Road; and Mrs. Lola Green, Quality Hill.

A question and answer period was held to inform the people attending the purpose of the organization.

The next meeting of the Board of Directors will be held 7:30 p. m. March 15 in the Barton Legion Home.

Garrett Homemakers' Meetings Next Week

OAKLAND — "Recreation and Too Much Time of Youth" will be discussed next week by Miss Ethel Grove, home demonstration agent, who will speak at meetings of Garrett County Homemakers Clubs.

On Tuesday she will speak during a meeting of the Casselman Valley Club which will begin at 8 p.m. in the home of Mrs. D. W. Klotz.

Miss Grove will speak to the Grantsville Club members at 2 p.m. Wednesday in the home of Mrs. John Folk and on the following day at 1:30 p.m. she will speak to the New Germany Club members who will meet at Mrs. Bernard Merrill's home.

Public Auction Ordered By Court

KEYSER — The U.S. District Court of northern West Virginia, located in Grafton, has dissolved a restraining order and ordered the public auction of Tiger Tractor, Inc., and Spectronics, Inc., both of Keyser, on March 11.

On January 10, the court granted a postponement of the sale in order to allow the firms 60 days in which to file for bankruptcy.

Midland Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Raley, Frostburg, visited Mr. and Mrs. Richard Rennie, Koontz Avenue.

Mrs. Hope Broadwater, Petersburg, Va., visited Clyde Broadwater, Westernport, and Mr. and Mrs. Vernon R. Broadwater, Koontz Avenue.

Mrs. Mary Kroll is visiting her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Tichnell, New Creek Drive, Keyser, W. Va.

Postmaster Urges Filing Of Mail Delivery Forms

MOOREFIELD, W. Va.—Postmaster Glenn Evans is asking local residents to fill out necessary forms for house-to-house delivery of mail which is expected to begin April 1.

He said that more than half of the patrons must request house-to-house delivery before it will become effective.

The postmaster is urging residents to place house numbers as soon as possible. He noted that some numbers had been affixed to dwellings.

When the service begins, mail will be delivered daily to all homes. There will also be parcel post deliveries.

Keyser Cooties Have Election

Other officers are Robert L. Dawson, senior vice commander; Warren Davis, junior vice commander; Leo C. Shuck, quartermaster; Joseph S. Clark, chaplain; Walter J. Cross, judge advocate; William E. Siever, surgeon, and Junior Avers, three-year trustee.

Installation ceremonies will be held March 16 at Keyser VFW Post 3518 with Reese Anderson, Fairmont, past commander of the Fourth Supreme District, in charge.

A dinner will be served to members and guests. A dance sponsored by the VFW will follow.

Church Circle Plans Meeting March 21

FROSTBURG — The Emily Tees Circle of Welsh Memorial Baptist Church will meet at 7:30 p.m. March 21 in the social hall of the church with Althea Yenshaw as hostess.

During a recent meeting at the home of Sara Jane Davis, Ormond Street, Elizabeth Workman, circle leader, taught the book, "The Chains Are Strong."

Annie Laber gave the prayer. Others attending were Maude Chidester, Jane Harrison, Althea Yenshaw, Mary Beth Davis and Mary Emma Davis.

Woman Faces Jury Action In Murder

HAMLIN, W. Va. (UPI)—A Lincoln County mother of six children is awaiting grand jury action on charges of murder in connection with the fatal shooting of her husband.

Mrs. Dorothy Fay Adkins, 39, waived preliminary hearing and was freed under $2,500 bond.

Reunion Planned

FROSTBURG—The 1933 graduating glass of Beall High School will meet Friday in city hall at 7:30 p. m. to make plans for a class reunion this summer. Joseph E. James will preside. All members are urged to attend.

Fractures Hip

BARTON—Thomas I. Metz, local police officer, suffered a fractured hip in a fall at his home and is a patient in Memorial Hospital.

Home From Hospital

WESTERNPORT — Mrs. Ellis W. Burke, 211 Rock Street, who was a patient at Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, for three weeks, has returned home.

Day Of Prayer Set Tomorrow

BARTON—The World Day of Prayer will be held in the Barton Presbyterian Church Friday at 7:30 p. m.

The service this year has been prepared by the group of Christian women from Korea. In charge of devotions will be Mrs. Ellen Wilson, Mrs. Vera Metz, Mrs. Leona Houdersheldt, Mrs. Michael Kiddy, Mrs. Dorothy Kirk, Mrs. Elsie Keyes, and Mrs. Laura Kyle.

Songs will be sung by the Barton Methodist Church choir. A duet will be sung by Mrs. Norma Metz and Mrs. Mae Smith.

The Junior and Senior Choirs of the Presbyterian Church will offer several selections featuring Mrs. Wilma Miller and Miss Mary C. Miller.

Couple Honored With Shower

Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Sines, Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Wilt and daughters, Nancy and Edith, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Goff and children, Willard, Donna and Larry, Mr. and Mrs. Rene Lobbe and children, Debbie, Sharon, and Carolyn, Donald Sines, Mr. and Mrs. John Wilt, Mrs. Alvah Broadwater, and Mrs. Harry Bittinger all of Savage River.

Mr. and Mrs. Myrl Wilt, Deer Park; Clyde Beeman, Frostburg; Mr. and Mrs. Homer Beeman, Keyser; Dorothy Riggleman, Westernport; Miss Shirley Brodie, Midland; Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Beeman, Mrs. Glenn Clark, and Roger Beeman all of Lonaconing.

Mrs. Stanley Skidmore, Mr. and Mrs. Eldred Kroll, and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Beeman of Barton; Miss Carolyn Duckworth, Miss Joan Wilt, and Glenna Green.

Speaker Is Named

FROSTBURG — Rev. Paul V. Taylor, pastor emeritus of Zion United Church of Christ will be guest speaker at the World Day of Prayer Service on Friday at 7:30 p. m. in St. Paul's Lutheran Church, said Mrs. Glyn Geis, program chairman.

Investiture Held By Brownie Troop At Frostburg

FROSTBURG — Brownie Troop 82, sponsored by St. Michael's School, held an investiture service and those who were invested include:

Debbie Lynch, Lillian McKenzie, Susan Minnick, and Barbara Winner, fourth grade: Patricia Conway, Paula Jackson, Ellen Kenney, Mary Lou Kenney, Peggy Langan, Brenda Lynch, Catherine Morgan, Mary Ann Seib, and Rebecca Seiferth, third grade.

Gail Brady, Maureen Delaney, Janet Dishong, Mary, Paula and Terry Kenney, Alice Langan, Patty Monahan, Joan Morgan, Elizabeth Seibert, and Nancy Stakem, second grade.

Put Coffee In Main Dish When You Serve Veal

No matter how many wonderful recipes we collect, we're always looking for something just a little different to serve for Sunday night supper. Since veal is one of our favorite meats, and extremely versatile, we have innumerable ways of making it absolutely delectable.

For instance, this time we've made Venetian Veal, served over rice that has chopped water chestnuts added for texture and flavor interest. The veal has a surprise ingredient, too—a half cup of extra strength coffee. The coffee doesn't outshine the other ingredients—it simply enhances the meat and the other flavorful fixings.

When it comes to the coffee which accompanies the Venetian Veal—that's a different story! Then we want all the coffee flavor we can get. If the coffee is measured and brewed properly, it will always be hot, fragrant and delicious.

Venetian Veal

8 slices bacon
¾ cup chopped onion
3 garlic cloves, slashed
1½ lbs. veal, thinly sliced (as for veal scaloppine)
Salt, pepper, paprika
1 can (1⅞-oz.) chicken noodle soup mix
½ cup sauterne
1 cup canned Italian plum tomatoes
1 can (3 oz.) sliced broiled mushrooms
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
½ cup strong coffee
1 tablespoon cornstarch
2 tablespoons cold water

Fry bacon crisp. Drain. Reserve. Cook onion and garlic in drippings until lightly browned. Discard garlic. Remove onion and reserve. Brown veal in drippings. Remove. Sprinkle veal with salt, pepper and paprika to taste. Prepare soup mix as directed, but use only 2 cups water. Simmer 7 minutes. Add tomatoes, mushrooms with their broth, Worcestershire sauce, coffee and soup to drippings. Blend cornstarch and cold water. Add and stir until thickened. Return bacon, veal and onions to pan. Simmer 30 minutes. Stir in sauterne. Serve over Rice with Water Chestnuts. Makes 6 servings.

Patties Are Favorite Way To Serve Liver

The homemaker who is concerned with selecting the right foods so each member of the family receives his adequate supply of nutrients every day will serve liver often. Liver contains such an abundance of essential nutrients, it shouldn't be overlooked.

Liver is tasty when served plain, but a number of interesting dishes can be designed to suit the tastes of the whole family and vary the presentation.

Favorite Liver Patties are one suggestion. The liver is slightly browned, ground and mixed with seasoned mashed potatoes and an egg. The patties then cook until lightly browned.

Liver is by far the best natural source of Vitamin A, iron, riboflavin and niacin. Liver contributes a substantial amount of thiamine. Like other meats it contains the important complete proteins.

Any of the kinds of liver could be used in this recipe: beef, veal, lamb or pork. Liver, as well as other variety meats is usually cooked well-done. The possible exception is veal liver.

Favorite Liver Patties

1 pound sliced liver
1 tablespoon lard
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1tablespoon Worchestershire sauce
1 cup seasoned mashed potatoes
1 egg, slightly beaten
¼ cup lard or drippings

Cook liver in 1 tablespoon lard until lightly browned on both sides, about 5 minutes. Grind liver. Combine with salt, pepper, Worchestershire sauce, potatoes and eggs. Shape into 10 patties, using approximately ¼ cup for each. Cook patties in lard or drippings until lightly browned on both sides, 4 to 5 servings.

Bavarian Mint

1 envelope unflavored gelatine
½ cup sugar, divided
⅛ teaspoon salt
½ cup cold water
3 eggs, separated
¼ cup Green creme de menthe
¼ cup white creme de cacao
1 cup heavy cream, whipped

Mix together gelatine, ¼ cup of the sugar and salt in top of double boiler. Stir in water; add egg yolks, one at a time, stirring to blend well. Place over boiling water and cook, stirring constantly, until dissolved and mixture thickens slightly, about 5 minutes. Remove from water. Stir in Creme de Menthe and Creme de Cacao. Chill until mixture is the consistency of unbeaten egg white. Beat egg whites until stiff, but not dry. Gradually add remaining ¼ cup sugar and beat until very stiff. Fold into gelatine mixture. Turn into a 5 cup serving bowl. Chill until firm. If desired, garnish with additional whipped cream and chocolate curls.

YIELD: 8 servings.

Senate Cloakroom

by Sen. J. Glenn Beall

On Lincoln's birthday, the White House honored the Great Emancipator with a special reception. This surprising and sudden adoption of President Abraham Lincoln as its hero has invited a query (uttered, no doubt, with tongue in cheek): "Will the White House similarly honor President Theodore Roosevelt, who knew how to implement the Monroe Doctrine, President Calvin Coolidge, who knew the value of a dollar, and President Dwight Eisenhower, who for eight trying years preserved peace and security with honor?"

Some of us who have supported the United Nations (as offering what seemed to us to be the best hope for peace) feel that we have been betrayed. We have just learned that UNESCO (United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization) has issued a report praising Communist Russia in general and its annexation of the Baltic countries in particular and denouncing what it calls "Western colonialism." It lauds Soviet Russia as the great friend and benefactor of one-time colonial areas. The report is printed in pamphlet form in English and French, and is distributed free by UNESCO to many organizations. It attacks the political and social systems prevailing in the capitalistic countries, and adds that "the successful establishment of full equality of rights between races and nationalities in the U.S.S.R. was one of the major social triumphs of our day." American taxpayers put up 31.5% of the money to support UNESCO, while Russia contributes 15%.

On top of that expose', we learn that our American taxpayers are scheduled to begin helping Communist Castro in Cuba through the U.N. The U.N. Food and Agriculture Organization announced that it would spend $1,150,000 to help Castro solve Cuba's agriculture problems. The program is to be financed by the U.N. Special Fund, to which the United States contributes a large part. Members of Congress demanded to know why we are paying to strengthen our avowed enemy. The White House answered that the U. S. Department of State had officially opposed the move to aid Castro, but the U.S.A. was outvoted in the U.N., just as the U.S.A. was outvoted on the publication and distribution of the UNESCO report praising Communism, and that no U.S.A. money would go for the Castro project. For the Administration to say that money earmarked to aid Castro is not United States money is a pitifully weak answer. We put up 40% of the cash for the Special Fund, and the money loses its identity when it goes in. The point is that without United States financial support for the U.N. Special Fund, the aid to Castro could not be given.

It's a sad commentary on the whole U.N. picture to note that our American taxpayers, who pay the major part of all U.N. costs, must pay for U.N. aid to our avowed enemy, Communist Castro, and must pay part of the cost of insidious attacks on Americanism by U.N. groups.

The true friends of the United Nations in this country will not condone anti-Americanism in the U.N. or make excuses for those who permit it.

A brand new U. S. Navy Intelligence report, based on close surveillance of Cuba from the air, the sea, and the Guantanamo Naval Base, contains these imporant statements:

"Retention of Soviet military units in Cuba after the withdrawal of medium range ballistic missiles would indicate that Moscow has not abandoned the concept of developing Cuba as a strategic Soviet military base . . . Soviet units are all in areas containing sensitive military installations of prime interest to the Soviets . . . Runways over 10,000 feet long and underground hangars and storage facilities are being built, suggesting the Soviets planned to base long-range aviation bombers and store nuclear weapons there."

The Organization of American States, reporting that Cuba is now a greater threat than ever, says, "This threat takes on an immediate aspect for the security of countries in the area of the Caribbean." It is apparent now that the reason for Russia's keeping 17,000 Russian troops in Cuba is to train invasion teams of guerrillas for use in Latin America. Venezuela is the beginning.

Communists are making a desperate effort to take over a second country in the Western Hemisphere, Venezuela. Climaxing weeks of sabotage, Communist-directed guerrillas strafed government officials' cars, dynamited a radio station, burned down a Sears, Roebuck warehouse, and hijacked a Venezuelan freighter on the high seas. Saboteurs also came within an ace of wrecking a major pipeline and refinery, owned by U. S. citizens. Had they succeeded, Caracas would have been without gasoline for an indefinite time. They were trying to weaken the position of the anti-communist President, Betancourt, on the eve of his visit to Washington, — and their ultimate aim is the establishment of a second Soviet base in Latin America. Those responsible for the sabotage, which is continuing, openly swear allegiance to Castro and Soviet Russia.

The U. S. Government Organization Manual, the official handbook of government agencies, displays the agencies of the Judicial branch of the Federal government in 7 pages. The agencies of the Legislative branch take up 24 pages. The Executive branch requires 565 pages to list its departments, bureaus, and agencies! At the back of the book is a 44-page appendix listing agencies which have been abolished during the last 30 years. Many of the agencies in the front of the book could be transferred to the appendix. The President himself, in a message to Congress, suggested frugality — saying he felt obliged to "limit severely" the spending proposals for programs other than those for defense and space.

However, on top of everything the Federal government is already doing, the White House is now proposing all kinds of new and expanded programs for education, medical care, housing, and in many other fields. Some are good; some, while suggesting worthy goals for communities, are not the sort of things which should be undertaken by the Federal government in Washington; and some are ridiculous. It is proposed that the Federal government pay or help pay the salaries of teachers in local grade schools, and even salaries for the millions of unemployed teen-agers, and that Federal projects be set up which would build and stock city libraries, carry on community social work in the cities, provide housing for middle-income families, and provide "Domestic Peace Corps" labor, which could and probably would be used to help subsidized farmers not raise crops. Some people are prone to say, "Sure, let Washington do it!" without giving even the slightest consideration to the cost to the taxpayers — the high cost when Washington does it. Consider just one item from an analysis of current White House proposals: In 10 years, Federal aid to local governments will have almost quadrupled, rising from $2,700,000,000 in 1954 to an estimated $10,400,000,000 in 1964.

That's the way our money goes. And such is the Washington definition of frugality.

On a door in a government building in Washington, D. C., is stenciled this: "4156 — General Services Administration — Region 3 — Public Buildings Service — Buildings Management Division — Utility Room — Custodial". It's a broom closet!

Broiled Soy Salmon Steaks

(6 servings)

6 salmon steaks
3 tablespoons soy sauce
1 teaspoon ground ginger
½ teaspoon garlic powder
2 teaspoons sugar
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
¼ cup fresh lemon juice
¼ cup water
California lemon quarters

Place salmon steaks in a shallow dish. Combine remaining ingredients, except lemon quarters; pour over salmon and marinate for several hours. Drain, reserving sauce for basting. Arrange salmon steaks on greased broiler rack, about 4 inches from heat. Broil 6 to 8 minutes on each side, brushing often with sauce. Serve with lemon quarters.

Meal-In-One Sausage Dish Fills Appetite

Wintertime lunches and suppers should be filling to satisfy sharpened appetites. A hearty meal-in-one casserole would be just the dish to serve.

This Sausage and Noodle Casserole is one you'll want to add to your recipe file. It tastefully combines the flavors of sausage links, peas, onions, tomatoes and noodles.

Easy - on - the budget sausage links can add their distinctive flavor to a host of different dishes. The appealing flavor of sausage, like all fresh pork, is developed by cooking it well done.

Sausage And Noodle Casserole

1½ pounds pork sausage links
2 tablespoons water
1 package (4 ounces) noodles, cooked
1 package (10 ounces) frozen peas, defrosted
½ cup very thinly sliced onion
1½ cups canned or cooked tomatoes
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper

Grease a 2-quart casserole. Place sausage links and water in cold frying pan. Cover tightly and cook slowly 5 minutes. Remove cover and brown links. Arrange half of the browned sausage links in the casserole. Combine noodles, peas, onion, tomatoes, salt and pepper. Spoon over sausage links. Arrange remaining sausage links on top. Cover tightly and bake in a moderate oven (350°F.) 1 hour. 6 to 8 servings.

Capitol Comment

by Rep. Charles Mathias

Your letters are expressing concern over the fiscal outlook for the nation and over the proposals which have been offered to the Congress to cut taxes and to continue Government spending at high levels. The editors of one of America's great newspapers have commented recently that they felt the tax legislation now before the Congress "badly bungled."

It is time to examine some of the aspects of the financial plans which have been laid before us by the Administration. And it is necessary to do this in depth in respect to various aspects of our unfolding financial situaiton.

Let us start by examining some of President Kennedy's fiscal year 1964 budget message. The President has submitted a budget for 1964 in which he anticipates that expenditures can be held below a hundred billion dollars and the deficit below 12 billion dollars. Despite the unprecedented size of these figures there is serious doubt in Washington and in financial circles throughout the Country that either is a reasistic estimate.

There are uncertainties as to the validity of the expenditure estimates made by the President and his economic advisors. Specifically, there are questions as to whether certain well advertised cuts in Government spending will actually take place. Apriculture is one example. The 1964 budget assumes that expenditures for our Agricultural Program can be cut a billion dollars below the 1963 figures. A claim was made that one-half billion dollars could be cut last year but experience has proved it was a false hope since current expenditures will be one billion dollars higher than last year. Thus there seems to be no reason to think that this year's program will operate any more economically.

In the international field, the new budget assumes that the activities of the import-export bank will result in funds flowing to the U. S. Treasury. This, however contradicts the claims now being made with respect to efforts to increase exports and thus casts new doubt on the Administration's assumptions.

In the field of housing, it has been advertised that expenditures for programs are expected to drop by a quarter of a billion dollars but actually economic experience does not indicate that there is any reason to anticipate savings in this area.

In the Veterans Administration expenditures on veterans programs are estimated to decrease, yet revised 1963 figures indicate that expenditures in the veterans area are on the rise rather than on the fall.

And so it is clear that the Administration's fiscal program is based on a series of estimates which are subject to various changes, fluctuations, and doubts. The result is likely to be a deficit larger than the President's prediction. Prudent economists estimate that the deficit in 1963 will go beyond the President's guess of some 11 billion dollars to a figure closer to 15 billion of dollars, the largest peacetime deficit in history. And it is more than likely that the 1964 budget deficit will push the total public debt to at least 325 billion dollars.

With such inconclusive cost and revenue estimates pervading any appraisal of the Administration's fiscal 1964 budget, it is obvious that the Congress will have to accord a most careful examination to this program in the months ahead.

Chocolate-Oat Sugar Balls

1 6-ounce package (1 cup) semi-sweet chocolate morsels
½ cup shortening
½ cup firmly packed brown sugar
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla
1¼ cups sifted all-purpose flour
½ teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup rolled oats
Sugar

Melt semi-sweet chocolate morsels and shortening over hot (not boiling) water; blend. Remove from water; stir in sugar, egg and vanilla. Sift in flour, soda and salt. Add oats and mix well. Shape mixture into 1-inch balls. Place on greased cookie sheet and bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 6 to 8 minutes. Roll in sugar while warm.

Yield: 7 dozen.

Pot-Roast Is Chosen For Economy

After the holidays, economy is often the keynote of menu plans. When you think of budget meats that are hearty and well-received by the family, too, beef pot-roast comes to mind.

Here is a savory pot-roast idea that's certain to win with keen appetites. The beef cooks slowly in bouillon and bay leaf, then is served with tasty potato cakes.

Pot-Roast With Potato Cakes

3 to 4-pound beef arm or blade pot-roast
3 tablespoons flour
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
3 tablespoons lard or drippings
2 medium onions, quartered
1 bay leaf
1 bouillon cube
½ cup water
Flour for gravy

Combine flour, salt and pepper. Dredge meat in seasoned flour. Brown meat in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Add onions, bay leaf, bouillon cube and water. Cover tightly and cook slowly 3 to 3½ hours or until meat is tender. Remove meat to hot platter. Discard bay leaf. Thicken with flour for gravy. Serve with Potato Cakes. 8 servings.

Potato Cakes

3 cups seasoned mashed potatoes
2 eggs, well beaten
2 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup finely chopped onion
½ cup lard

Combine potatoes, eggs, flour, baking powder, salt and onion. Mix well. Spoon into hot lard and brown on both sides. 8 potato cakes.

Franks-Kraut: Famous Mates In New Version

Frankfurters and sauerkraut have long been famous food mates. There is actually a week proclaimed as National Kraut and Frankfurter Week to celebrate the alliance.

Although the duo is old, you can create new variations. Six franks, a can of sauerkraut and a pound of ground beef play the lead roles.

Beef and Franks Moderne

1 pound ground beef
6 frankfurters
¼ cup finely chopped onion
2 tablespoons lard or drippings
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon chili powder
1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce
¼ cup water
1 can (16 ounces) sauerkraut

Brown ground beef and onion in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Add salt, chili powder, tomato sauce and water. Cover tightly and cook slowly 15 minutes. Place sauerkraut in bottom of a 1½-quart casserole. Arrange frankfurters over sauerkraut. Cover tightly and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 20 minutes. Remove from oven and top with beef-tomato sauce. 4 to 6 servings.

Party Potato Soup

(Makes about 6 to 8 servings

4 medium-size potatoes
2 cups water
2 teaspoons salt
2 tablespoons instant minced onion or, ½ cup finely chopped raw onion
2 slices bacon
2½ cups rich milk
⅓ cup blue cheese, grated or sieved
½ cup chablis, sauterne or other white dinner wine

Pare potatoes; cut in small pieces and cook in water with ½ teaspoon salt and onion until tender. Drain, saving cooking liquid. Mash potato or press through sieve. Cut bacon in small pieces; fry until golden brown. Combine bacon and drippings with mashed potato and cooking liquid, milk and cheese. Heat slowly until piping hot. Add wine and heat a few minutes longer. Serve with a little crumbled blue cheese on top of each serving.

Breaded Pork Steaks

It's nice to prepare fancy dishes once in a while, but for many weekday meals, you generally rely on the simple dishes.

Breaded Pork Steaks are a fine choice for a family meal. An extra minute or so gives them a crumb coating, tastily flavored with sage. It's still a simple meat dish, but the economical steaks have been given an appeal that rates you as a good cook.

Preparing these pork steaks illustrates an important meat cookery rule: use a low temperature. In braising any pork cut, the meat is first browned and the drippings poured off. Then a little liquid is added, the pan covered, and the temperature turned very low so the meat will cook slowly.

Breaded Pork Steaks

4 pork shoulder steaks, cut ½ inch thick
1 egg
2 tablespoons milk
1 cup fine dry bread crumbs
½ teaspoon sage
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
¼ cup lard or drippings
¼ cup water

Beat egg slightly and add milk. Mix sage, salt and pepper with crumbs. Dip steaks in crumbs, then in egg mixture, then in crumbs again. Brown in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Add water, cover tightly and cook slowly 45 minutes to 1 hour or until done. 4 servings.

Baked Prune-Apple Whip

1 cup plumped finely chopped prunes
1 cup canned apple sauce
2 teaspoons grated lemon rind
1 tablespoon lemon juice
Dash salt
½ teaspoon mace
4 egg whites
¼ teaspoon cream of tarter
⅓ cup sugar

Combine prunes, apple sauce, lemon rind and juice, salt and mace. Beat egg whites until foamy; add cream of tarter and beat until stiff. Gradually add sugar, beating constantly until stiff. Fold in fruit mixture. Pour into 2 quart greased casserole. Bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees, 20 to 30 minutes, or until set. If desired, serve warm or cold, with custard sauce. Makes 6-8 servings.

Week's Food Economies

Wise spending of the food dollar never just happens on the spur of the moment. Have a guide to go by when you market. Family needs should be the basis of what you buy, says Virginia L. McLuckie, food economist, Baltimore Office, University of Maryland Department of Markets.

At the produce counter celery, iceberg lettuce and mushrooms are on the best buy list. Celery is coming from both California and Florida and is the green or Pascal variety. The larger outer stalks of celery generally are tender enough to use raw, cut up in salads as are the tender leaves. The outer stalks are particularly adapted to cooking and can be used as a vegetable or in combination with other foods for flavor and texture. The smaller insides are preferred for eating as is, at meals or for between-meal snacks. They take minimum preparation and are low in calories, but with high appetite appeal. Those who want to keep calories low may prefer a stuffing of well-seasoned cottage cheese in tender celery stalks.

In selecting celery look for fresh tender leaves, crisp stalks free from blemishes, that are thick, solid and brittle.

Most of the iceberg lettuce now on retail food counters is of good quality. It is a good idea to look lettuce over carefully to make sure you are selecting the best head for your needs. Some shoppers prefer the more open or loosely formed heads for crisp fluffy leaves to add to sandwiches, to tear for tossed salads or to use as lettuce cups.

Today cultivated mushrooms are produced in abundance and are widely used fresh and in processed form. Pennsylvania is the largest mushroom producing state in the nation. Mushrooms are in good supply and reasonable in cost.

At the meat counter feature sales of steaks are offering shoppers attractive buys. This is the low price period for smoked shoulder or pork. Other recommendations are turkeys and chickens. Butterfish is suggested as the whole fish buy at the seafood counter.

The Empire State Building is 102 stories high. It is 1,250 feet high, not including an antenna.

Varying Meat Loaves

You can vary the texture and flavor of meat loaves several different ways. Toasted or plain bread (white, whole wheat or rye), cracker crumbs, rolled oats, rice and other cereals are some ideas. Vegetables and fruits such as grated potatoes or carrots, peas and grated apple can be added, too. Remember to keep the amount of these foods relatively small so that you taste the good meat flavor.

Pot-Roast In Oven

You can cook pot-roasts and other braised meat dishes and stews in the oven as well as on top of the range. If you wish, first brown the meat on top of the range. Then place in an ovenproof baking dish and cover tightly. Cook in a slow oven (300° F.). The time will be approximately the same as that recommended for top-of-the-range cookery.

Meat For Reducing

For all you who have resolved to lose weight, remember that lean meat is important in a reducing diet. Meat leaves you with a feeling of satisfaction and prevents hunger pangs for a longer period than other foods. It provides necessary high quality protein, vitamins and minerals. About 30 meat cuts are low in fat and contain less than 250 calories per 3½ ounce serving.

Leftover Beef

Here are a few suggestions for leftover beef. Use cubed cooked beef in cream sauce over toast or biscuits, in curry sauce over rice, in casseroles with noodles or marcaroni. Serve leftover meat loaf cold or reheated with canned mushroom soup or tomato soup poured over the top. Cooked beef could also be used for cold plates, cold sandwiches, in gravy for hot sandwiches or heated in a barbecue sauce or brown gravy.

M & M Boys Signed For Biggest Two-Man Cash Package In History

Mantle To Get Hundred Grand, Maris $72,000

Mickey Receives Substantial Raise, Roger Stands Pat

By OSCAR FRALEY
UPI Sports Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. — (UPI) — The world champion New York Yankees signed their "M and M" sluggers Wednesday for the biggest two-man cash package in baseball history — Mickey Mantle for $100,000 and Roger Maris for $72,000.

Mantle, getting a $15,000 raise after winning the 1962 American League "Most Valuable Player" award, thus joined Willie Mays of the San Francisco Giants as the only active players in the "hundred grand" salary class.

Maris' pay was exactly the same as he signed for last year, even though he dropped from a record 61 homers in 1961 to just 33 in 1962.

The combined $172,000 salaries for the two hard-hitting outfielders represented the highest amount ever paid two players on the same team. Mantle was only the fifth player in baseball annals to reach the $100,000 level — joining Mays, Joe DiMaggio, Ted Williams, and Stan Musial. Musial, though still active, no longer rates that pay.

Ruth Is Leader

Babe Ruth, whom the Yankees once paid $80,000, still is reckoned the all-time leader in "take home pay" because of lower taxes in his day.

It was pointed out to the husky, 31-year-old Commerce, Okla., slugger that he reached the $100,000 level on his 13th Yankee contract.

"I'm not superstitious," he grinned back.

The Yankees, in announcing Mantle's salary, said "We look forward to several more fine seasons from him." But Mickey didn't exactly go along with that.

"I don't think there will be too many more," said Mantle, who has been plagued by physical ailments, chiefly to his legs, throughout his major league career. "I would like to play as long as Stan Musial Stan's starting his 22nd year this season), but I don't think I can.

Maybe Five More

"I hope I get at least five more good seasons," he added.

Mantle won his third MVP award last year with a .321 batting average and 30 homers, his eighth year as a .300 hitter and the eighth straight year he's hit over 30 homers. Because of those recurrent injuries, he played in only 123 games.

The signing of Maris, the Yankee highlight last year when he was the toast of the baseball world for his 61 homers, was overshadowed this time by Mantle.

But Mantle was the first to defend Maris when the question came up of whether Roger would have a better year in '63 than he had in '62.

"He had a good year I think," said Mantle. "Any time you drive in 100 runs, you've had a good season."

$100,000 YANKEES—Mickey Mantle (right), who yesterday signed a $100,000 contract with the New York Yankees, poses with Joe DiMaggio, the only other Yankee player to ever receive that amount. DiMaggio, now serving as a special coach for the Yankees, was paid $100,000 in 1949, 1950 and 1951. Another Yankee slugger—Roger Maris—signed for $72,000 yesterday. (AP Photofax)

Fiberglass Pole Captures Vault Fans' Imagination

Zany Suggestions To 'Improve' Sport Come From Public

By STEVE SNIDER
UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI)—No doubt about it—track crowds at Madison Square Garden are wild about those high-flying fiberglass pole vaulters.

Only the tourists are beefing.

"It's no longer a sport," said one. "It's show biz."

But sport or show business, pole vaulting has rocketed in public esteem. And the man on the street—whose habitat is some 16 feet below the altitude peopled by the vaulting mob—already is firing in suggestions for "improving" this intriguing event.

E. A. of Queens Village, N. Y., a former Manhattan College star, writes:

"This should be converted into a two-man team event. While one man hangs onto the pole for dear life, his teammate bends the pole as far as he can and, when a starting pistol is fired, he lets fly with both pole and man. This won't increase the overall expenses any because the pole bender can be a weight thrower who failed to reach the shot put final or even a friend of the family."

Writes R. C. of Chicago:

"Instead of a landing pit, why not install a trampoline on the far side of the crossbar? Any vaulter who clears the bar, then must hit the trampoline and bounce back over the bar from the opposite direction to make it an official vault."

Pole With Rungs

J. O. S. of Kansas City wires: "I have just developed a fiberglass pole with rungs like a fireman's ladder. Even novices are guaranteed a 20-foot vault after a 10-minute demonstration."

Others feel it's a shame that so many vaulters are going so high in the air and don't really do anything while they're up there.

"They should be judged on points like high dives," writes Mrs. Geraldine T. of East Horse Blanket, Wyo. "Any man who does 16-3 and on the way down executes a double twisting forward 1½ somersault pike should be declared the winner over a vaulter who just goes up and coms down."

There also is a growing concern over safety factors, particularly since one guy dropped out of the rafters during a meet last year and missed the pit entirely, landing on the running track where the boys were all out for the 600.

Parachutes and oxygen masks have been urged but we feel this is impractical.

Foam Rubber Platform

An obvious solution would be to replace the ground - level sawdust landing pit with a foam rubber platform raised 10 or 12 feet high so the vaulters would have only a short drop after clearing the bar. The platform, of course, would have raised sides so any flyer who blacks out in the rarified air wouldn't roll off.

For schools and colleges operating on a modest budget, a circus-type safety net might be more economical. Costs of the net could be reduced further if they were made by future homemakers as sewing class projects.

But as the vaulters soar higher and higher, the indoor meets soon will provide a knotty problem for the rules makers and record keepers. The lads already are scraping the ceiling in smaller buildings. Skylights may have to be constructed to let them go higher.

But once a guy goes through the skylight in an indoor meet, he briefly is outdoors and technically can't qualify for either an indoor or outdoor record.

Thus, we will need a third classification — indoor - outdoor. The rulesmakers who okayed the fiberglass pole shouldn't shudder at that.

PASSES FOR ART—Bernie Casey, professional football star for the San Francisco 49ers, returns to his palette at Bowling Green State University in Ohio. The six-foot, four-inch end, who weighs 212 pounds, says football is just insurance to obtain an art education.

Royals Score Easy Win Over Knicks

CINCINNATI (UPI) — The Cincinnati Royals jumped to a 10-2 lead in the first three minutes and went on to take an easy 119-107 win over the New York Knicks Wednesday night in a National Basketball Association game.

The Royals ran the margin to 66-50 at halftime before New York staged a brief comeback in the third quarter to pull within six points at 80-74. But Cincinnati outscored the Knicks 10-1 in the final three minutes of the period to go ahead 90-75 and sew up the game.

Oscar Robertson, with 30 points, and Tom Hawkins, with a season high of 24, led the Royals' scoring. Richie Guerin topped the Knicks with 21.

Bruce Gets Last Chance To Escape Winless Season

Bruce High School's Bulldogs will get their last chance to escape a winless basketball season when they windup their campaign with Northern High School of Garrett county tonight at 8 o'clock in Westernport.

Northern handed Bruce its 19th loss in a row on Tuesday night, 55-50, and the Bulldogs are hopeful they can win the return game on the home court against a team whose record is 6-11.

Spring Training Camp Highlights

By United Press International

SARASOTA, Fla. (UPI) — Floyd Robinson, top run producer for the Chicago White Sox last year, ended his brief holdout siege Wednesday and signed his contract at an estimated $25,000. It represented a raise of approximately $10,000.

With the capitulation of Robinson, the only unsigned White Sox player is Juan Pizarro, the star lefthanded pitcher who still is relaxing unconcernedly in his native Purto Rico.

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI) — Third baseman Gene Freese of the Cincinnati Reds is determined to prove that the right ankle which he broke last spring is as good as new.

And the way he's bouncing around the training camp here, he's almost made a believer out of Manager Fred Hutchinson already.

POMPANO BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — All but two men on the roster of 39 were on hand Wednesday for the Washington Senators' first full-scale workout. The absentees were first baseman Rogelio Alvarez and outfielder Nelson Gardner.

Alvarez, a Cuban, is being held up by red tape but was expected in camp momentarily. Gardner is on his way from his home in Sacramento, Calif.

VERO BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Sandy Koufax, the No. 1 question mark of the Los Angeles Dodgers, is beginning to erase some of the doubts.

Beall Wrestlers Host Hyndman

Beall High School's wrestling squad will be seeking its first win of the season tonight, meeting Hyndman at home beginning at 8 p.m.

Preceding the wrestling competition, there will be a basketball game at 6:30 between the faculty teams of Beall High and Frostburg State Teachers College.

The Beall garpplers, who are coached by Bob Chaney, have lost to Allegany and Bruce.

Flying Golfers

DENVER (AP)—Eddie Bohn Jr. and Mike Mielenz were told they would be delayed more than an hour in their quarter-final match in the municipal golf tournament.

So they hopped into Bohn's plane, flew to Cheyenne, Wyo., 100 miles north, and played their match on the Airport Golf Course. Bohn won 2 and 1.

State Senator Believes Racing Bill May Die

Secret Discussion Held By Committee

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The chairman of the Senate Finance Committee trotted out the administration's race track consolidation bill behind closed doors Wednesday and it was left standing flat footed.

"It's very confusing," said one senator afterward.

"I'm afraid the whole racing thing is going to die," said another.

Sen. H. Winship Wheatley Jr., D - Prince Georges, committee chairman, refused to permit newsmen or anyone else to sit in on the discussion. He swore members to secrecy, asking them not to "talk to those newspapermen."

It was the first time Wheatley sought to sound out committee sentiments ont he bill introduced 6½ weeks ago with strong support by Gov. Tawes.

No nose count was taken. Other senators argued that tracks being ignored by the governor should be given additional days.

It was decided that these proposals will be put in writing before another discussion is held, which may not be until next week.

The amendments would increase the number of nights at the Ocean Downs, Laurel and Rosecroft harness tracks from 24 to 32. Consideration also may be given to granting more to Marlboro and Hagerstown, which now have 12. The figure four was mentioned.

The Tawes bill would permit Laurel, Bowie, and Pimlico to buy 36 days from Bel Air and Baltimore Raceway to increase their days from 40 to 52 each and for Timonium to purchase Cumberland's 12, the same number it has.

The three mile tracks are to pay $2.3 million for the Bel Air and Baltimore days and Timonium $600,000 for Cumberland's.

Nats Decision Lakers, 122-111

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (UPI) — Quick scoring bursts at the start of each half enabled the Syracuse Nationals to defeat the Los Angeles Lakers 122 - 111 Wednesday night in a National Basketball Association game.

The Nats outscored the Lakers 6-0 in the first two minutes of the game and 6-1 in the same amount of time at the start of the second half.

Los Angeles, behind 105-94 with six minutes left, cut Syracuse's lead to 114-108. Al Bianchi and Hal Greer then hit for successive baskets to pull the Nats out of danger.

Elgin Baylor of Los Angeles who limped off the floor with two minutes left, was the game's high scorer with 42 points. Lee Shaffer had 27 in leading the Nats to their seventh straight home victory.

Indianapolis 500 Entry List Grows

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — Three rookies and two members of the champion 100 mile-an-hour club were assured of cars Wednesday in the 47th annual 500-mile Indianapolis speed classic May 30.

Entries of six additional starters boosted the official list to 33.

Bob Wente, St. Louis, Mo.; John Rutherford, Houston, Tex.; and Chuck Engle, Columbus, Ohio, were the three rookies. The veterans named were Johnny Boyd, Fresno, Calif., and Ebb Rose, Houston, Tex.

Boyd, who finished third in 1958, has driven in the last eight 500-mile events. Rose will be seeking a starting berth for the third straight year.

He will pilot one of two cars entered by Racing Associates Inc. The driver of the other car has not as yet been selected.

Girls' Play Day Scheduled For Allegany Gym

Junior high school girls from five Allegany County schools will participate in a Play Day program today at the Allegany High School gymnasium.

Activities will include a basketball tournament, baskets-per-minute contests, foul shooting contests and table tennis tournament.

Girls from the eighth and ninth grades of Allegany, Fort Hill, Beall, Oldtown and Flintstone will take part in the program, which is schceduled to run from 10:45 a. m. to 2:15 p. m.

All Cardinals Signed For '63

Minoso, Sawatski Agree To Terms

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — The St. Louis Cardinals announced on Wednesday night the signing of outfielder Minnie Minoso, former Chicago White Sox player, and catcher Carl Sawatski who had demanded the same wages of last season.

The two signings brought all Red Bird players into the fold for the 1963 season.

General Manager Bing Devine said Sawatski will leave immediately from his Little Rock, Ark., home for spring training at St. Petersburg, Fla., where other Cardinal players are in camp.

Minoso, who was out most of last season because of injuries, will leave his St. Louis home on Friday for Florida.

Devine declined to give out any figures, or indicate if Sawatski had to take a cut in pay.

Minoso was seriously hurt in his first season with the Cards before mid-May when he crashed against the fence chasing a ball hit by pinch-hitter Duke Snider.

Minoso ended the season with one home run, hit after he returned to the lineup. He had suffered a fractured skull and a fractured left wrist.

He ended his first season with the Cardinals hitting .196. Before he was hurt, Minoso was batting .186, but Manager Johny Keane kept him in the lineup.

With Minoso hurt, the Cardinals negotiated for a replacement but didn't get Chicago Cubs outfielder George Altman until the end of the season.

Fordham And St. Francis (N.Y.) Complete 12-Team Field For NIT

Latest Entrants Only Metropolitan Schools In Event

NEW YORK (UPI) — Fordham and little St. Francis College of New York accepted bids Wednesday to complete the 12-team field for the 1963 National Invitation basketball tournament, assuring the Madison Square Garden event of some "hometown" representation.

Although neither Fordham nor St. Francis have played any of their home games in the Garden for several seasons, they will be the only metropolitan entries in the tournament that starts March 14.

Both schools have respectable records. St. Francis, a comparatively small school that plays a major college basketball schedule, has won 15 games and lost 5. Two of its victims have been Fordham and Villanova, also entered in the NIT. Fordham's record is 15-7.

St. Francis previously competed in the NIT in 1954 and 1956, finishing fourth in its second venture. Since then, its colorful coach, Danny Lynch, has clamored for an NIT bid each year that his team has compiled a winning record, but was not invited until Wednesday.

Lynch's Terriers are a possession-minded, defense - stressing team. They rank third among major colleges in field goal shooting percentage with 50.8 and are fourth in team defenses with an average yield of only 55.9 points per game.

Fordham, coached by Johnny Bach, will be competing in its fourth NIT and first since 1959.

Although the highest ranking team in this year's field is Wichita (rated No. 9 nationally), the 12 schools in the tournament have an impressive combined won-lost record of 194-73.

Besides Wichita, Villanova and the latest two entries, the field will be made up of: Miami (Fla.) Providence, Canisius, Memphis State, Marquette, LaSalle, DePaul and St. Louis.

This is the 26th renewal of the NIT, which pre-dates the NCAA tournament by one year.

Although such New York schools as St. John's, Long Island University, NYU and CCNY once dominated this tournament, there was only one standout metropolitan team this year. That was 10th ranked NYU, which chose to compete in the NCAA tournament.

St. Patrick's first half champions and SS. Peter & Paul battle for first place in the Catholic Youth Basketball League tonight when they tangle in the final game of a tripleheader at 8:45 o'clock at SS. Peter & Paul gym.

It will be the third meeting of the crosstown rivals this season. St. Patrick's won the first game, 37-34, but lost the second contest, 36-23.

Both teams are undefeated in the second half race. St. Pat's is 5-0 and SS. Peter & Paul is 3-0. The winner of tonight's game will take sole possession of first place. The final game of this series is set for St. Patrick's Day.

In other games tonight St. Peter's, Westernport, plays St. Ambrose, Cresaptown, at 6:15 and St. Michael's, Frostburg, opposes St. Patrick's, Mt. Savage, at 7:30.

Moorefield Sectional Tournament Will Get Under Way Tonight

Mathias Plays Franklin High In First Game

Moorefield Faces Circleville; Other Games At Shepherd

Moorefield High School and Shepherd College at Shepherdstown are the sites for West Virginia Class A sectional basketball tournament openers tonight.

The two other sectionals in Region Four will get under way Friday night at Paw Paw High School and Potomac State College.

At Moorefield tonight in the Section 2 semi-finals, Mathias (6-14) plays Franklin (17-3) at 7 o'clock and Moorefield (2-18) opposes Circleville (10-10) at 8:30.

The consolation and championship games are set for Friday night. Officials will be LaMar Sager and Junior Halterman.

Franklin Record Best

Franklin has beaten the other three schools in this tournament each twice. The Panthers have whipped Mathias, 63-59 and 62-40, Moorefield 57-30 and 60-34 and Circleville 60-39 and 51-48 and the Panthers to lose would be a big surprise. The Indians of Circleville have trimmed Moorefield by scores of 66-43 and 64-61.

Franklin, coached by Ed Wimer, goes into the tourney with a six-game winning streak at the expense of Harman, Moorefield, Monterey, Va., Green Bank and Valley High of Hot Springs, Va.

Two of the five schools in the Section 4 tourney at Shepherdstown will see action tonight. Hedgesville will play Harpers Ferry at 7:30 and the winner opposes Shepherdstown Friday at 7:30. In the other Friday semi-final, Musselman meets Page Jackson of Charles Town. The championship game is billed for Saturday at 8 p. m.

Other Sectionals Friday

Tomorrow night in the Section 3 tourney at Paw Paw High School, Wardensville plays Paw Paw at 7:30 and the West Virginia School for the Deaf tangles with Capon Bridge at 9 o'clock.

In the Section 1 event which opens Friday at Potomac State College, Fort Ashby meets Ridgeley at 7 and Elk Garden tests Piedmont at 8:30.

Oldtown, Emmitsburg Open District Tourney

Class C Schools Clash Tonight At South Hagerstown

The first game of the Maryland District One basketball tournament will be staged at South Hagerstown High School tonight with Emmitsburg High School, of Frederick county, slated to face Oldtown High School of Allegany county in a Class C quarter-final at 7:30 o'clock.

Oldtown, coached by Edgar "Barney" Tucker, won the Allegany county Class C title by sweeping its series with Flintstone and has a 9-9 log for the season. Emmitsburg, coached by George Kuhn, has a poor record for the season and is playing well under the .500 mark.

Winner Meets Hancock

The District One winner will be required to play in an extra game that will be the qualifier for the state tournament at College Park next week. Saturday's victor will play District 3 winner Tuesday, March 5 at 7:30 p. m., at South Hagerstown High School.

Lost Four In Row

Oldtown will be competing in the district tournament for the fifth straight year and will be trying for its first victory. In 1958 the Indians lost to Walkersville, 76-31, dropped a 58-36 decision to Hancock the following year, bowed to Emmitsburg in 1961 by the score of 47-38 and lost to the Frderick countians last year, 63-48.

Here's the district tournament schedule for the remainder of the week:

FRIDAY, MARCH 1

6:00—Mt. Savage vs. Boonsboro (Class B semi-final)

7:30 — Southern, Oakland, vs. Walkrsville (Class B semi-final)

Keyser Edges Martinsburg

Golden Tornado Wins 17th, 67-63

Keyser High last night put the capper on regular season play by edging Martinsburg, 67-63, at Keyser. The triumph was the 17th in 21 games for the Golden Tornado.

The home team led all the way, but was never able to pull away from the tenacious Bulldogs, who were in contention all evening. The loss closed out Martinsburg's log at 11-9.

Terry Turbin pumped in 24 points for the Tornado cagers, while Charlie Nelson added 18 and Tom Condron came through with 15. Jim Burris and Jim Shields had 16 apiece for the Bulldogs.

Bobcats Down Shenandoah Five, 103-84

Frostburg Closes With 17-3 Record

The victory was the 17th in 20 contests for the Bobcats, who next Tuesday will play at Trenton, N. J., in a four-team playoff for the NAIA District 31 championship. FSTC will oppose Rider College of Trenton in one of the district semi-final contests.

For awhile last night, it looked as if coach Ron Van Ryswyk's crew would wind up the regular campaign on a losing note. They trailed throughout most of the first half and were down by seven (47-40) at intermission.

However, the Bobcats sprang back to life in the second half, hitting on nearly 60 per cent of their floor attempts to outscore the visiting Virginians 63-37.

George Connolly's jump shot tied the score at 53-all, then Hank Winner hit for five straight points to put Frostburg into a lead it never surrendered.

All five starters connected in double figures, with George Lauder and Connolly heading the assault. Lauder was 12-15 from the floor and finished with 28 points, while Connolly also collected a dozen field goals and had 2 tallies.

Three Repeat On Mason-Dixon All-Star Team

BALTIMORE (AP)—Mason-Dixon Conference basketball coaches leaned toward experience and scoring punch in selecting the 1962-63 league all-star team, which was announced Wednesday.

Seniors John O'Reilly of Mt. St. Mary's and Gene Horan of Catholic U. were selected for the third straight year.

Frank Kaminski, Randolph-Macon junior, made the team for the second season in a row. Bill Hardin of Hampden-Sydney and Dave Maloney of Mt. St. Mary's, both seniors, round out the first team.

Hardin (24.3), Horan (21.9), Kaminski (21.2) and Maloney (20.8) ran first, second, third and fourth in the conference scoring race. O'Reilly, a top player in the Mason-Dixon Conference the past three years, ended the season with a 16.6 scoring average.

The second team: Riley Whorton, Baltimore U.; Donald Wallenhorst, Loyola; Morris Creggger, Roanoke; William Characklis, Johns Hopkins, and William Leahy Catholic U.

Honorable mention: Norwood Davis, Hampden-Sydney; Edward Pfeiffer, Mt. St. Mary's; Raymond Dougan, Old Dominion; Patrick Flynn, Loyola, and Richie Klitzberg, Western Maryland.

Boxers Suspended For Poor Showings

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — Boxing Commissioner Julian Jackson ordered one-year suspensions against four boxers Wednesday and defended his earlier suspension of Jacksonville promoter Bill Besmanoff.

Jackson refuted Besmanoff's claim he was penalized without cause and said, "We have ample reason to suspend him, and when the public knows all the facts, they'll agree with the boxing commission."

The four suspended fighters are Cat Robinson and Andy Mayfield, middleweights, and Herb Siler and Jim Tillman, heavyweights.

Jackson's letter told the fighters, "You are suspended for one year for your poor performances Monday night."

Essegian Traded For Jerry Walker

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — The Cleveland Indians traded outfielder Chuck Essegian to the Kansas City Athletics Wednesday night in exchange for Jerry Walker, a 24-year-old right-handed pitcher.

Walker appeared in 31 games for the Athletics last year and had an 8-9 record. He pitched 143 innings, allowed 165 hits and had a 5.92 earned run average.

Moorefield Sectional Tournament Will Get Under Way Tonight

Mathias Plays Franklin High In First Game

Moorefield Faces Circleville; Other Games At Shepherd

Moorefield High School and Shepherd College at Shepherdstown are the sites for West Virginia Class A sectional basketball tournament openers tonight.

The two other sectionals in Region Four will get under way Friday night at Paw Paw High School and Potomac State College.

At Moorefield tonight in the Section 2 semi-finals, Mathias (6-14) plays Franklin (17-3) at 7 o'clock and Moorefield (2-18) opposes Circleville (10-10) at 8:30.

The consolation and championship games are set for Friday night. Officials will be LaMar Sager and Junior Halterman.

Franklin Record Best

Franklin has beaten the other three schools in this tournament each twice. The Panthers have whipped Mathias, 63-59 and 62-40, Moorefield 57-30 and 60-34 and Circleville 60-39 and 51-48 and the Panthers to lose would be a big surprise. The Indians of Circleville have trimmed Moorefield by scores of 66-43 and 64-61.

Franklin, coached by Ed Wimer, goes into the tourney with a six-game winning streak at the expense of Harman, Moorefield, Monterey, Va., Green Bank and Valley High of Hot Springs, Va.

Two of the five schools in the Section 4 tourney at Shepherdstown will see action tonight. Hedgesville will play Harpers Ferry at 7:30 and the winner opposes Shepherdstown Friday at 7:30. In the other Friday semi-final, Musselman meets Page Jackson of Charles Town. The championship game is billed for Saturday at 8 p. m.

Other Sectionals Friday

Tomorrow night in the Section 3 tourney at Paw Paw High School, Wardensville plays Paw Paw at 7:30 and the West Virginia School for the Deaf tangles with Capon Bridge at 9 o'clock.

In the Section 1 event which opens Friday at Potomac State College, Fort Ashby meets Ridgeley at 7 and Elk Garden tests Piedmont at 8:30.

Finals in the Paw Paw and Potomac State tournaments will be staged Saturday night.

Devon Club Cagers Trounce Boal's

Paced by Pooch Taylor's 35-point performance, the Devon Club romped to a 102-73 triumph over Boal's in a County League contest list night at Westernport. The Papermakers won by forfeit over P&K Service Station.

Taylor fired in 15 field goals and cashed in on five of eight free throw tries. Donnie Raines led Boal's with 20 tallies.

Oldtown, Emmitsburg Open District Tourney

Class C Schools Clash Tonight At South Hagerstown

The first game of the Maryland District One basketball tournament will be staged at South Hagerstown High School tonight with Emmitsburg High School, of Frederick county, slated to face Oldtown High School of Allegany county in a Class C quarter-final at 7:30 o'clock.

Oldtown, coached by Edgar "Barney" Tucker, won the Allegany county Class C title by sweeping its series with Flintstone and has a 9-9 log for the season. Emmitsburg, coached by George Kuhn, has a poor record for the season and is playing well under the .500 mark.

Winner Meets Hancock

The District One winner will be required to play in an extra game that will be the qualifier for the state tournament at College Park next week. Saturday's victor will play District 3 winner Tuesday, March 5 at 7:30 p. m., at South Hagerstown High School.

Lost Four In Row

Oldtown will be competing in the district tournament for the fifth straight year and will be trying for its first victory. In 1958 the Indians lost to Walkersville, 76-31, dropped a 58-36 decision to Hancock the following year, bowed to Emmitsburg in 1961 by the score of 47-38 and lost to the Frderick countians last year, 63-48.

Here's the district tournament schedule for the remainder of the week:

FRIDAY, MARCH 1

Keyser Edges Martinsburg

Golden Tornado Wins 17th, 67-63

Keyser High last night put the capper on regular season play by edging Martinsburg, 67-63, at Keyser. The triumph was the 17th in 21 games for the Golden Tornado.

The home team led all the way, but was never able to pull away from the tenacious Bulldogs, who were in contention all evening. The loss closed out Martinsburg's log at 11-9.

Terry Turbin pumped in 24 points for the Tornado cagers, while Charlie Nelson added 18 and Tom Condron came through with 15. Jim Burris and Jim Shields had 16 apiece for the Bulldogs.

Martinsburg scored one more field goal than the winners (25-24), but Keyser's margin of victory came at the foul line, where they converted 19 of 24 chances to the Bulldogs' 13-18.

The lineups:

Bobcats Down Shenandoah Five, 103-84

Frostburg Closes With 17-3 Record

Frostburg State's tourney-bound Bobcats last night closed out their highly successful regular season with a come-from-behind 103-84 triumph over Shenandoah (Va.) College at Frostburg.

The victory was the 17th in 20 contests for the Bobcats, who next Tuesday will play at Trenton, N. J., in a four-team playoff for the NAIA District 31 championship. FSTC will oppose Rider College of Trenton in one of the district semi-final contests.

For awhile last night, it looked as if coach Ron Van Ryswyk's crew would wind up the regular campaign on a losing note. They trailed throughout most of the first half and were down by seven (47-40) at intermission.

However, the Bobcats sprang back to life in the second half, hitting on nearly 60 per cent of their floor attempts to outscore the visiting Virginians 63-37.

George Connolly's jump shot tied the score at 53-all, then Hank Winner hit for five straight points to put Frostburg into a lead it never surrendered.

All five starters connected in double figures, with George Lauder and Connolly heading the assault. Lauder was 12-15 from the floor and finished with 28 points, while Connolly also collected a dozen field goals and had 2 tallies.

Three Repeat On Mason-Dixon All-Star Team

BALTIMORE (AP)—Mason-Dixon Conference basketball coaches leaned toward experience and scoring punch in selecting the 1962-63 league all-star team, which was announced Wednesday.

Seniors John O'Reilly of Mt. St. Mary's and Gene Horan of Catholic U. were selected for the third straight year.

Frank Kaminski, Randolph-Macon junior, made the team for the second season in a row. Bill Hardin of Hampden-Sydney and Dave Maloney of Mt. St. Mary's, both seniors, round out the first team.

Hardin (24.3), Horan (21.9), Kaminski (21.2) and Maloney (20.8) ran first, second, third and fourth in the conference scoring race. O'Reilly, a top player in the Mason-Dixon Conference the past three years, ended the season with a 16.6 scoring average.

The second team: Riley Whorton, Baltimore U.; Donald Wallenhorst, Loyola; Morris Creggger, Roanoke; William Characklis, Johns Hopkins, and William Leahy Catholic U.

Boxers Suspended For Poor Showings

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — Boxing Commissioner Julian Jackson ordered one-year suspensions against four boxers Wednesday and defended his earlier suspension of Jacksonville promoter Bill Besmanoff.

Jackson refuted Besmanoff's claim he was penalized without cause and said, "We have ample reason to suspend him, and when the public knows all the facts, they'll agree with the boxing commission."

The four suspended fighters are Cat Robinson and Andy Mayfield, middleweights, and Herb Siler and Jim Tillman, heavyweights.

Jackson's letter told the fighters, "You are suspended for one year for your poor performances Monday night."

Essegian Traded For Jerry Walker

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — The Cleveland Indians traded outfielder Chuck Essegian to the Kansas City Athletics Wednesday night in exchange for Jerry Walker, a 24-year-old right-handed pitcher.

Walker appeared in 31 games for the Athletics last year and had an 8-9 record. He pitched 143 innings, allowed 165 hits and had a 5.92 earned run average.

WVU To Meet Richmond In SC Tournament Opener

Mountaineers Are Favored To Retain Title

By EDWARD M. MCHALE
United Press International

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI) —West Virginia, consensus choice to repeat as Southern Conference basketball champion, arrived here Wednesday night and hustled through a brief workout in preparation for its tournament opener Thursday against Richmond.

The Mountaineers jogged through abbreviated drills at Municipal Arena after another early arrival, Furman, concluded an hour-long workout for the 43rd annual tournament. West Virginia has won seven of the past eight.

First - round scheduling Thursday pits fifth - seeded George Washington against Furman (No. 4) at 2 p.m. EST; Davidson (No. 2) against Virginia Military (No. 7) at 4 p.m.; top-seeded West Virginia vs. Richmond (No. 8) at 7:30 p.m.; and William and Mary (No. 3) vs. Virginia Tech (No. 6) at 9:30 p.m.

This year's tournament field includes at least three teams regarded as good bets to dethrone West Virginia — Davidson, Furman and William and Mary. The Purple Paladins and William and Mary were the only teams to beat the Mountaineers in league play this year.

The Mountaineers' first - round foe, Richmond, staged a brief workout earlier Wednesday in its own gymnasium on the opposite side of the capital city. Spider coach Les Hooker expressed cautious optimism about his team's chances.

"Everyone starts off even in a tournament," Hooker said. "But each of our boys would have to play his best game and West Virginia would have to play its poorest for us to win."

Virginia Tech and VMI also arrived Wednesday, but skipped workouts. Neither Davidson, George Washington or William and Mary planned to work out Wednesday and Indian coach Bill Chambers indicated his team probably would attend Thursday classes before driving to Richmond.

"I dont' want the boys waiting around Richmond all day," Chambers said. As a result of this nonsense policy, William and Mary players will miss several social sessions planned by civic groups.

Minnesota Vikings Sign Draft Choice

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. Paul (UPI) —The Minnesota Vikings of the National Football League announced the signing Wednsday of their 5th round draft choice, lineman Gary Kaltenbach of the University of Pittsburgh.

Kaltenbach, 6-foot-2, 242 pounds played in the North-South Shrine game and the All-America game. He was the 1962 Pitt captain.

The Vikings now have 10 of their 1963 draft choices in the fold. They have lost four and still have two to sign.

WVU To Meet Richmond In SC Tournament Opener

Mountaineers Are Favored To Retain Title

By EDWARD M. MCHALE
United Press International

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI) —West Virginia, consensus choice to repeat as Southern Conference basketball champion, arrived here Wednesday night and hustled through a brief workout in preparation for its tournament opener Thursday against Richmond.

The Mountaineers jogged through abbreviated drills at Municipal Arena after another early arrival, Furman, concluded an hour-long workout for the 43rd annual tournament. West Virginia has won seven of the past eight.

First - round scheduling Thursday pits fifth - seeded George Washington against Furman (No. 4) at 2 p.m. EST; Davidson (No. 2) against Virginia Military (No. 7) at 4 p.m.; top-seeded West Virginia vs. Richmond (No. 8) at 7:30 p.m.; and William and Mary (No. 3) vs. Virginia Tech (No. 6) at 9:30 p.m.

This year's tournament field includes at least three teams regarded as good bets to dethrone West Virginia — Davidson, Furman and William and Mary. The Purple Paladins and William and Mary were the only teams to beat the Mountaineers in league play this year.

The Mountaineers' first - round foe, Richmond, staged a brief workout earlier Wednesday in its own gymnasium on the opposite side of the capital city. Spider coach Les Hooker expressed cautious optimism about his team's chances.

"Everyone starts off even in a tournament," Hooker said. "But each of our boys would have to play his best game and West Virginia would have to play its poorest for us to win."

Virginia Tech and VMI also arrived Wednesday, but skipped workouts. Neither Davidson, George Washington or William and Mary planned to work out Wednesday and Indian coach Bill Chambers indicated his team probably would attend Thursday classes before driving to Richmond.

"I dont' want the boys waiting around Richmond all day," Chambers said. As a result of this nonsense policy, William and Mary players will miss several social sessions planned by civic groups.

Minnesota Vikings Sign Draft Choice

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. Paul (UPI) —The Minnesota Vikings of the National Football League announced the signing Wednsday of their 5th round draft choice, lineman Gary Kaltenbach of the University of Pittsburgh.

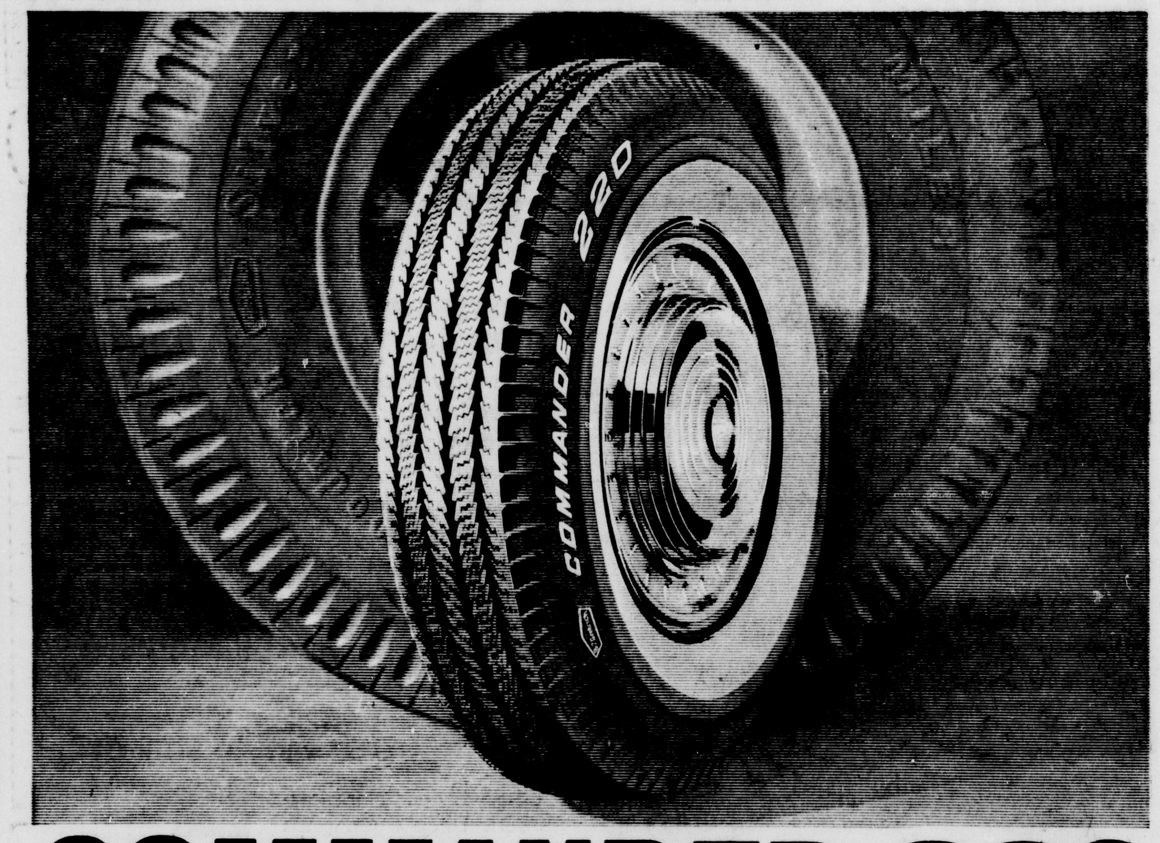

The Vikings indicated Kaltenbach, who played tackle in college, would be used as an offensive guard.

Kaltenbach, 6-foot-2, 242 pounds played in the North-South Shrine game and the All-America game. He was the 1962 Pitt captain.

The Vikings now have 10 of their 1963 draft choices in the fold. They have lost four and still have two to sign.

Weary Market Ends Day With Corrective Skid

NEW YORK (AP)—What brokers called a "tired" stock market moved unevenly most of Wednesday, then sank to a sharp loss in the final hour.

The setback, the second sharp decline this week, was generally regarded as part of the corrective process to be logically expected following the big advance from late October to mid-February.

Of 1,299 issues traded, losers outnumbered gainers by the wide margin of 715 to 341. New highs for 1962-63 totaled 30 and new lows 6.

Ten of the fifteen most active stocks declined and five advanced.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Browns: Extras (47 lbs. min.) 40½-41½; top quality (47 lbs. min.) 41-43; mediums (41 lbs. average) 38-40) smalls (36 lbs average) 33½-34½; peewees 27-28.

Butter offerings liberal. Demand slightly improved. Prices unchanged.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI) — Grain futures were irregular in mixed dealings Wednesday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Wheat closed off ½ to up ⅜, corn unchanged to off ¼, oats up ⅛ to ¼, rye off ⅜ to up ⅛, and soybeans up ⅛ to 1⅞.

Most interest centered in the March contracts, where evening up went on prior to the first day for posting delivery notices Thursday. Dealers looked for fairly large initial tenders of wheat and rye.

Old crop wheat futures weakened under liquidation ahead of the first notice day. Deliverable grades of wheat in Chicago as of last weekend totaled about 5,409,000 bushels of which 5,304,000 were red wheat, according to trade estimates.

Scattered buying firmed deferred wheat on talk of possible European crop damage and export sales. Poland bought 933,000 bushels of hard wheat for March-April shipment, while Japan took 1,900,000 bushels of hard and soft white for May delivery.

Corn recovered from a small early setback as dealers thought that tenders would be well received. Heavy snow warnings for parts of the Midwest brought some buying.

Soybeans were unsettled at the start, but prices soon moved upward on short covering. Locals sold initially due to weaker prices for oil. Meals were mostly firm.

Export circles said Formosa bought 320,000 bushels of corn. Spain 1,600,000 bushels and Italy 480,000 bushels for March-April shipment.

Outside markets were mixed.

Weary Market Ends Day With Corrective Skid

NEW YORK (AP)—What brokers called a "tired" stock market moved unevenly most of Wednesday, then sank to a sharp loss in the final hour.

Although trading quickened while prices were sinking, volume was a light 3.7 million shares compared with 3.67 million Tuesday.

The setback, the second sharp decline this week, was generally regarded as part of the corrective process to be logically expected following the big advance from late October to mid-February.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell 1.5 to 254.6 with industrials off 2.5, rails off .6, and uitlities off .6.

An estimated $2 billion was clipped from the quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange, based on the fall in the AP average.

Of 1,299 issues traded, losers outnumbered gainers by the wide margin of 715 to 341. New highs for 1962-63 totaled 30 and new lows 6.

Ten of the fifteen most active stocks declined and five advanced.

Corporate and U.S. government bonds were mostly unchanged.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

N. Y. Eggs & Butter

NEW YORK (AP) - (USDA) - Wholesale egg offerings more than ample on large and adequate on balance. Demand light on large and fair on balance today.

New York spot quotations:

Browns: Extras (47 lbs. min.) 40½-41½; top quality (47 lbs. min.) 41-43; mediums (41 lbs. average) 38-40) smalls (36 lbs average) 33½-34½; peewees 27-28.

Butter offerings liberal. Demand slightly improved. Prices unchanged.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI) — Grain futures were irregular in mixed dealings Wednesday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Wheat closed off ½ to up ⅜, corn unchanged to off ¾, oats up ⅛ to ¼, rye off ⅜ to up ⅛, and soybeans up ⅛ to 1⅞.

Most interest centered in the March contracts, where evening up went on prior to the first day for posting delivery notices Thursday. Dealers looked for fairly large initial tenders of wheat and rye.

Old crop wheat futures weakened under liquidation ahead of the first notice day. Deliverable grades of wheat in Chicago as of last weekend totaled about 5,409,000 bushels of which 5,304,000 were red wheat, according to trade estimates.

Scattered buying firmed deferred wheat on talk of possible European crop damage and export sales. Poland bought 933,000 bushels of hard wheat for March-April shipment, while Japan took 1,900,000 bushels of hard and soft white for May delivery.

Corn recovered from a small early setback as dealers thought that tenders would be well received. Heavy snow warnings for parts of the Midwest brought some buying.

Oats were quiet and featureless. March rye was under some liquidating pressure.

Soybeans were unsettled at the start, but prices soon moved upward on short covering. Locals sold initially due to weaker prices for oil. Meals were mostly firm.

Export circles said Formosa bought 320,000 bushels of corn. Spain 1,600,000 bushels and Italy 480,000 bushels for March-April shipment.

Outside markets were mixed.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of my dear husband, Clymer Alderton, who passed away 4 years ago today:
Today brings sad memories
Who will never be forgotten
By the one who loved him best.

LIBERTY TRUST BLDG.
CUMBERLAND, MD.

Wilbert C. Snyder vs. Leona Snyder, 319 S. Pleasant Ave., Dallastown, Pa. No. 26852 Equity, In the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Filed February 5, 1963.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The bill states that the parties were married in Hagerstown, Md., in 1938, and four children were born, all of whom are of full legal age except one, who resides in Washington with a married sister. The bill further states that the defendant treated the plaintiff cruelly, was associating with undesirable characters, and deserted the plaintiff on or about March, 1950, which desertion has been continuous for more than eighteen months and is without hope of reconciliation.

It is thereupon this 4th day of February, 1963, ordered by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, in equity, that the complainant cause a copy of this order to be published in some newspaper published in Allegany County, Maryland, once a week for four successive weeks before the 7th day of March, 1963, give notice to the absent defendant of the object and purpose of this bill, warning her to be and appear in this Court in person or by Solicitor on or before the 8th day of April, 1963, and show cause, if any she has, why a decree ought not to be passed as prayed.

Addition Planned

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—Plans for a multi-million-dollar plant addition to aid in developing a fuel to boost manned rockets to the moon, were announced Monday by United Aircraft Corporation.

The addition to the corporation's Pratt & Whitney Aircraft Florida research and development center would give the facility the most advanced rocket engine liquid propellant research capability in the United States, the firm said.

Headman Murdered

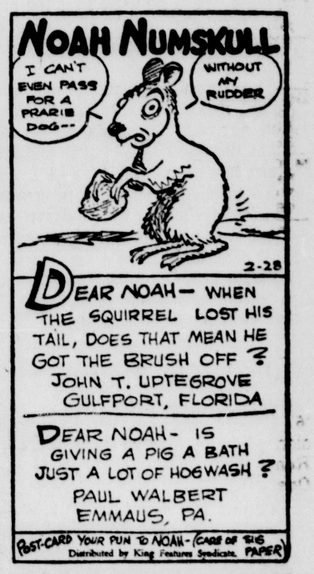

UMTATA, South Africa (UPI) —Terrorists set fire Tuesday night to the hut of Headman Jonginamba Deliwe, a leading supporter of Transkei Chief Kaiser Matanzima, and hacked him to death when he fled the fire. Matanzima is opposed by nationalist groups who fear his plans for a self-governing area will perpetuate South Africa's apartheid policies.

Two Branches Of University Get Support

Dillon Proposal Also Is Aired

By HERB THOMPSON

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The Senate Finance Committee approved late Wednesday bills which would require the University of Maryland to establish branches in the Baltimore metropolitan area and the Eastern Shore.

The house, meanwhile, received another university expansion measure from the chairman of the education committee which would require a branch in Western-Central Maryland as well as the other two areas.

Del. R. Samuel Dillon Jr., D-Washington, introduced the bill and set it for public hearing next Tuesday.

12-2 Vote

The vote in the senate committee was 12-2 with prospects the bills would come to the floor for action Thursday. The opponents were Sen. Robert P. Dean, D-Queen Annes, and committee chairman H. Winship Wheatley Jr., D-Prince Georges.

The push for university expansion, which figures to be fully aired if not enacted at this session, came almost before Gov. Tawes' signature got dry on a law which elevates state teachers colleges and sets up a 15-member advisory council to plan the future of higher education in Maryland.

Dillon prefers his proposal to the single bills being pushed forward in the senate, because his includes a branch which might be located in Washington or Frederick County.

He said the bill is "fully supported" by university authorities and he sees no conflict with the one signed into law by Gov. Tawes Tuesday which elevates teachers colleges into four-year arts and science colleges.

Tawes said university officials also discussed the matter with him Wednesday morning but no decisions were reached. "There are many problems involved," Tawes said.

One of the problems—although Tawes did not cite it, specifically—is what impact university expansion might have on state colleges supposed to be nourished and improved under the new higher education law.

The law creates a 15-member advisory council to coordinate efforts of the state colleges, the university and community junior colleges.

Dillon said he doesn't see why the legislature can't go ahead and approve the regional branches for the university at this session.

He said the main purpose is to relieve crowding on the College Park campus, which is expected to reach an enrollment of 25,000 by 1970. Dillon said five more dormitories being planned at College Park could be cut down to two, if the regional centers are established.

He said he doesn't think such regional centers would drain away students who otherwise might go to Frostburg and Salisbury State colleges. "There will be a tremendous growth in state colleges," Dillon said. But he said the needs of the university are of a more urgent nature.

Plan Emerald Ball

These men met recently to plan their participation in the third annual Emerald Ball, which will be held Saturday, March 16, at the Cumberland Country Club under sponsorship of the St. Patrick's Parish Mothers' Club. Seated are James W. Kehoe, left, and Rt. Rev. Msgr. J. Lawrence Kilkenny, pastor. Standing, same order, are William Walsh, Julio Salinas, Thomas H. Mullaney Jr., John J. McMullen Jr. and Hugh A. McMullen. Many committees are helping with plans.

Frostburg Gets Report On Sewage

Interceptor System And Cost Discussed

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners met last night with Mayor Joseph James and the Council of Frostburg to discuss a plan by which Frostburg would use the facilities of the Cumberland sewage treatment plant by means of an interceptor system.

Louis V. Shinnamon, chairman of the county board, told the Frostburg officials that under the interceptor plan, sewage would be metered and Frostburg would be charged a certain percentage by Cumberland for using the plant.

Mr. Shinnamon pointed out the interceptor plan for Frostburg is not mandatory and the town could install its own treatment facility if it so desired.

However, it was pointed out by Mr. Shinnamon that while no definite figure had been announced for the interceptor plan, it is believed it will cost between $800,000 and one million dollars, while Mayor James said the cheapest treatment facility it could build would cost approximately 1½ million dollars.

The county board also pointed out it has been decided the Allegany County Sanitary Commission is too small and plans are being made to expand the board to seven members to represent all sections of the county.

Mr. Shinnamon also reported on the recent meeting with officials of the State Department of Health concerning sewage plans in the county. He said the interceptor plan has met with the approval of the state and if Frostburg decides on the plan, state and federal funds will be made available.

The county board said considerable funds have been spent on engineering studies on both the interceptor plan and on the construction of new facilities in Frostburg and LaVale, and these studies show it would be much cheaper to use the Cumberland facility than it would be to install new plants.

Gets Appointment

Mrs. Clara Mae Vogtman of Frostburg yesterday was appointed by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners as an extra clerk in the tax collector's office at the Court House, effective today. She will work during the license tag sale, which started Monday.

Labor Seeks Uniform Idle Pay Tax Plan

Cost, Benefits Are Debated

By TOM SEPPY

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Organized labor argued Wednesday that under-financing and discriminatory taxing have caused the unemployment wage insurance fund to dip to a dangerous low.

Woodrow F. Strong told the House Judiciary committee that a uniform tax and an increase in the wage base is necessary to develop stability of the fund.

Strong, president of the Maryland-D. C. AFL-CIO, recommended that the state's "experience rating" procedure for employers should be repealed and the taxable employer base be raised.

"Experience rating" is the procedure by which an employer is taxed according to the number of his employes who receive benefits.

He said the procedure varied in 1962 from 1.8 per cent to 4.2 per cent of payroll up to $3,000 per employes, an average of 3.2 per cent for all employers.

Strong recommended that the General Assembly enact an amendment which would make a uniform tax rate of 2.7 per cent for all employers.

He argued that the wage base should be increased from the present $3,000 to $4,800.

William S. Wilson Jr., legislative counsel for the Baltimore Association of Commerce, said abolishing the "experience rating" would promote layoffs.

Cites Burden

He also said raising the base would be too much of a burden on employers.

Labor and management testified at a public hearing before the house committee on 12 bills which would not only increase unemployment pay benefits but also repeal or lessen in severity changes made in the jobless laws approved by the voters last November.

Some 40 delegates sponsored the 12 bills, half of which were directed to actions of the General Assembly two years ago.

The Maryland-D.C. AFL-CIO had petitioned the changes to the ballot in hopes of beating them there, but the vote last November was 242,895 to 185,010 in favor of upholding the 1961 legislative action.

Gentlemen Of Note Will Play For Emerald Ball

The Gentlemen of Note orchestra will provide music for the third annual Emerald Ball, to be presented Saturday, March 16, at the Cumberland Country Club under sponsorship of the St. Patrick Parish Mothers' Club.

Rt. Rev. Msgr. J. Lawrence Kilkenny, pastor of the church, is serving as general chairman for the ball.

Many committees are at work in preparation for this dance on the eve of St. Patrick's Day. Mrs. John Kienhofer is serving as chairman and William Walsh as co-chairman.

The ticket committee is composed of Mrs. Wade Coffey and Mrs. Raymond P. O'Rourke. Mrs. Eugene Mulligan is chairman of the patrons committee, assisted by Mrs. Stanley Zorick and Mrs. Patrick Hopkins with John Mosner as adviser.

Included in the decorations committee are Mrs. Albert Sell, chairman, Mrs. Frank McCagh, Mrs. Harold Skidmore, Mrs. James Wagner, Leo Powers and Joseph Blake. Hugh A. McMullen is chairman of the music committee.

The program committee includes Thomas H. Mullaney Jr., Julio Salinas and James Kehoe. Members of the plblicity committee are John J. McMullen Jr. and Theodore Wojcik.

Bill Fixing Limit On Credit Fails

Vote On Major Issues Deferred

By GEORGE BOWEN

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—A bill fixing maximum charges by retailers on installment sales and credit accounts failed by a 17-10 vote in the Maryland Senate Wednesday.

The proposal was assailed as an attempt by some merchants to legalize what they have been doing illegally and as "a bill to rob the poor."

It was recommended by a governor's study commission and introduced by Senate President William S. James, D-Harford.

The senate postponed until Monday night at least tentative decisions on two other major issues of the session, congressional redistricting and equal public accommodations.

A new hitch arose in the already sensitive racial discrimination situation when the attorney general ruled that as the bill now stands, it is unconstitutional.

The Senate Judiciary Committee would have allowed the question to be put to a vote only in Carroll County, one of the 12 counties to be covered by law requiring hotels and restaurants to serve Negroes.

Cites Ruling

Atty. Gen. Thomas B. Finan said the Court of Appeals ruled in a similar Sunday blue law question that one subdivision could not have a referendum if others didn't.

The explosion against setting ceiling charges on retail credit accounts came in the face of a favorable report by the Senate Committee on Banking and Insurance.

Sen. John L. Sanford Jr., D-Worcester, sparked it by saying they would "benefit a few merchants who would make a considerable profit at the expense of the customers."

He compared the proposed rates of 18 and 12 per cent on revolving credit accounts with the state legal rate of 6 per cent on borrowed money.

Sen. James A. Pine, D-Balto County, claimed the stores have been making such charges for 10 years and now "they want us to legalize it."

It was Sen. Harry T. Phoebus,

Veteran ABL Employes Plan To Retire Today

Two Security and Personnel Department employes, who were at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory when the guards patrolled on horses and the reservation was mostly a tangle of grass and weeds, will retire today under the provisions of Hercules Powder Company's pension plan.

They are Ernest M. Pueschel, chief investigator well-versed in ABL history having been sent to the reservation on special assignment before any construction had begun, and Delos Henderson who has served as a guard for nearly 19 years.

In April 1942 when Mr. Pueschel was employed by the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, his job was to protect classified blue prints and other documents in one room of the farm house which still housed the family that farmed the land on the reservation.

Mr. Henderson started at ABL in October 1942 while construction work was underway. At the time the tire plant was building the Allegany Ordnance Plant for the Army.

Mr. Henderson was employed by the tire plant until September of the following year and after several months returned to work for George Washington University, which took over operations of the plant for the Office of Scientific Research and Development.

A native of Buckhannon, W. Va., Mr. Henderson moved to Cumberland and opened the Sunrise Bakery on Williams Street and operated it for 10 years. He was also a member of the Cumberland Police Department from November 1943 to May 1944.

Mr. Henderson and his wife, Ercle, who celebrated their 44th wedding anniversary last August, have a daughter, Mrs. Wilda I. Henry, a teacher at Williamsport, and a son Williard J. Henderson, manager of the Swift Company Packing Plant in Saginaw, Mich.

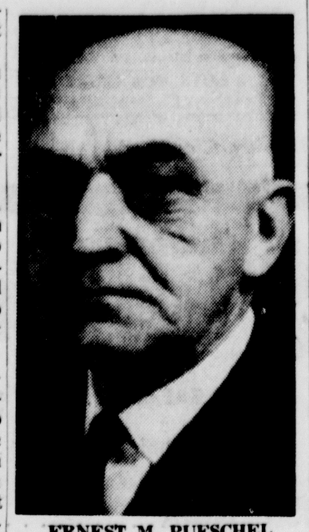

A native of Baltimore, Mr. Pueschel was graduated from Linwood Avenue High School in 1917. After two years study at Baltimore City College, he attended Henry Phipps Clinic at Johns Hopkins Hospital where he studied psychiatry under one of the outstanding psychiatrists in the United States, Professor Esther Richards.

In 1923, he moved to Cumberland and obtained his first industrial job with Kelly-Springfield Tire Company and held various clerical positions until he was assigned to protecting blue prints at the farm house.

Shortly after Kelly-Springfield began production of .50 caliber ammunition here, Mr. Pueschel was promoted to sergeant of the Guard and sworn in as a civilian in the Auxiliary Military Police, Third Service Command, U. S. Army. He served in this capacity until August, 1945, when he was honorably discharged.

In 1943, the Allegany Ordnance Plant was acquired by the Office of Scientific Research and Development for use as a rocket devel-

PPG Will Break Ground For New Addition Mar. 18

Local officials of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company are making plans for a ground breaking ceremony for the new float glass facility to be built at the company's Works Seven here.

The ceremony will be held Monday, March 18, and it is anticipated that construction on the multi-million dollar facility will start immediately thereafter.

The Cumberland float glass line will be the first in the world outside of the parent operation in St. Helens, England, and will be housed in a continuous process line almost a third of a mile long.

Line Repaired

Water Department crews this week repaired a broken two-inch water line on Sunrise Avenue off Williams Road.

Officials said customers will be billed for the work since the line is outside the city limits.

Reorganization Of Four State Agencies Asked

Bills Follow Two-Year Study

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—A move to change the powers and duties of four state agencies dealing with natural resources, after more than two years of study, was presented Wednesday to the General Assembly.

Three administration bills introduced in the senate by the president would:

1. Reorganize the State Board of Natural Resources to strengthen its coordination of conservation programs.

2. Create a department of Chesapeake Bay Affairs in place of the present Department of Tidewater Fisheries to broaden the agency's powers.

3. Produce a Maryland Geological Survey from the Department of Geology, Mines and Water Resources; dissolve the Water Pollution Control Commission and create the department of water resources. The bill would put all matters pertaining to water resources under the department.

Governor Backs

The three bills were drafted by the State Planning Department in cooperation with the four state agencies.

An aide to Gov. Tawes said, "the bills are good ones and the governor is behind them."

The Natural Resources Board would consist of five departmental members, three ex-officio members and eight appointive members. The present board is made up of six ex-officio members and eight appointive members.

The chairman would be, in addition to the eight appointed members coming from all over the state, named by the governor instead of being the director of the Department of Tidewater Fisheries.

New members to the board would be the chairman of the State Soil Conservation Committee and the chief of the Bureau of Environmental Hygiene of the State Department of Health, both ex-officio.

Departmental members would be the directors of the Departments of Chesapeake Bay Affairs, Game and Inland Fish, Forests and Parks, Water Resources and the Maryland Geological Survey.

Sets Up Board

The director of the Natural Resources Institute of the University of Maryland would be the third ex-offico member. The director of the Chesapeake Bay Institute of Johns Hopkins University would be one of the eight appointed members.

The Chesapeake Bay Affairs Department would not only be a fisheries control agency but would also have responsibility for the planning and management of resources in tidal waters.

The Maryland Geological Survey would be primarily a research agency except for the Bureau of Mines.

It would transfer all its water management functions to the other agencies including the water resources department which would parallel Chesapeake Bay Affairs in non-tidal waters. Some of its responsibilities would extend to tidal waters.

"Red Stocking" Show Will Open Friday

Dress rehearsal for the "Red Stocking Revue" will be held tonight in the Fort Hill High School auditorium.

Performances are scheduled Friday and Saturday at 8:30 p.m. under the sponsorship of the Junior Woman's Civic Club. Proceeds will benefit Friends Aware of Handicapped Children.

Presenting a show of this type entails quite a bit of extra effort for the performers, all of whom are non-professionals. Many of the young women in the dance choruses are married and have small children.

There have been rehearsals for the show each afternoon and night for the past two weeks.

Members of the cast were in the Fort Hill auditorium last night for a run-through of the entire show. The dress rehearsal will start at 7 p. m. today.

The girls who will perform the high kicks and dances compare their condition with men who have gone out for golf or baseball in the spring for the first time after a long winter layoff. Sore arm and leg muscles have resulted in both cases.

Most of the songs and dance routines of the show have been taken from Broadway hits. There are a number of skits and solo vocal acts in the show as well as speciality dances.

Park Official Is Briefed On Rec Program

Harry Hunter, Annapolis, recreation consultant of the Department of Forests and Parks, yesterday offered the services of his department to the City Recreation Department.

Mr. Hunter met with C. Eugene Mason, recreation director, and Mrs. Eva Hogan, assistant, at City Hall and then was taken on a tour of the city's recreational facilities.

He was accompanied by Ralph T. Peace, city, district parks supervisor for the department.

Mr. Hunter told the rec officials that he is available to advise on recreational problems and facilities.

He was assigned to the newly-created position recently after serving as area recreation supervisor for Ann Arundel County.

He was briefed by the recreation staffers on the year-around program of the city recreation unit.

Health Officer Says Tests Show Fluoridation Need

Dental caries and dental infections were by far the largest number of abnormalities observed in pre-school physical and dental examinations sponsored jointly last year by the Allegany County Health Department and Board of Education.

Dr. Martin M. Rothstein, county health officer, said this again reaffirms the urgent need of fluoridation of community water for prevention of dental cavities. By preventing dental caries, dental infections also are prevented and by reduction of dental infections a focus of other infections is also eliminated.

Dr. Rothstein said fosci of infection also are the cause for abscesses, boils, occasional arthritis, infected ears and occasionally serious heart disease.

The county health officer referred to results of a survey released early this month by the State Health Department which show a 42 per cent decrease in tooth cavities among school children in Hagerstown since that community began fluoridation of its water 11 years ago.

Dr. Richard C. Leonard, chief of the department's dental health division said 95 per cent of the seven-year-old children examined in Hagerstown 11 years ago had tooth decay in their baby teeth. In the recent survey, only 53 per cent of seven-year-olds showed evidence of tooth decay.

but detected, and in most cases treated before school started last September, included speech defects, chronically diseased tonsils and adenoids, abnormal heart conditions, visual and hearing defects. These cases that were, and are being treated will prevent future permanent damage to affected organs.

This is only one advantage of the pre-school program, Dr. Rothstein said, and is the main reason the Health Department and Board of Education are striving for a goal of 100 per cent pre-school physical and dental examinations this year. The program will get under way next month.

Another advantage is that parents will develop better health habits with reference to school age children. It is hoped that as a result of the joint program, parents will see that children get periodic re-examinations during their younger years.

Some 1,277 children have registered to enter first grade in county schools in September. A total 1,394 September enrollment is predicted.

This year's pre-school physical and dental program will be accomplished in any of three ways. The parents may take the child to a private physician; the PTA organization in the school may arrange for a physician to hold a clinic in the school, and the Health Department will arrange clinics for the remaining children.

Public Library Bills Offered In Legislature

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Bills to establish a public library incentive fund were introduced Wednesday in both houses of the Maryland General Assembly.

The money raised by state contributions and taxes in the subdivisions would be used first for existing or new debt service, and then for capital expenditures on a pay-as-you-go basis.

The formula outlined in the bills would raise an estimated $1,687,939 a year, including $1,019,067 from the subdivisions and $668,872 from the state.

To participate in the program, the subdivisions would have to levy a one-per cent tax on each $100 of assessed property. The difference between that amount and a 50-cent-per-capita formula would be contributed by the state.

Algonquin Players Will Meet Tonight

The Algonquin Players Inc. will meet at 8:45 p. m. today in the City Hall auditorium.

Committee reports will be given on the most recent production, "The Pleasure of His Company," which was presented February 13 and 14.

COLLECTION DAY TODAY

Featured In 'Red Stocking Revue'

These five performers will be featured in a Charleston number in the 'Red Stocking Revue' which will be presented tomorrow and Saturday nights at Fort Hill High School auditorium. Left to right, are Hazel Shinnamon, Vera Ragione, Grace Herath, Bette Adam and Lenna Leeson. The show is being sponsored by the Junior Women's Civic Club.
